Federal study shows 1 of 5 in America functionally illiterate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Office of Education today released results of a four-year study which indicate that more than 23 million U.S. adults are functionally illiterate, meaning they are unable to do such things as read help-wanted ads or make the most economical purchases.

"It is surprising, perhaps even shocking," the report said, "to suggest that approximately one of five Americans is incompetent or functions with difficulty and that about half of the adult population is merely functional and not at all proficient in necessary skills and knowledges."

The $1-million project, conducted by the University of Texas at Austin, attempted to redefine literacy and measure the competence of a person to function in an adult world.

The researchers said they found the picture to be more dismal than had been believed previously.

Almost 30 per cent or 34.7 million persons aged 18 to 65 years of age flunked consumer economics and another 39 million were "functional but not proficient in such tests as reading a newspaper grocery ad."

In computations, such as determining the unit price for various sized boxes of breakfast cereal, 39 million adults fell into the lowest scoring category and another one-fourth, 29.5 million, were in the medium range, suggesting they were functional but not proficient.

The greatest competency was scoring in writing, with almost three-fifths of the adult population performing adequately, but 16.4 per cent or 18.9 million persons were "unable to cope successfully," the report said.

Combining the skills in nine areas measured through tests and interviews with thousands of adults during the four years, the researchers said 19.7 per cent scored in the low range, 33.9 per cent in the medium range and 46.3 per cent in the high or proficient range.

"As long as 'literacy' is conceived to be nothing more than the ability to read and write one's name, or to score at some low grade level on a standardized test developed for children, then the United States probably does not have a significant problem," the report said.

"On the other hand, if the concern is with the adult who does not possess those skills and knowledges which are requisite to adult competence, then the results of the APL (Adult Performance Level) research suggest that there is, indeed, a widespread discrepancy in our adult population between what is required of them and what they achieve."

The study found that the functionally incompetent were likely to be older, undereducated, unskilled and perhaps unemployed, and living in poverty.

Sixteen per cent of the white population was in the lowest category, compared with 44 per cent of blacks and 56 per cent of Spanish-surnamed persons.

Women strike fizzles

By GINNY PITT
Associated Press Writer

Women planned rallies and demonstrations today in response to the National Organization for Women's call for a nationwide strike, but in the morning hours there was little actual striking.

"Oh, was it today?" one woman in a New York office replied when asked why she was at work.

A woman in Washington, asked the same question, answered, "Gee, I didn't know anything about it."

The New York woman added that the call for a strike to demonstrate women's place in the working world had apparently not been well publicized, echoing the complaints of even some women's organizations that the strike call had not been well organized.

Several NOW chapters said they were not calling for a strike because they heard of the effort too late or thought it impractical.

"The economics of the times are not conducive to this kind of action," said Eleanor Kravet, president of Central Connecticut NOW.

Freak accident kills Chino man

A 62-year-old Chino dairyman was killed Tuesday afternoon when a cow he was helping to give birth rolled over on him and dragged him around the pen.

Lester Speckman of 6131 Schaefer Ave., Chino, was pronounced dead on arrival at Chino General Hospital shortly after 3 p.m., according to Harvey Castro, deputy San Bernardino County coroner. Castro said an autopsy will be performed to determine the exact cause of Speckman's death.

Castro said that Speckman's wife, Sally, found her husband pinned beneath a 1,500-pound cow, which was in the process of giving birth to a calf. He said a chain was wrapped around one of the victim's hands with the other end of the chain wrapped around the calf.

Castro said that dairymen often assist cows having difficulty giving birth by using a chain and rope.

Ford pledges police, fire help for NYC, but 'no financial aid'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford pledged today the federal government will help assure police and fire protection for New York City residents if the city defaults on its debts, but he said he will veto any bill that would bail the city out financially.

"I can tell you now that I'm prepared to veto any bill that has as its purpose a federal bailout of New York City to prevent a default," Ford said in remarks prepared for the National Press Club here.

But in a lengthy speech on the problems of the nation's largest city, Ford said he will submit legislation to Congress impowering federal courts "to preside over an orderly reorganization of New York City's financial affairs — should that become necessary."

Ford also said that in the event of default, "the federal government will work with the court to assure that police, fire and other essential services for the protection of life and property in New York are maintained."

The proposed legislation would amend the federal bankruptcy laws and would allow New York City, with approval from New York state, to petition the U.S. District Court in New York when and if it is no longer able to pay its debts.

The petition would be accompanied by proposals for "an adjustment" of the city's debts with its creditors. Once those conditions are met, the federal court then would be authorized to accept jurisdiction of the case and there would be an automatic moratorium on suits by creditors so that the essential functions of New York City would not be disrupted.

Ford said the court would be empowered to authorize issuance of new debt certificates for new loans to the city which would be paid out of future revenues before payment to other creditors on existing debt certificates.

Ford said his proposed legislation will not, by itself, put the New York City's affairs in order. A New York City default on its debts now could come as early as Nov. 14 when the next debt payments are scheduled, city and state officials say.

But Ford said he is convinced that New York City and New York State can take actions to avoid financial collapse.

"They must either increase revenues or cut expenditures or devise some combination that will bring them to a sound financial position ... if they are taken, New York City will, with the assistance of the legislation I am proposing, be able to restore itself as a fully solvent operation," Ford said.

Ford said his plan would not result in the city's creditors, such as banks and pension funds, being "wiped out." "How much they will be hurt will depend upon the future conduct of the city's leaders," Ford said.

He also said that for the millions of residents of New York, "There may be some temporary inconveniences, but that will be true of any solution that is adopted."

The financial community might experience some temporary difficulties from a default by the city, but the difficulties should not be large or long lasting, Ford added.

"Finally, for the people of the United States, this means that they will not be asked to assume a burden that is not of their own making and should not become their responsibility," Ford said. He said no American should derive comfort or pleasure from New York City's problems, but said the problems must be prevented from spreading to the rest of the nation.

"If we go on spending more than we have, providing more benefits and services than we can pay for, then a day of reckoning will come to Washington and the whole country."

President Ford places his prepared remarks for a toast to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on the table after reading them before making a toast to Sadat and his wife, seated left. Ford made a slip of the tongue as he proposed his toast, saying, "The great people of the government of Israle, excuse me, of Egypt." Ford's wife is seated next to Sadat.

Sadat: resume peace talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat says the Geneva talks on the Middle East should be resumed and that the United States should relax its opposition to a Palestinian Liberation Organization role in those talks.

Sadat, scheduled to fly to New York City to address the United Nations today, said the Ford administration should accept the PLO as "an equal partner" in the Geneva conference and called on the United States to "start the dialogue" toward that end.

Sadat will not receive an official welcome from Mayor Abraham D. Beame when he arrives in New York because of Egypt's support of a U.N. resolution that would label Zionism a form of racism.

Beame has said participation in the welcome would be "an act of hypocrisy" on his part and, despite heavy pressure from the State Department, has declined to attend the ceremony. A White House spokesman said President Ford regrets the mayor's decision.

The pending resolution also drew fire from the U.S. Senate on Sadat's last full day in Washington. The chamber passed without dissent a measure condemning the resolution and urging the U.N. General Assembly to defeat it if a vote comes.

It was also learned that Ford has decided to ask Congress to increase economic aid to Egypt to $750 million, more than double the current level of $300 million. An additional $98.1 million in farm products, under the Food for Peace Program, will go to Egypt.

Kidnapers believed ready to surrender

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Police officers appeared confident today that the 26-day-old kidnaping of Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema is nearing a peaceful end.

Eddie Gallagher, 28, and Marian Coyle, 19, the Irish Republican Army kidnapers, were believed ready to surrender after negotiating a "no shooting" deal with the police besieging them and their captive for the ninth day.

A police source said the two guerrillas were assured they would not be shot if they surrender and Herrema is unharmed. They also were reminded that kidnaping in the Irish Republic usually does not result in long imprisonment.

Herrema was seized Oct. 3 in Limerick, where he runs a Dutch-owned steel plant. Police found him with his two kidnapers in a two-story row house in Monasterevin, 40 miles from Dublin, on Oct. 21, and have had them cornered on the second floor ever since.

Claremont, S.D. seek state law to withdraw from RTD

By MAE TATE and
and GEORGE MacLAREN

The city councils of Claremont and San Dimas decided Tuesday night to ask for state legislation that would permit them to secede from the Southern California Rapid Transit district.

Pomona is expected to follow suit next Monday and indications were that La Verne would join them later next month.

The four cities are disenchanted with the service they have been getting from the RTD. They are seeking legislation which not only would allow them to withdraw, but also to have more control over how their money, allocated to transportation, is being spent.

It takes a special law to withdraw, but Assemblyman William Lancaster reportedly has agreed to sponsor such legislation if all cities concurred.

Waiting in the wings is the West Valley Transit Service Authority, which presently provides buses for the West End cities of Montclair, Chino, Upland and Ontario.

Pomona and Claremont are planning members of this authority, but the state funds allocated for these two Los Angeles County communities go to RTD.

CLAREMONT

In Claremont, council members took their action by unanimous vote even though transit officials stressed that bus service to Claremont would be improved more than 100 per cent, beginning Jan. 1.

Mayor Bertye Smith reported that she and Deputy City Manager Paul Brotzman met Tuesday with RTD officials who explained two new routes which will connect Claremont with Pomona, but will not cross the county line eastward.

She said that RTD will paint the curbs, but will not provide benches in beefing up its service.

She said that RTD officials stressed that bus service would be more than 100 per cent improved "over what we already have."

Mayor Smith said she was unhappy with a newspaper article about the city's possible withdrawal from RTD, and said that state legislation "disassociating" the cities from RTD will take a long time in coming.

She said that RTD officials will attend the Nov. 10 City Council meeting to detail the new routes.

She warned that RTD will cut all service across the San Bernardino County line.

Brotzman said he feels that the West Valley Transit Service Authority will request that RTD continue to service Montclair Plaza.

When Mrs. Smith said that Claremont could get more for its money, Brotzman estimated that the city could contract with RTD for bus service and still have $100,000 left over.

Brotzman has estimated that RTD during 1975-76 will receive in state and federal transportation funds $347,231 which would go to Claremont, if that city was not in the RTD service area.

City Manager Norman King said that if RTD provides Claremont with a transportation program which approaches the amount of money the city provides, "we could change our minds."

SAN DIMAS

San Dimas councilmen blasted the RTD operation for taking dollars from the cities of San Dimas, Claremont, La Verne and Pomona to improve public transportation in central and core Los Angeles while the east valley goes wanting.

City Manager Bob Poff mentioned the Alan M. Voorhees report, which surveyed transit needs in the four cities and detailed recommendations that would improve local service. The Voorhees report, in contrast to the Wilbur Smith report completed for RTD, emphasized local needs rather than regional ones and heavily relied upon suggestions from city officials, businesses, educational institutions, industry and citizens.

Poff said that RTD has not responded to these recommendations and continues to ignore the East San Gabriel Valley. The only changes suggested were to increase the frequency of service through San Dimas to one hour on one line and every four hours on another.

RTD collects $2,101,643 in revenue from the four cities, said Poff, but only $756,340 is spent in the valley. The remaining $1,345,303 is spent elsewhere.

In a meeting of the city managers of the concerned cities with Wes McDaniel, executive director of the San Bernardino Associated Governments, everyone agreed that this cost and service breakdown was "grossly inequitable," Poff continued.

"McDaniel also presented figures which indicated that these four cities could enjoy an additional 100,000 miles of service for a total of $813,525, if operated by the West Valley Transit Service Authority," Poff said.

"Based on current revenues, there would still be a balance of over $1,200,000. This increase in service would represent the first phase of improvements proposed by the Voorhees study."

Although the city manager was quick to note that he was not at this time proposing that San Dimas join the WVTSA which encompasses the West End cities and Pomona and Claremont as planning members, he did urge action against RTD.

"San Dimas is being significantly shortchanged., I feel very strongly that we should withdraw from RTD and develop by whatever means necessary our own transportation system, assuming we can get state and federal funds," said Poff.

Councilman Ray Miracle stated that there was definitely a need for improved local service and service to the east.

Bonita parents to decide school smoking

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Correspondent

The Bonita school board Tuesday directed the principal of each of the district's three high schools to implement a parent referendum to determine whether smoking should be allowed on campus.

While the three schools will conduct separate referendums — and smoking may eventually be permitted at some schools and not at others — the form of the referendum will be similar for each school.

A letter will be sent to the family of every student enrolled at the school, outlining pros and cons of smoking on campus, along with a return postage paid postcard which provides room for a yes or no vote, comments and the signature of one or two parents.

According to a proposal recommended by Supt. James Johnson and passed 4-0 (board member A. Eugene Bowers was absent) at Tuesday night's meeting, the results of each parent referendum will be reviewed at a Dec. 17 meeting. If the board decides at that time that a sufficient number of parents have participated in the referendum, the decision of the parents will be ratified by the board and will stand as the decision for that campus beginning Jan. 1, when smoking areas may be established on high school campuses according to a new state law.

The principal of each of the district's three high schools presented a plan for conducting the referendum at his school. While the proposals outlined by Louis Rosen of Bonita and Edward Weber of San Dimas were adopted with little change, the referendum plan suggested by Gordon Howard of Chaparral was different from the plan as finally adopted.

Howard proposed a telephone survey, with a personal call to the parent of each student at Chaparral. "Of course that isn't possible at the other two schools because of their size, but it is possible at Chaparral," Howard said.

Chaparral, the district's continuation high school, has an enrollment of approximately 130.

"I'd rather have the telephone interview," said Howard, "because I don't know who puts the X on a ballot. On the telephone, I'll know I'm talking to the parent."

Board member Anton Dyck objected to a telephone referendum. "There's going to be a lot of controversy before this thing is over, and I think the votes should be fairly well documented," Dyck said.

Howard said he would conduct Chaparral's referendum by whatever method the board directed. After rejecting a telephone survey unanimously, the board passed by the same vote a motion that the referendum take the form of a cover letter with return postage paid ballot card.

"How are you going to keep smokers out of the restroom anyway, even if this passes?" asked Dyck before the vote.

Rosen replied, "At Bonita we would consider smoking a privilege rather than a right. If students continued to smoke in restrooms even though certain smoking areas were designated, we would take away the privilege of smoking in those smoking areas. I don't think the smokers would want that."

In other business, Johnson recommended that the board move each of the next six regularly scheduled board meetings back one day, from Tuesday to Wednesday, because of the joint hiring with the Claremont and Pomona districts of Mrs. Elaine Canty as legal adviser.

Johnson said moving the meetings to Wednesdays would avoid conflicts with Pomona's board, which also meets Tuesdays, as well as with many parent-faculty groups which meet that night.

Johnson withdrew the recommendation when Dyck said that he was committed to Junior Achievement meetings every Wednesday night.

GETS JOB

Bernard Barker, convicted Watergate burglar, began a new job Tuesday. He is sanitation inspector for Miami. He got the job through a federal job training program.

Meteorite flashes over Southland

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A meteorite which flashed over the skies of California and may have plunged into the sea off Southern California has prompted hundreds of calls to authorities.

The meteorite, trailing a long greenish tail, crossed the skies from east to west about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and was seen for miles along the coast, authorities said. Callers variously said the meteorite appeared to plunge into the sea off Santa Barbara, Redondo Beach and Camarillo. Other callers saw the flash from Santa Maria, Pomona and Thousand Oaks.

Officials at Griffith Observatory here said the object "probably exploded in the air several hundred miles west of the California coastline."

PROMOTED

The Senate Tuesday confirmed the promotion of Alton Slay, Air Force general, in a 49 to 43 vote. Slay was involved in the unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam in 1972.

Psychiatric reports on Patty finished

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With a 200-page final installment of Patricia Hearst's court-ordered psychiatric evaluation in hand, a defense attorney says he next will try to convince the judge that the newspaper heiress cannot stand trial before extensive mental treatment in a hospital.

"I am neither optimistic nor pessimistic about the reports," Boston attorney Al Johson said Tuesday after receiving a 134-page psychiatric report and a 75-page psychological report.

"But I am optimistic the court will agree with my feeling that she needs extensive psychiatric treatment to prepare for her defense and will conclude that this treatment should be performed in a medical atmosphere, rather than in jail."

Johnson said he hoped a defense psychiatrist, authorized recently by the court, could begin examining Miss Hearst today at the San Mateo County jail in Redwood City where she has been held since her arrest Sept. 18.

The reports by three other psychiatrists and a psychologist were ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter to help determine whether Miss Hearst is mentally competent to aid in her defense and to stand trial on federal bank robbery charges.

Johnson said completion of the reports paves the way for an informal meeting on them Monday with federal prosecutors in Carter's chambers.

The defense counselor said Miss Hearst will not attend Monday's session but will attend a formal court hearing the following day on her mental competency.

Johnson, who is leading Miss Hearst's defense along with F. Lee Bailey, said he had not yet read the final court-ordered reports and was prohibited from discussing them. But he added, "They are voluminous and they appear to be in great detail."

The defense has contended that Miss Hearst's mental condition has deteriorated in jail and she cannot aid in her defense since she does not fully grasp the weighty charges against her.

Miss Hearst, who joined her captors after being kidnaped Feb. 4, 1974 by the Symbionese Liberation Army, now faces a variety of federal and state charges including kidnaping and bank robbery. Conviction could bring life imprisonment.

While in jail, she has received death threats, several marriage proposals and small sums of money which have been placed in a trust for her defense, Johnson said.

He said a "large volume" of death threats also have been mailed to her attorneys and her parents — San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst and University of California regent Catherine Hearst.

Johnson said Miss Hearst's mail and clippings are being read and categorized by a number of persons employed by the defense.

"We've never had a case with notoriety where we didn't categorize all the mail and information," he said. "We found it to be extremely valuable in preparing our defense."

Exec in fraud gets probation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of a firm that made bids for parts in the Air Force F4 Phantom program has been placed on three years' probation on his conviction of conspiring to defraud the government.

A sales representative for the firm, Mechmetals Corp. of Culver City, also was sentenced to six months in jail Tuesday and placed on three years' probation, while the firm itself was also placed on probation.

George Louis Glaeser, 54, president of the firm, and salesman Anthony E. O'Carroll, 48, were found guilty last August of taking a $50,000 check from a legitimate bidder in exchange for withdrawing Mechmetal's lower bid on the government contract.

Chino planning exec takes upstate post

Dennis Chiniaeff, Chino's city planner, has resigned his position to accept a job as planning director with the city of Scotts Valley in Northern California.

Chiniaeff, who headed the planning division in Chino's Department of Community Development for four years, will leave the city Nov. 14.

The 30-year-old planner will have an opportunity to serve as a department head in his new post. In Chino, he reported to Gale Carr, director of community development.

"Dennis was a real asset to his job and the community," said Carr. "His leaving is a loss to us and a gain for Scotts Valley."

Chiniaeff holds a master's degree in planning from Cal Poly Pomona.

The city presently is seeking applicants to fill his position, which pays between $15,000 and $21,900 per year.

Meanwhile, Paul Baxter, 31, has joined the city as an administrative analyst, replacing Jorge Varela who recently took over as personnel director.

Baxter, a Gilroy native, previously served as an administrative intern with the City of Millbrae.

He received a master's degree in public administration from San Jose State.

Speakers club to meet

The Ontario-Upland Toastmasters Club 1506 will begin a seven-week "Speechcraft" program tonight at 7:30 at the Squires Restaurant in Ontario.

The West End club will give everyone the opportunity to learn the basic fundamentals of public speaking and listening. The program is open to all valley residents over 18.

Winners of last week's trophies went to Rich Brosch of Alta Loma for best speaker with his story, "The Walls of Yosemite"; Ted Annema of Ontario for best speech evaluation; and Steve Douglas of Ontario as the best impromptu table topic speaker.

OIA noise monitors challenged

An Ontario woman Friday is expected to appear in West Valley Superior Court to ask for an order requiring Ontario International Airport to comply with state noise monitoring regulations.

Yvonne Madsen, acting as her own attorney, filed a notice in West Valley Superior Court last week, contending that airport authorities "have knowingly allowed" OIA to operate without consideration for state noise regulations.

An airport spokesman said that the Ontario airport is complying with state regulations by installing three monitoring stations for noise expected to be in operation in November.

Mrs. Madsen claims that 12 stations are required to properly monitor the noise according to state law.

She maintains that the lack of enforcement of the state law has "been detrimental to the environment of the plaintiff (herself) and other residents in the area."

Defendants named in the notice are San Bernardino County which by state law is expected to enforce the authority, the Los Angeles Department of Airports and the City of Ontario.

An Ontario city inquiry into whether the state noise monitoring regulations are being violated was authorized by the City Council in August at Mrs. Madsen's request.

Ontario City Atty. Samuel Crowe said he will ask the court to dismiss the peremptory of mandate writ in regard to the city on the grounds that the city has no noise monitoring authority.

ROSE QUEEN

Elizabeth Martin, 18, a freshman at Pasadena City College, was named the 1976 Tournament of Roses queen Tuesday. She was one of seven finalists chosen from among 754 contestants. Miss Martin is a pre-business major who plans on a career in public relations.

2 held in Ford plot enter pleas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two transients charged with conspiring to assassinate President Ford have been arraigned in federal court here, with one pleading not guilty and the other requesting psychiatric tests before entering a plea.

U.S. District Court Judge William P. Gray set a trial date of Dec. 16 for 24-year-old Preston Michael Mayo of Warren County, Va.

A mysterious caller named 'Death'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police investigators today are attempting to ferret out a mysterious telephone caller who says he's "Death" and who has threatened to kill a person in his custody unless the city pays him $100,000.

Authorities said an attempt to arrange the payoff last Thursday failed and in the last call received from the man, he said:

"Forget the drop. I'm Death now. I just want to kill now. I'm going to sleep now. Death will take over. I was Life, now I'm Death."

Investigators said the man's statements in his last call and his subsequent silence indicate a possibility he may have committed suicide.

But, said a police detective who asked not to be identified, "This is a matter of conjecture. We are taking this as seriously as we take any other call of such a nature."

In a call made by the man Oct. 22 to the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, he identified his hostage as a 22-year-old, "brown boy" named Frank Robinson. But police investigators said they had failed to come up with any report of a missing person by that name.

The mysterious telephone caller said Robinson "looks like a youngster" and threatened to "send him back to you piece by piece, if I don't get what I want."

"But," he warned, "I'll kill others before I kill him."

"I'm too smart," the man told the Herald-Examiner. "You'll never find me. Get the money from the city. They'll pay it and I want to know when it's ready through the newspaper."

A Herald-Examiner spokesman said, following instructions given by the man in a later call, an advertisement was inserted in the paper's classified section saying the money was ready for pickup.

The man called and ordered the money to be taken to a downtown restaurant, but he hung up without giving its address. A few minutes later, he called again demanding to know why the money hadn't been delivered.

When told he hadn't given the restaurant's address, the man hung up. Two minutes later he called for the last time and said to cancel the payoff.

The Herald-Examiner spokesman said the first call from the man was received Oct. 20 and in subsequent calls that night, he claimed responsibility for the Oct. 13 wounding of cab driver Micholas Miele, 35, and the fatal shooting of pawn shop operator Max Kart, 60, three days later.

"I've got a high-powered rifle. Now, I've got life and death to give. Life to one, death to others," the newspaper spokesman quoted the man as warning.

Authorities said Miele suffered a gunshot wound in the head and was robbed of $45 and his wallet by a person whom he picked up in Hollywood for a trip downtown. Kart was shot in his central city pawn shop.

But authorities also were concerned by another murder mentioned by "Death" in the only telephone call he made directly to the police.

On Oct. 21, he called officers and said they would find a dead man at a certain address near downtown.

Officers said the call came when one of their units was already investigating the slaying of apartment house manager Robert Bucci, 56, whose body had been found earlier in the day at the address given by the caller.

AFL-CIO lauds Brown for labor laws

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. is "the best governor California workers have ever had," primarily because he has supported labor legislation and appointed persons to high office who "show a real concern for working people," says the California AFL-CIO.

The labor group expressed its enthusiasm for Brown Tuesday despite previous criticism of the governor's conservative fiscal policies and his announced distaste for "big government."

"More legislation of lasting significance to California workers was enacted during the 1975 (state legislative) session than at any time in the history of the state, and it would not have been done without Brown," the state AFL-CIO noted, in its analysis of the governor.

"The governor has consistently made appointments which not only reversed the reactionary years of (former Gov. Ronald) Reagan, but which show a real concern for working people," the 1.6 million-member group noted.

Expressing his pleasure with the high rating given to him by the labor group, Brown said his fiscal policies were aimed "to make sure that workers have something left over after taxes so they can decide for themselves how to spend their money, and not let government do it for them."

Thieves get water bottle with $800 in coins

Emerson Sloat of 508 E. Cypress St., Ontario, reported to police that burglars forced their way into his home and made off with a five-gallon glass water bottle filled with more than $800 in loose coins Tuesday night.

Sloat said that the bottle, about half-full of coins, mostly dimes, was removed from a closet in his bedroom. Police said it appeared that the burglar removed a screen from the bedroom window and pushed open the window to gain entrance.

West End sheriff's deputies today are investigating the alleged kidnapping and rape of two 16-year-old Fullerton girls in the Soquel Canyon area on Sunday night.

Deputies said the two girls first reported the incident to Fullerton police, but were referred to the West End sheriff's substation. The girls told deputies they were hitch-hiking in Fullerton and were picked up by a Negro man. They said the man drove them to a home in Fullerton to pick up another man. The girls said the two men drove them to the Soquel Canyon area against their wishes and forcibly raped them. They said the men then drove them back to Fullerton.

A 24-year-old ONTARIO woman reported to police that she was raped in her apartment by her ex-boyfriend last Friday.

The woman told police she did not report the incident immediately because she feared her ex-boyfriend would harm her. She said the man forced his way into her apartment, threatened her with a knife and ordered her to disrobe.

The man was being sought by police for questioning in the incident this morning.

Order stands; Ford to give statement on assassination try

SACRAMENTO (AP) — President Ford will give a videotaped statement this week on what he saw and heard when Lynette Fromme allegedly tried to kill him.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride refused Tuesday to throw out his order directing Ford to give the sworn testimony as a defense witness for Miss Fromme.

Afterward, a Justice Department spokesman in Washington said the subpoena sets "a precedent of some concern" but will not be appealed.

The office of presidential counsel Philip Buchen said Ford would answer questions from attorneys in the case at the White House Friday or Saturday.

Earlier Tuesday in San Francisco, another federal judge entered an innocent plea for Sara Jane Moore, who is accused of firing a shot at Ford outside a San Francisco hotel Sept. 22.

Mrs. Moore, 45, whose attorney had sought a further delay for completion of a psychiatric examination, faces trial Dec. 15.

U.S. District Court Judge Samuel Contie also scheduled a mental competency hearing for Mrs. Moore on Nov. 17, and brushed aside a claim by her public defender, James Hewitt, that he couldn't prepare his case in the required 90 days.

At the Fromme hearing, U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes, who had conferred with White House lawyers, argued against videotaping the President's testimony but did not oppose the order for a deposition.

"The President has not ever suggested he is above the law and will obey any lawful order," Keyes told MacBride.

No president has ever testified in person at a criminal trial while in office. Ford's videotaped deposition, which will be shown to Miss Fromme's jury, comes closest to doing that.

Presidents Jefferson, Monroe and Nixon all fought subpoenas to testify in person at trials. Monroe and Nixon eventually gave written answers to questions; Jefferson submitted written information.

Miss Fromme, 27, a follower of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson, is accused of pointing a .45-caliber pistol at Ford as he walked in a park outside the state Capitol Sept. 5.

The gun did not fire and Ford was not hurt. But several witnesses have said they heard a "click" sound, as if the trigger was pulled. The defense hopes Ford can refute those statements.

Jury selection is scheduled to begin next Tuesday.

MacBride said Ford's testimony should be "rather limited."

"Did he hear a click or didn't he?" the judge said. "Did he hear Miss Fromme say anything?

"If he was looking at Miss Fromme, did he see an expression on her face of one who might be anticipating hearing a loud explosion...a smile, a look of defiance, a look of hatred?"

The judge said the President's testimony could be crucial to the defense. He said the jury would get a picture of "two people intent on each other.

"He was intent to shake her hand...she to do something — either to act in such a manner as to attract attention or to kill him."

Keyes contended the jury could get all the information it needed by reading a statement from Ford.

He said the President's credibility was not at issue, so the jury didn't need to see his facial expression while talking. And he added that the videotaping might encourage future would-be assassins.

The prosecutor contended Miss Fromme had sought "to gain attention for her environmental concerns and Charles Manson's incarceration. No one listened. Now, with 10 days' notice, she can get several hours of the President's time.

"Will this encourage others who might want to threaten or attempt to kill the President for attention?" Keyes asked.

MacBride said Ford's testimony should take no more than an hour. He said the President's integrity was not in question, but seeing his facial expression would help a jury judge his certainty and his memory.

The judge rejected a defense request to force the prosecution to turn over pretrial statements of its witnesses to help in preparing questions for Ford.

But MacBride said he would consider any defense motion to question Ford further after the prosecution had completed its case.

The judge said Ford's statement would be sealed until it was read into the record and the videotape would never be shown outside the courtroom.

Miss Fromme, who is acting as her own attorney, remained seated and quiet during the 70-minute hearing. Her court-appointed co-counsel, John Virga, handled the defense arguments.

Obituaries

Mrs. W. B. Himrod

Mrs. William B. Himrod of Claremont, long-time trustee of Pomona College, died at Pomona Valley Community Hospital Tuesday morning after a brief illness.

Mrs. Himrod, the former Ada Belle Morgan, was born in Antigo, Wis., March 12, 1886. After graduation from the Antigo High School, she attended Beloit College in Beloit, Wis., and Stout Institute in Menomonie, Wis. She majored in domestic science and art, and after receiving her teaching credentials she taught at Bishop High School for 3½ years.

It was during this period as a teacher that she met and married her husband of 61 years, who had opened a law practice in Bishop after graduating from Pomona College in 1908 and from the USC Law School in 1910.

The Himrods spent most of their life in Los Angeles and moved to the Mt. San Antonio Gardens in 1965.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, are a son, Robert M., Fullerton; a daughter, Mrs. Roy J. Cibulk, Los Angeles; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday in the Kingman Chapel of the United Church of Christ, Congregational, Claremont, with the Rev. David Held officiating. Burial will be private. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Gladys McKee

Miss Gladys McKee of 895 W. Bonita Ave., Claremont, died Tuesday morning in Mt. San Antonio Gardens medical unit.

Miss McKee was born Oct. 25, 1892, in Aledo, Ill. She came to Los Angeles in 1919 from Illinois. Miss McKee moved to Mt. San Antonio Gardens in 1963.

She is survived by two sisters, Miss Vera McKee of Claremont and Mrs. J. C. McMillan of Ellendale, N.D.; one niece; and 2 nephews.

Shipment will be made to Aledo, Ill., where graveside services will be held in the Aledo Cemetery.

Vern C. Hadsell

Vern C. Hadsell of 2121 Armour St., Pomona, died Monday afternoon in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a month's illness.

Mr. Hadsell was born March 4, 1911, in Cliftondale, Mass. He came to California in 1920 and had resided in Pomona for the past four years. Mr. Hadsell served with the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Besides his widow, Jeannette A., he is survived by a brother, Gilbert Groutage of Glendale, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be held in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona Thursday at 1:30 p.m. Burial will be made in Veterans Administration Cemetery, West Los Angeles.

Mrs. J. K. Swindt

Mrs. Joseph K. (Foi Fitch) Swindt of 900 E. Harrison Ave., Pomona, died Monday afternoon in Mt. San Antonio Gardens medical unit.

Mrs. Swindt was born Feb. 12, 1878, in Winnebago, Minn., and had resided in the Pomona area since 1924.

Private services will be held in Oak Park Cemetery, Claremont.

Friends may make memorial contributions to Casa Colina Hospital, 255 E. Bonita Ave., Pomona 91767.

Marijuana raids net 1,550 lbs.

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)— County and federal agents seized a total of 1,550 pounds of marijuana and arrested four persons in two separate operations, authorities said.

A San Bernardino County sheriff's spokesman said Tuesday undercover agents in Crestline arrested Thomas Barnes, 34, and David L. Jones, 24, after allegedly making arrangements to buy 850 pounds of marijuana from the pair.

Barnes and Jones were booked for investigation of sale and transportation of marijuana, authorities added.

In the other operation, Michael McNamara, 31, and Joseph Minton, 32, were arrested after they allegedly landed a plane containing 700 pounds of marijuana at the airport in Twentynine Palms.

SURPRISE
Chevrolet

Our Vega Dura-Built 140 engine is guaranteed for more miles than VW, Toyota and Datsun combined.

VW: 24,000 miles/Toyota: 12,500 miles
Datsun: 12,000 miles

Get out your pocket calculator and punch in the figures. The engine warranties of three leading foreign cars, all added together, don't equal that of Chevy Vega's Dura-Built 140 engine guarantee.

The Chevrolet guarantee covers 60,000 miles, or 5 years, whichever occurs first. The guarantee is for 1976 Vegas equipped with 4-cylinder, Dura-Built 140-cubic-inch engines. It means that should something go wrong with the engine, your Chevy dealer will fix it free. The guarantee covers repairs to the cylinder block, cylinder head, all internal engine parts, intake and exhaust manifolds, and water pump, made necessary because of defects in material or workmanship. It does not cover repairs required because of accident, misuse or lack of proper maintenance.

This 5-year/60,000-mile engine guarantee is an added value feature included in your 1976 Vega.

See your Chevy dealer for complete guarantee statement. And see him about his pleasantly surprising Vega prices, too. It's a one-two punch that's changing the minds of a lot of small car buyers about foreign cars.

Don't buy any small car until you've seen your Chevy dealer.

BENNY'S VIOLINS — Mrs. Jack Benny poses with Zubin Mehta, music director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, after she made a formal presentation of two violins that belonged to her late husband. The violins, a Stradivarius and a Pressenda, were bequeathed to the orchestra by the renowned violin-playing comedian. They have a combined value of $100,000.

Jogging is hard on back

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Walk, don't jog, to the nearest rubbish can with your girdles, support hose and high-heeled shoes, says a physician who specializes in keeping blood circulating.

Dr. Joseph Beninson of Detroit told a health seminar Monday that jogging is hard on the spine, while poorly designed support garments squeeze blood vessels, making more work for the heart.

Only walking satisfactorily "promotes blood circulation," he said. "It is impossible to walk too much."

Beninson, 57, a specialist at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital, said support garments are sold in standard sizes that are not reliably suitable to the individual shape of the purchaser's body.

"The good Lord forgot to make people large, medium and small," he said. "Use what God gave you without interfering."

High-heeled shoes "paralyze the calf muscles," and "pantygirdles put a tourniquet around your thigh," he said.

Desert cleanup slated

LOS ANGELES — (BW) — Several thousand members of California off-road vehicle clubs are expected to rally this weekend in the Mojave Desert to clean-up everything from aluminum cans to abandoned junk cars.

The U.S. Bureau of Land Management and members of the California Off-road Vehicle Association (CORVA) and the Motorcycle Owners, Riders and Enthusiasts (MORE) are coordinating the massive recycling of 45,000 acres north of California City.

Dick Harlow, bureau area manager with offices in Bakersfield, said besides picking up litter the plans are to fence abandoned mine shafts, remove old car bodies and eliminate other hazards to recreationists.

Known as the Rand open area in the Rand mountains and Fremont Valley, the clubs volunteered to clean up the terrain in order to enhance the scenic beauty.

Taking part in making a clean sweep of the litter will be a Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co. mobile unit. Bonnie Steele, Reynolds San Dimas service center manager and in charge of the unit, said the mobile operation is prepared to recycle 10,000 pounds of aluminum cans.

Dick Moon, CORVA liason officer who lives in Buena Park, said more than 4,000 volunteers took part in a similar clean-up of the southwest desert resource area last year. "Our members are very concerned about protecting the environment and we are doing everything possibile to preserve it," he said.

All work and no play is not healthy for even litter collectors, so the two-day event will feature hide-and-seek games for prizes donated by Southern California merchants. There will also be other events, including trick-or-treat rounds for the offspring of club members gathering on the site Friday, Halloween night.

Health maintenance organizations urged by physician

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (BW) — Medical care in the United States may be hazardous to your health, says a California physician.

On top of that, it can spell financial ruin, warned Robert Gumbiner M.D. in his just published book, "H M O: Putting it all Together."

But rather than take the doomsday approach, Gumbiner has suggested that health planners and legislators expand and develop the concept of health maintenance organizations (HMO's) as an answer to making medical costs both reasonable and predictable.

An HMO is a group practice with a prepayment plan in which health care professionals deliver comprehensive health care to patients for a monthly prepaid fee.

An authority in the field of HMO's and executive director of Long Beach-based family health program for the past 15 years, Gumbiner contends that people have been brainwashed by the insurance industry to think they can take care of all the small illnesses themselves and only need insurance for a catastrophe.

"At best, the present system of private insurance can help protect a person against utter financial ruin. But it is not much help with the on-going, everyday, run-of-the-mill illnesses that account for most of a family's medical expenses."

What decimates most family budgets is not neurosurgery, a two-year bout with tuberculosis or an accident that leaves someone totally disabled, Gumbiner said.

"It's the multiple, simultaneous problems like a broken arm, a child with a skin condition, a spouse with an earache — all unpredictable and unplanned costs that come in bunches like bananas."

As a total solution for medical care ills, the health insurance industry has fallen far short, Gumbiner declared. "The problem is that health insurance is only a method of payment; it has no effect on availability or quality of care.

"Even as a method of payment, health insurance is often more myth than reality. After the deductibles, the limitations and the copayments, often the patient is paying the initial cost of all illnesses, the end cost of prolonged illness and in the final analysis about 50 per cent of the total.

"For example, the average person may pay the first $100 to $150, 20 per cent of the balance and the difference between what the doctor is now charging and what the insurance company was paying for that service last year."

Gum-biner contends that HMO's are a totally different approach to reorganizing the delivery of medical services and the financing of care.

"The HMO addresses the problems of the total patient — sick, and harried by money worries — in the context of his total medical needs."

One of the largest four group health practices in California, with over 60,000 members, family health program has clinics in Long Beach, Anaheim, Fountain Valley, Compton, Santa Ana and Guam.

Electronic financing: 'decisions are too important'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Office of Telecommunications Policy today called for a closer look at the impact of the growing links between bank and credit computers.

John Eger, acting director of the office, said "the decisions which face us are too important" for the federal role to be decided on a piecemeal or precipitious basis by different agencies.

The issue involved is electronic funds transfer (EFT). EFT is a generic name given to the recording of financial transactions through computers. It ranges from mammoth transfers of money between banks to simple consumer credit card use.

Some critics say EFT development could potentially culminate in a central computer which records every use of credit cards, thus enabling it to track an individual's movements.

Eger, in a report to the Committee on the Right of Privacy headed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, said:

"It is not a question which should be left in the hands of a small group of agencies whose interests may not be broad enough to guarantee adequate consideration of all the issues."

His warning came as he presented an 89-page study prepared for OTP by Prof. James B. Rule of the State University of New York at Stony Brook to the Rockefeller committee. The report is entitled "Value Choices in Electronic Fund Transfer Policy."

Rule details the social impact, both beneficial and detrimental, of a system in which a person has one computer account for all financial transactions or the same number for all accounts.

Noting that some of his potential examples are exaggerations to create discussion, Rule said:

"It is difficult to foresee how any viable system could avoid maintaining data which would describe the date, time and nature of each transaction, and the extent of the user's financial resources ... age and place of residence.

Saying profit-making firms are the main supporters of EFT, he said: "By making it impossible to conceal any detail of one's financial history, EFT could (result in) virtually unerring control over the extension of consumer credit."

But he said it would be easier for those with good records to get credit.

He said the government could use the system to keep track of and swoop down on people who owe the government money, criminals or others wanted by the police.

"Thus, if someone were overdue in paying a parking ticket, he or she might find it impossible to engage in further EFT transactions until the debt was paid," Rule said. "Or, persons wanted by the police could simply be 'cut off' from all EFT transactions until they surrendered."

However, he said this might enable parole boards to be more merciful since they could be certain that restrictions on the movements of the parolee would be adhered to.

Rule said the use of such systems are bound to become matters of controversy concerning who should have access to the accounts. "How can unauthorized access to EFT data be detected, or how would one single out any of these parties responsible for such cases?" he asks.

For instance, he asked, should courts, the Internal Revenue Service or welfare officials have access to the files?

End to banks 'subsidy?'

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of debate, Congress is moving to end the practice of allowing banks free use of billions of federal tax dollars deposited in accounts that draw no interest.

As of late September, the federal government had $2.5 billion in bank accounts that pay no interest. While the banks holding the funds for the government were paying no interest, they were able to invest it and make money on it.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., has been fighting for more than a decade to end what he said amounts to an enormous government subsidy to banks and to get some interest paid on the so-called tax and loan accounts.

Patman's House Banking subcommittee on monetary policy is to begin work today on legislation that would change the practice.

Until this year, Patman has made little progress in pushing through legislation to change the situation. Policy-makers in the last two administrations have opposed changes, saying the banks give certain services to the government in exchange for use of the tax funds.

Now, however, the proposed legislation to give the Treasury some type of interest payments on the deposits is expected to clear Congress easily, and a system may be in place by the end of the year to start funneling interest payments to the Treasury.

The measure not only is supported widely in Congress but for the first time is backed by the Treasury.

One reason for the new support for the bill is a study concluded last year by the Treasury, which said the tax and loan accounts were still a necessary mechanism but that they should be invested in some interest bearing program.

The study said banks have earned up to $300 million a year by investing the idle federal tax and loan payments deposited in their interest-free accounts.

The funds are left at the banks between the time a taxpayer sends a check to the Treasury for tax payments or between the time an investor buys government securities and the time the government actually absorbs the money. This can be many months, during which time banks are able to calculate fairly precisely when the deposits will be withdrawn or reduced by the Treasury.

When the bill was taken up in September, Patman said that "through the years, these funds have represented a substantial subsidy to the commercial banking industry, particularly to the larger banks which have had the great majority of the accounts.

"There is no reason to continue this back-door subsidy and it is time that the federal government and its taxpayers were compensated for all public monies which are left on deposit in commercial banks for any period."

"This is simply good solid business practice. It is something which more and more local and state governments are insisting on. There is no reason for the federal government to be the only entity taking such a cavalier attitude about public funds."

One-time advocate deplores busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading sociologist who once advocated busing to achieve school desegregation today told Congress that forced busing has had the opposite effect in the nation's large cities.

Dr. James S. Coleman of the University of Chicago told the Senate Judiciary Committee that court-ordered busing "raises a spectre of a country of black cities and white suburbs."

A report by Coleman in 1966 for the U.S. Office of Education provided an underpinning for busing to achieve desegregation. The report found that children from disadvantaged backgrounds performed somewhat better when they attended school with children from more affluent homes.

Coleman said Tuesday that although he never believed in compulsory busing, he had once held that busing was the quickest way to achieve school integration in the nation's schools.

However, he said he has now changed his mind after realizing that busing contributed to the flight of whites from the central cities into the suburbs.

However, Coleman refused to endorse proposed constitutional amendments before the committee that would ban compulsory busing as a means of achieving school integration.

Massive busing of students should be discontinued, Coleman testified, but this should come through the courts and through political processes rather than by an amendment to the Constitution.

Before the committee are proposed amendments that would bar court-ordered busing plans like those put into effect this September in Louisville and Boston.

Kentucky Gov. Julian M. Carroll testified that the Louisville busing plan has caused "extensive harm" to Louisville and Jefferson County.

He urged the committee to approve an amendment only as a last resort. First, Congress should enact a moratorium on forced busing and establish a study commission to evaluate the nationwide impact of busing orders, Carroll said.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., disclosed at a news conference Monday that President Ford has ordered the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to "extensively review" options to busing.

Tower met with Ford for 30 minutes Monday and later told reporters the President "agreed with me that forced busing to achieve racial balance is counterproductive."

However, Tower said Ford did not suggest any specific alternatives to busing and refused to endorse his proposed constitutional amendment that would forbid busing for racial purposes.

A poll on gun control

NEW YORK (AP) — By 77 to 19 per cent, Americans back federal registration of all handguns, but only 35 per cent consider lack of strict gun control laws as a major contributor to violence in this country, a Harris poll says.

Polling a national cross section of 1,519 adults, the survey found that 47 per cent of the families in this country own guns.

A similar poll in 1968 showed that a 66 to 30 majority favored federal registration of handguns, while family gun ownership was reported by 41 per cent.

Gun ownership is lowest in the East, highest in the South, Harris said.

In the latest survey, 75 per cent of the responents saw organized crime as a major cause of violence in this country.

"It is apparent from these results that the public sees the causes of violence in society going far beyond simply the lack of stiff gun-control laws," Harris said Monday.

To probe aptitude test lows

NEW YORK (AP) — The College Entrance Examination Board today announced that a special advisory panel will investigate the national decline in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores.

College Board President Sidney P. Marland, Jr. said the panel "will conduct a detailed and independent study of issues related to the score decline which go to the heart of the questions being asked about the quality of American education"

He said the scope of the examination would range from the nature of the test itself to broad social conditions affecting education.

Marland said the panel chairman will be Willard Wirtz, former Secretary of Labor and president of the National Manpower Institute in Washington. It will include testing experts, sociologists and other scholars.

Marland told the College Board's annual business meeting, "At this time, we have no substantial evidence that enables us to attribute the score decline to any single cause or any particular set of causes."

The College Board recently reported that the average SAT scores among 1975 high school graduates had declined 10 points for verbal skills and eight points for mathematical skills. It was the largest drop in any year since the decline began among 1964 graduates 12 years ago.

"The SAT was not designed as a measure of school performance and should not be used that way," Marland said. He said the SAT taken by most college-bound students is a measure of verbal and mathematical reasoning commonly needed in college.

"The predictive validity of the SAT in helping forecast college performance remains as strong and as high as it has been in past decades," he said. "The decline in scores has not affected this function of the test."

He said there are four areas of speculation over the drop in scores: the scientific nature of the tests themselves, the characteristics of the students taking them, the nature of secondary education and general conditions in society.

He said the Advisory Panel on Score Decline would explore such issues as general decline in reading and writing ability, constraints on teachers, the encroachments of courts in schools, busing, the taxpayer rebellion and reduced school revenues, lack of discipline at home and school, widespread television viewing, changing attitudes about college and motivation of the test takers.

U.S. okays sale of plan for cargo ship to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government authorized a private firm to sell Russia plans for a sophisticated new cargo ship for $1 million, even though the United States contributed over $57 million to design and build the vessel, investigators reported Tuesday.

The Senate's permanent investigations subcommittee report said the Lykes Brothers Steamship Co. of New Orleans later tried to charge the U.S. Navy $2 million for the same plans.

The U.S. Maritime Administration issued the license which permitted the company to export the design data on two Lykes-SEABEE ships to the Soviets.

The SEABEE design incorporates twin hydraulic stern elevators to load or unload full cargo barges. Once loaded the barges are stored inside the ship until the vessel reaches its destination. The barges then are refloated.

The Maritime Administration told the Navy in April 1973 that it supported Lykes' "flat refusal" to give the plans to the Navy, which claimed it was entitled to them because of the government's investment in the vessel's creation.

Committee investigators said Maritime Administration officials have since reversed their decision.

The investigators accused the firm of a "self-interested disregard" of legal requirements and the nation's need to improve its merchant fleet.

"The United States, a major commercial power with a broad range of maritime interests, has been hard pressed to maintain its position in world shipping," the report said. "The episodes described in this report suggest that the difficulties may be compounded by inadequate management of both federal subsidy programs and technology transfer procedures."

Two sets of plans were sold to the Soviets for $500,000 each. The plans were developed during the construction of three ships for Lykes Brothers under a construction subsidy contract with General Dynamics.

The Maritime Administration contributed $519,168 to the preliminary design work and later paid General Dynamics more than $57 million in subsidy for more than half the total construction cost, the report said.

The government received nothing from the proceeds of the sale to the Soviet government even though it had a proprietary interest in the design data because of the subsidies, the report said.

The report said the Maritime Administration approved the sale because the plans were published in technical publications and the ships could be seen in many world ports, the report said.

"Whatever the public availability of the designs, the Soviets must have considered them sufficiently inaccessible — or surely they would ot have paid $1 million in order to obtain them," the report said.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the subcommittee chairman, said the sale of the data "reveals how a multimillion dollar federal program designed to strengthen the American merchant marine is, unbelievable as it seems working to benefit the maritime position of the Soviet Union, an increasingly important competitor of our own merchant marine."

An official for the U.S. Maritime Administration had no comment on the report.

Mafia in smut takeover

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Using underworld tactics and modern business techniques, organized crime reportedly has muscled its way to a major share of the $70 million-a-year pornography business in Southern California, law enforcement officials say.

"Right now," said Los Angeles Police Capt. Jack R. Wilson, "they control at least 80 per cent of the porno picture business, as well as about 70 per cent of the hard-core magazine, book and newspaper publishing market. These aren't guesses. We've got records to back the figures...the 'Mafia' is taking over in the pornography business."

Wilson, who commands the LAPD administrative vice division, warned smut is proving so profitable for the Mafia "they've started moving into the legitimate motion picture industry."

Local authorities believe at least three recent slayings are linked to the Mafia's ruthless efforts to establish control of the pornography industry.

Last Aug. 3, former Columbia University basketball star Jacob "Jake" Molinas was shot to death in the backyard of his luxurious Hollywood Hills home. Molinas' friend, Shirley Marcus, 35, was seriously wounded by the killer.

Police Chief Edward Davis said Molinas, who served five years in prison following a notorious, nationwide sports gambling scandal two decades ago, was involved with organized crime in the production and distribution of pornographic films in New York and Los Angeles.

"It is a fact that his firm owed a quarter of a million dollars to an organized crime-controlled (film) processing facility, specializing in obscene materials," said Davis.

Police investigators believe a $500,000 life insurance policy on Molinas' life was a probable factor in his murder.

About three weeks after the Molinas slaying, Joseph Torchio Jr., 37, a North Hollywood resident named by the Justice Department as a member of a New York organized crime family with links to Molinas in the pornography business, was struck fatally by a car as he stepped off a curb on the Strip in Las Vegas, Nev.

Las Vegas police listed Torchio's death as a traffic fatality, but local and federal law enforcement agents feel "there are just too many damned coincidences" surrounding his death, especially as Torchio was due to testify before a federal grand jury in Los Angeles investigating Mafia infiltration of the smut business.

Girl Scouts reject boys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Girl Scouts voted overwhelmingly Tuesday not to admit boys to their organization.

Boys will be able to participate in Girl Scout activities when invited, however. And about 60,000 adult men will be able to continue as troop leaders, board members and consultants.

The Boy Scouts, which are not affiliated with the Girl Scouts, voted last year to admit girls aged 14 to 21 to their Explorer Division.

But the 1,800 delegates to the Girl Scouts national convention, by a show of hands, backed up their directors who recommended against admitting boys

Confusing welter of issues marks civil war in Lebanon

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The world's newest civil war is being fought in a small, modern Arab country roughly the size of Connecticut, with Mediterranean beaches and ski slopes a half-hour apart.

Ironically, Lebanon has never been involved in Arab wars against Israel, concentrating instead on attracting tourists and petrodollars to make Beirut the commercial capital of the Middle East.

But that was before intercommunal fighting erupted last April.

The conflict has pitted Moslem against Christian, left against right, Lebanese against Palestinian, rich against poor — a confusing welter of issues that has paralyzed the coalition government.

The population of three million is 40 per cent Christian and 60 per cent Moslem, with a host of immigrant minorities that include Kurds, Armenians, Syrians and 250,000 Palestinian refugees. The latter live in camps controlled by 12,000 well-armed guerrillas who are virtually immune from government authority.

The Christian sector, with a disproportionate share of the nation's wealth and political power, claims the Palestinians are the cause of Lebanon's problems.

At least three private armies of Christian militiamen say they are fighting to end the Palestinian "occupation" of their country and reassert government control in refugee camps and Lebanese Moslem neighborhoods taken over by Palestinian guerrillas.

These include 6,000 militiamen of Pierre Gemayel's rightwing Phalange party, another 6,000 in the National Liberal party of Interior Minister Camille Chamoun, and a small group of extremist Maronite Christians who have banded together in the "Cedars Guard."

The Moslem sector opposes Christian attempts to "liquidate the Palestinian revolution," while stressing that this is not the real issue behind the Lebanese conflict.

At least six separate Moslem militias, all with a left-wing political line, say they are fighting for political and economic reforms. They want to end the current Lebanese formula that gives the Christian minority the presidency, a parliamentary majority, and command of the armed forces.

These groups include Baath party militiamen, some of them pro-Syrian and some pro-Iraqi, two Nasserite factions, the militant pro-Libyan October 24 Movement, Shiite Moslems who have formed "Brigades of the Lebanese Resistence," and Druze who follow the Progressive Socialist party.

Four left-wing Palestinian guerrilla groups — the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, the PFLP-General Command, the Popular Democratic Front and the Iraqi-backed Arab Liberation Front — have fought with the Moslems against the Christians.

Palestinian guerrillas from larger, more moderate groups under Yasir Arafat have sometimes joined in the fighting and sometimes tried to enforce abortive cease-fires.

Lebanese policemen have not intervened in the conflict.

The Internal Security Forces, a paramilitary group that with police numbers fewer than 20,000 men, have tried but failed to establish buffer zones between warring Christian and Moslem neighborhoods.

They have been fired on by both sides and are now staying clear of the main combat areas while guarding quieter residential districts.

Lebanon's 18,000-man army has not intervened except to loan some armored cars to the security forces and patrol major highways like the road to Beirut International Airport.

The conflict has been aggravated by "home guards" of Kurds and Armenians, trying to protect their quarters from the spreading fighting between Lebanese.

The president of Lebanon, Suleiman Franjieh, is a Maronite Christian. Premier Rashid Karami is a Sunni Moslem. Their differences, coupled with a bitter dispute between Karami and his Christian interior minister, have split the government politically along the same lines as the street militias.

And the 99-member Parliament has proved totally unable to even discuss the crisis. About of a third of the deputies have spent the last seven months in mountain retreats or European capitals.

Curb on business pollution studied

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Air Resources Board is studying regulations that would put tight limits on the pollution from new or expanded businesses in heavy smog areas.

After a hearing Monday, one ARB staff member said that in the Los Angeles area, the proposed rules could affect projects as small as a new dry cleaning shop, or as large as an addition to an oil refinery.

Said Tom Quinn, ARB chairman: "These regulations are not designed to clean up air pollution. They are designed to keep the situation from becoming worse."

He said the board may vote today on the proposals.

At the hearing, the ARB heard testimony on the proposed regulations from local air pollution control districts and oil companies.

Under them, construction or expansion of a factory, refinery or other pollution-producing business would be denied if:

—The project produces 150 pounds per hour of carbon monoxide or 15 pounds per hour of nitrogen oxides, organic gases or any other pollutant covered by a state or national air quality standard.

—And the project resulted in the "violation or a contribution to the continued violation of any state or national ambient air quality standard."

Korean planes collide; 6 die

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Two South Korean light military planes collided over the southern outskirts of Seoul today, killing six airmen, the Defense Ministry said.

The ministry refused further details, but Radio Dong-a said witnesses reported the planes collided, burst into flames and crashed near a school where about 500 high school students were playing outside.

There were no civilian casualties.

Warren commission suspected Hoover of concealing papers

WASHINGTON — In earlier columns, we reported that the FBI defied a Warren Commission resolution and held back internal documents about the John F. Kennedy assassination.

The commission, according to its own internal memos, suspected this from the beginning.

Early in 1964, for example, the commission obtained from the Justice Department two FBI memos that could not be found in the commission's files. Staff attorney Charles Shaffer, who later was to gain national prominence as John Dean's Watergate lawyer, declared in a confidential memo:

"I am morally certain that neither of (the memos) has been transmitted to (general counsel J. Lee) Rankin as it properly should have been. Accordingly, I am disturbed that the Bureau is conducting (an) investigation and not furnishing us with the results.

"Knowing the Bureau as we do, I suggest the matter be informally discussed with their representative in contact with the Commission. In this way, the matter can be corrected with the least amount of friction."

Rankin replied in a handwritten scrawl that he had "noted and talked" with the FBI liaison man about the missing documents on Jan. 14, 1964. Nonetheless, hundreds of internal memos were withheld from the commision.

The commission attorneys also suspected — correctly, it now turns out — that the FBI wasn't leveling with them about its contacts with the accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

One of the, Norman Redlich, now dean of the New York University Law School, discovered a startling omission in an FBI summary of the contents of Oswald's notebook. The FBI neglected to mention that one of its agents, James Hosty, was listed in the notebook.

This also disturbed another staff attorney, Howard Willens, who wrote Rankin in the strictest confidence on Feb. 13, 1964: "I share everyone's concern that this is a matter of great importance." He urged Rankin to demand a "full explanation" from the FBI.

A week later, Rankin wrote sternly to the late FBI director J. Edgar Hoover: "The Commission would like to be informed of the circumstances surrounding this omission," including the names of those who ordered it.

An outraged Hoover fired back the astonishing explanation that Hosty's name was omitted because it wasn't needed by the commission as an investigative lead.

Added Hoover crisply, if not correctly: "This Bureau from the beginning of this investigation has developed and reported all available and relevant facts and it will continue to do so."

Meanwhile, Dallas County's big, shaggy district attorney, Henry Wade, reported to the Warren Commission that he had heard Oswald was an FBI informant.

Inside FBI headquarters, Hoover exploded with rage. He scribbled some sizzling comments about Wade, a former FBI undercover agent, in the margins of memos which were never shown to the commission.

What he sent to the commission was a sworn, detailed affidavit denying that Oswald had ever been an FBI informant. But this didn't satisfy one staff attorney, Leon D. Hubert, Jr., who pointed out in a confidential memo:

"Mr. Hoover's affidavit . . . covers his knowledge, but it can only do that. What about an affidavit of the head of the security division at headquarters, FBI, Washington? He should know who is or who is not an informant . . .

"It should be noted that payment in money is not the only way to engage an informant. I do not think there is any chicanery here; but for the sake of a perfect record, refuting the rumor, I make these comments."

Rankin tried to bring the conflict with Hoover to a head, as gently as possible, on March 26, 1964. Rankin praised the FBI chief for being "most cooperative," and then hit him with 30 blockbuster questions.

"What was the FBI evaluation of Oswald? . . . Why did the FBI make three attempts within eight days (Oct. 29 to Nov. 5, 1963) to locate Oswald? . . . Were any further efforts made between Nov. 5 and Nov. 22 to locate Oswald, and if not, why not?"

Like bombs hitting around a target, the questions almost exploded the secrets that the FBI has buried for 12 years. But Hoover, if he knew that Oswald had delivered a threatening note to the FBI office in Dallas less than a week before assassinating President Kennedy, didn't reveal it to the Warren Commission.

"At the outset," wrote Hoover, "I wish to emphasize tha the facts available to the FBI concerning Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination did not indicate in any way that he was or would be a threat to President Kennedy . . .

"In the absence of any information showing Oswald to be a possible threat to the President, there was no basis to inform the Secret Service concerning Oswald's presence or employment in Dallas."

We have had access at least to some of the material that the FBI suppressed. We have found nothing that would change the official verdict that Oswald, acting alone, gunned down President Kennedy.

The purpose of the cover-up, apparently, was to spare the FBI any embarrassment.

Mother's milk best for teeth

CHICAGO (AP) — Breast feeding babies can help prevent tooth decay, a dental scientist said Tuesday.

"It is in infancy that the groundwork is laid for future dental health problems," he said.

The scientist, Dr. Julius Ozick of New Rochelle, N.Y., a dental faculty member at New York University, spoke at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association.

"Human mother's milk was designed to be consumed by infants and cow milk was designed to be consumed by calves," he said.

In infancy, humans not only have taste receptors on the tongue but on the lips and in the throat, a fact which is significant in development of later tastes, the dentist noted.

"Babies who are bottle-fed, and they perhaps represent the majority of infants, are being fed a sweet-tasting, high-carbohydrate diet from birth," he said.

"These infants grow into toddlers who may very well desire sweets because of their previous feeding experience," Ozick said.

Judge on violent crime: we're concerned, too!

By JACK BURSON
PB Staff Writer

Judge Tom Nuss Tuesday assured a Rotary Club audience that the three judges of the Pomona Municipal Court are just as concerned about local violent crime as they are.

The judge, appointed to the bench 10 months ago, said the three intend to do what they can to see to it that the area remains a place where residents want to live and work.

Nuss said, however, that he speaks from a tenure of just 10 months on the bench and did not attempt to speak for the other two judges.

Nuss, a former practicing Pomona attorney, told Rotarians at a luncheon meeting at the Elks Lodge in Pomona that the three Municipal Court judges — Robert C. Gustaveson, James Piatt and himself — all live in the area and are long-time residents. They have a total of 21 children in their homes and have just as much at stake in the community as anyone attending the meeting.

Nuss addressed himself to three specific issues. They were mandatory sentences for convicted criminals, plea or sentence bargaining and violence.

"There is no reason or room for violence in our society or our community," Nuss said. "My sentencing reflects that."

He then recalled an instance a year ago when Piatt handed down a six-month jail term to a youth as the result of an unprovoked beating given another youth in a parking lot incident after a basketball game. He also mentioned the subsequent support given that sentence by the Progress Bulletin.

Nuss pointed out that mandatory sentencing will go into effect Jan. 1 in some cases as the result of recent legislation and charged that most incidents of so-called "revolving door justice" are the result of the actions of persons on parole boards and the state Adult Authority and not the fault of judges who only can send a person to prison for the term prescribed by law.

There is no plea bargaining in Pomona Municipal Court, Nuss said, in spite of the case load the court administers. It is his position, he added, that the sentence should fit the individual and the offense.

In referring to suggestions from some quarters that judges he monitored in connection with sentences they hand down, Nuss said that such a citizen action was proper. However, he asked that judges be monitored on a 12-or 24-month basis and not on the basis of a few isolated cases.

Nuss said that the Municipal Court, described as a court of limited jurisdiction, is the closest to the people with its misdemeanor criminal, small claims and traffic cases.

"As such," he said, "it feels the pulse of the people quicker and stronger."

Three West End cities to team up in police communications network

The Montclair City Council approved a three-city joint powers agreement Tuesday to provide regional police communications.

On a 5-0 vote, the council accepted the agreement with Chino and Ontario to regionalize police communications and reduce costs in a three-year program. The action followed reports by City Administrator Lauren Wasserman and Police Chief Ray McLean.

Wasserman and McLean pointed out that the police cars of the three West End cities are able to hear each other's radio communications now, so it would prove economically feasible to establish central dispatches on the same frequency.

McLean said he was not an advocate of the philosophy that "bigness is necessarily efficiency," but there are advantages to this program. He pointed out if would minimize costs and add innovations to allow automation and better use of strategic tactics.

The San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department was invited to take part in the program. The courtesy gesture was "graciously" turned down, McLean said, and both city police departments and the sheriff's department understood the complications of the sheriff's department fragmenting its communication system elsewhere in the county to conform with the West End program.

The program will function with three committees. One, composed of city officials, will handle financial transactions and service responsibilities. The second would be comprised of the three police chiefs who would establish policy and quality of service. The last will be a technical committee of police representatives who would be responsible for the day-to-day operations.

Councilman Ernest Rowley questioned the necessity of three committees and asked if it was a duplication of efforts.

McLean responded that although there may be some overlap, the three committees would serve as a checks and balance system to allay fears. After a year or so, he added, it may be possible or necessary to eliminate one or more of these committees.

Police Chiefs Lee Kolbrek of Ontario and Gerald Doyle of Chino will coordinate the communication program with McLean. Montclair will pay 26.3 per cent of the total costs while Ontario pays 51.6 per cent and Chino, 24.8 per cent. The cost formula, explained Wasserman, is based on the number of police vehicles with communications capabilities.

In another matter, Mayor Harold Hayes reported that the Southern California Rapid Transit District staff has recommended to its board that all RTD service be withdrawn from San Bernardino County.

The mayor said there were some questions on whether this would apply to the freeway flier that takes riders into Ontario International Airport. He felt that this would be a negotiable matter since it provided services to residents of Los Angeles.

Councilmen agreed that there was little need for concern since RTD service is either minimal or nil in the West End. The West Valley Transit Service Authority operates effectively there.

The council's final action was to adopt a final 1975-76 program of service, totaling $5,291,010. Wasserman pointed out that because of numerous revisions and additions in the budget since its adoption this summer, it was necessary to take this final action in order to avoid further confusion and auditing problems.

The final amount represents $3,881,871 in general purpose funds and $1,409,139 in special funds.

Pomona suggests safe Halloween: bring the kids to four city parks

Four Halloween parties, for elementary school-age children in Pomona, will be held Friday from 6 to 8 p.m. in community buildings at Palomares, Kennedy, Washington and Westmont parks.

The parties are sponsored by the Pomona Park and Recreation Departments.

Each will cover a variety of activities including costume parades, contests game booths and haunted houses

Parents are urged to bring their youngsters to the parks and allow them to participate in a safe Halloween activity rather than go trick-or-treating in the community.

After the parties are over, the parents are urged to take their children straight home so they may participate in a goblin-give-away program.

It will work this way:

Each child in an elementary school in Pomona will be given an entry slip. By turning the slips in at City Hall or to a recreation leader at a school, they become eligible for the drawings.

Names will be drawn at random after the parties are over, and phone calls will be placed to the children whose names appear on the slips that are drawn. If a child is at home to receive the call, he will be given the prize.

This year the calling will begin at 8:30 p.m. Some 150 prizes will be given away, according to Sherri Schmid of the recreation department.

Protests pile up, but trash hike wins

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Despite protests from several residents, the Chino City Council Tuesday night approved substantial increases in trash collection rates for homes and businesses.

Councilmen, after a public hearing, voted a 20 per cent increase for collections for single family homes, 37 per cent for multiple residential and 21 per cent for commercial accounts.

The increases, requested by Western Refuse Hauling Corp., the citys franchised rubbish collector, mean residents of single family homes will pay $3 a month, a boost of 50 cents; multiple family homes, $2.75, a 75-cent increase; and businesses $17, a $3 increase.

A compromise was reached before Tuesday's meeting between the city and Western Refuse, said John Gerardi, public works director. The rubbish company had asked for rates of $3.85 per month for single family homes, $3.85 for multiples, and $18.20 for commercial. Had they been approved, it would have meant 54 per cent, 193 per cent and 30 per cent boosts, respectively.

Mrs. Cindy Lower of 12536 Yorba Ave. was one resident protesting the increase. "Everything is going up, including gas and water. Why does trash have to go up also?" she asked. "I just don't like another increase."

Raul Tapia, another Chino resident, said he didn't feel the increase was fair, "especially with the service we've been getting from the trash company. I tried to put trash on their trucks recently, and they wouldn't let me. Their service leaves a lot to be desired."

Mary Frogge of 6120 Salem St. agreed with Tapia. "The company takes half your trash and throws the other half on the ground. They wear gloves and yet the job still isn't done right."

Ralph Tufenkian, Western Refuse vice president for research and development, told the council his firm finds the compromise "acceptable and reasonable. We concur with the staff's proposal."

Mayor Bob McLeod noted that he was pleased with service by Western Refuse. He said the city stopped hauling its own trash some years ago, and the situation has improved since. "We used to have daily harassment over trash pickups."

Gerardi said Western's present $2.50 rate for single residential pickups is 7.6 per cent below the average, compared to other area cities. Pomona ha s a $3 rate, Upland $2.90, La Verne $2.75, and Ontario and Montclair both $2.40.

He added that Western's costs of fuel for its trucks has risen 27 per cent, new vehicles, 53 per cent, vehicle maintenance, 30 per cent, and replacement of bins, 44 per cent.

Certain "economies" will be provided as part of the compromise worked out with the company, Gerardi stated. Western is now providing a local office to handle complaints, and will have a mini transfer station in its local yard, for hard to handle items. An experimental resource receovery program also will be started by the firm, allowing collections of recyclable materials.

Stricter enforcement of the city's trash ordinance also will be under way soon, Gerardi said.

Murder suspect changes plea to guilty of second degree

Michael Lerma, 19, a U.S. Marine, Tuesday pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the shooting death of a Chino man.

Lerma, formerly of Pomona, was arrested by Pomona police July 3 along with two juveniles and turned over to Chino police investigating the fatal shooting of Albert Martinez, 21, of Chino and the wounding of two other Chino youths in the area of Second and C streets.

Police said that Lerma and the two 16-year-old youths drove by a car driven by Martinez and opened fire with shotguns in retaliation for another gang-related shooting in the Pomona area. The shotgun blasts killed Martinez, and wounded his younger brother and a passenger, Rodrigo Nava, 18.

In West Valley Superior Court Tuesday, Lerma requested a change of plea from innocent of first-degree murder, to guilty of second-degree murder. Judge Richard Garner accepted the plea after Lerma freely admitted that on July 3 he and two others drove into Chino for the purpose of retaliation on the Chino Sinners for the slaying of a Pomona youth. Lerma said he supplied shotguns and ammunition to the two youths and he and the others fired on the Martinez car.

Lerma said he knew the shotgun pellets struck and killed Martinez. In the guilty plea bargain, an accompanying charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to do great bodily harm was dismissed.

Judge Garner explained to Lerma, prior to the entering of the guilty plea, that he could be sentenced to either the California Youth Authority for at least six years or to state prison for five years to life. Judge Garner set Nov. 18 for a probation hearing and sentencing.

The two 16-year-olds in the case have been sentenced to the California Youth Authority after being found guilty of murder. Another juvenile, allegedly connected with the shooting incident, has been turned over to juvenile authorities for disposition.

British official to speak at LVC

Hamilton Whyte, deputy consul-general at British Information Services in New York, will speak at La Verne College Thursday at 11 a.m.

He will discuss "The European Community and the United States." The talk is free and open to the public.

Whyte's visit to the college is sponsored by the Inland Southern California World Affairs Council and the La Verne chapter of Pi Gamma Mu.

The talk will be followed by a luncheon in the President's Dining Room.

Chino school board okays planning to build 18 permanent classrooms

By VANCE DURGIN
PB Correspondent

The type and number of classrooms to be built in the rapidly growing Glenmeade and Los Serranos areas if voters approve an $8.5-million bond issue Nov. 4 was settled by the Chino school board Tuesday night.

In a unanimous decision of the three members present, the board authorized planning for 18 permanent classrooms — seven at Glenmease and 11 at Los Serranos. In its previous meeting, the board failed to pass two motions which would have authorized planning for relocatable structures at Los Serranos elementary school.

Tuesday's action came after the board's discussion of a study by schools supt. Royce Lapp of the comparative advantages and disadvantsges of both types of classroom units.

The study showed that the main advantages of relocatable units are their shorter construction time and their ability to be moved in order to meet changing enrollment patterns.

The relocatable classrooms, however, have only a 30-year estimated life span as opposed to 50 years for permanent classrooms. In addition, maintenance costs of the relocatable units are higher than those of permanent structures.

School board President Augustine Tapia pointed out that "in the long run there is virtually no cost difference between the two types of structures," and added that "relocatables tend to look like army barracks as they get older."

Lapp noted that "even though the relocatables have a six-month construction time advantage over permanent structures, the projected student load will exceed capacity regardless of which type is built."

Lapp's study showed projected enrollment exceeding available space in the Glenmeade-Los Serranos area by 790 students by November 1977.

In addition to the building proposal, two other issues of continuing controversy were raised at the meeting. Gladys Briggs of the Citizens for Improved Education organization expressed concern that year-round school might be instituted by the board without voter approval.

Member Allen McCombs quickly responded by saying that such was not the board's policy and that a notice of intent was being published in the local newspaper so that an election could be called on the issue.

Support for the continuation of Lapp as superintendent was voiced by Fern Gerard, speaking for the Chino Parent Council. Mrs. Gerard said that her organization believed Lapp was the "best possible man" for the job and that he should be retained.

Mrs. Gerard also expressed criticism of board member Roy Ward, saying "he has created an issue which distracts the board when their attention should be on this bond issue."

Ward originally raised the point that Lapp's contract should be reviewed by the board, rather than automatically renewed.

Tapia, noting that Ward was not present at the meeting, stated that "no decision has yet been made by the board on this matter." The board is expected to deal with the issue at its Nov. 10 meeting.

Clean up Pomona

The prevention of residential burglary is one area where much remains to be done in Pomona and one where homeowners can do a great deal for themselves.

Law enforcement agencies long have warned that burglars select houses which offer easy concealment usually provided by dense shrubbery.

Homeowners are advised to use outside lighting and to eliminate places on their property where vandals or thieves may hide.

This involves trimming shrubbery so feet, legs and heads of persons behind it would show.

It also involves removing bulky trash items piled in yards.

The semiannual, bulky trash pickup to be provided free by the city sanitation department in November offers homeowners an opportunity to clean up their properties before the winter rains begin.

Take advantage of it. Don't provide a hiding place on your property for a burglar.

Sanitation department superintendent Tony Pagliuso said the service will be provided north of Holt Avenue Nov. 3-7 and south of Holt Avenue Nov. 10-14.

Homeowners who wish to have trimmings and bulky trash picked up must call for an appointment. Two telephone numbers are open to receive these calls. They are 620-2361 and 620-2362.

Pagliuso said they would take anything that two men could load into a half-ton pickup truck except dirt, building materials, concrete or rocks.

They will take discarded furniture and appliances, leaves, weeds, refuse and debris.

They are asking homeowners to place their bulky trash and trimmings where they regularly place refuse for pickup.

This service is provided by the city without charge.

By taking advantage of it, Pomona homeowners will be protecting themselves and helping to clean up Pomona.

The return of King Richard

The United States has no royal class. The Constitution, indeed, forbids the granting of titles of nobility.

As a consequence of this prejudice of the Founding Fathers, we are forced to make do as best we can by conferring unofficial royalty on movie stars and other celebrities, on at least one president's widow and now, it would seem, on at least one ex-president.

In a recent issue, Newsweek magazine ran a lengthy cover story on the return of Richard Nixon to the public eye after more than a year of self-imposed exile. We can expect more of the same in the future — how he fills his days, how his health is, how his memoirs are coming along, etc.

With the Nixons in retirement, the U.S. may have its equivalent of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, two likeable people who led essentially useless lives except they provided regular copy for those interested in their doings.

Like the exking, the ex-president is a man fallen from a high pinnacle and hence a semitragic and no doubt to some, a romantic figure. And although like the abdicated king, the abdicated president has no chance of ever regaining a position of power or influence in his country's affairs, he will always be news. The only difference is that he has no title.

U.S. nuts about bolts

Nuts and bolts have held this nation together for 200 years — though sometimes, reading the news from Washington, one gets the impression that the former are much more prevalent than the latter.

A patriotic Bicentennial release from the Trans Union Fastener Group, which distributes more than 30,000 kinds of mechanical fasteners, points out that pins and screws not only held American muskets together in the fight for independence but are vital in everything from household appliances to outer space communications.

For example, it was the failure of a screw to remain tight that apparently caused the breakdown of a $78,000 television camera intended to broadcast in color from the moon in 1969.

In 1840, when Micah Rugg and Martin Barnes formed a partnership in Connecticut to establish the nut and bolt branch of the industry, their six employes produced a total of 500 carriage bolts a day.

Today, 600 plants employing 67,000 people produce more fasteners in one minute than Rugg and Barnes could produce in seven years. In 1975, U.S. industry will use more than 200 billion nuts, bolts, rivets and screws and the metal fastener business will top $2.7 billion.

Think about it.

Cheapest alternative

Dear Editor:

A blooming big bouquet to staff writer Bob Nagey for his superior job of writing in the two articles (Sun., Oct. 12 and Mon., Oct. 13) about the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District's proposed supplemental water project. His pieces will help the electorate be more informed when they go to the polls on Nov. 4.

Since Mr. Nagey's pieces appeared, a number of citizens have commented on the project. Their questions raised one major concern: What will this project cost ME that I otherwise would not pay?

Simply stated, the answer is, this project will SAVE each citizen money.

If this project is not built, our community will still need to expand its imported water supply system. The local water utilities and city councils in the PVMWD have already stated this project is the cheapest alternative to building a bunch of individual import supply lines.

So, the average citizen will still have to pay for using imported water. And those alternative bills will be higher than the one for this project.

Using Mr. Nagey's average costs for this project across the entire District — (only 13 cents more than our rate today of 7 cents) — a price which is really not accurate, because each community pays only for what it gets from the project — the average home owner with a residence valued at $40,000 would pay just $16.50 a year in 1980 for taxes as his share of the project. That's only $1.37 a month. That same homeowner in 1980 would pay only about 20 to 30 per cent more for imported water. Considering inflation, that's a tiny increase over a period of 5 years.

These average figures vary somewhat among each of the PVMWD's nine major communities, according to how much of the project would serve them.

Very few people, however, are going to pay as much as $120 a year between new taxes and higher water bills. That is the potential savings to each homeowner when we improve the quality of water with this project. (A Sept. 21 wire dispatch in the Progress-Bulletin stated we pay $6.3 billion a year in America to overcome hard water's impact.)

We propose delivering high-quality Feather River water to the public with this project. Contrary to some beliefs, no one in our District today is receiving an import supply of pure Feather River water.

Since this proposed supply is naturally softer — indeed, much, much softer — than our Colorado River supply, each of us can expect big savings at home each year this project serves us.

Finally, when we consider cost we ought to look at a hidden savings in this proposal. The design of the project will use gravity instead of pumps to distribute water, as Mr. Nagey graphically outlined.

This means the PVMWD will not be contributing to air pollution by heavy pumping (remember, somewhere a generator must be operated on a fuel to produce the power for a pump). This means the PVMWD will not be competing with the homeowners and residents of our region for a share of precious natural gas, electricity, gasoline, or some other scarce fossil fuel.

And the last two hidden costs this project avoids are major social expenses. This water is definitely better for our health. And by using this proposed water supply we will introduce fewer polluting detergents, water softening chemicals and so forth into our environment.

Any citizen with questions about this project is urged to look up Mr. Nagey's articles or call the PVMWD. We will do our best to make information available so that on Nov. 4 we can be confident the people will speak with the authority of knowledge. — Stan Kawa, General Manager, PVMWD

Explorer Scouts

Dear Editor:

I am a member of La Verne's Law Enforcement Explorers Post 418. Many young people in this community are not aware of the advantages of Explorers.

I would like to explain that the Law Enforcement Explorers Scouts are a special branch of the Boy Scouts of America dealing in law enforcement.

La Verne's Law Enforcement Explorers Post 418 is sponsored by the La Verne Police Department. The institutional representative is Chief Jack Baker of the La Verne Police Department and the post coordinator is C.D. Clawson. Besides Mr. Clawson, there are five other adult staff members. There are aproximately twenty-five members, both male and female, of the La Verne Post.

This post functions basically in the same way as the Police department. It has Post officers which are Captain, Lieutenant, and Sergeant. People are trained to perform duties which will help to take some of the work load off of the police officers which gives them more time for the more important duties. We help the police department and the community by performing such duties in security, crowd control, burglary prevention, and vacation house check.

The purpose of this Post is to recognize and strengthen youth leadership in the law enforcement field and to promote an exchange of ideas, programs, experience, and information, so that all members shall have the opportunity to take full advantage of the benefits afforded them through exploring. It offers its members a closer insight into the workings of the law enforcement profession.

After joining and being accepted, one must attend an academy session, which meets on Saturdays for 12 weeks. At this academy the basics of penal code, vehicle code, health and safety, will be taught as well as the Welfare Institution code. First aid and physical training are also an important part of the academy. At the end of the twelve weeks training period the explorers pass a series of tests in order to graduate.

Once one has passed first aid training, one can go on what is called "ride along" with a police officer. This is where one rides in a police unit with an officer on duty. The age must be 15 years (the minimum) to 21 years (the maximum).

I enjoy being an Explorer and recommend this to other young adults like myself. — Joel Amico, Claremont

Locks tools up

Dear Editor:

Please continue to publish "Spotlight on Crime" and I'm in favor of making front page news of it as I think every responsible citizen should be made aware of the crime condition in our city.

I only wish that all the names of those committing crimes could be published so the parents of the juveniles could be exposed also.

Apparently the critics of "Spotlight on Crime" have never been burglarized or "ripped off" so they wouldn't understand the meaning of losing personal belongings and valuables. We have lived in this one location for 30 years and up until four or five years ago we could leave our tools in the yard for a week at a time and never miss anything.

But now if you go into the house for a drink of water you had better lock your tools up or they will be gone when you come back. I could elaborate for hours on the crime conditions in Pomona. Please keep up the good work.

The real threats

Dear Editor:

In January of this year I became the victim of a "cat" burglar. At 5:30 one morning I was raped and burglarized. It took me months before I could sleep in my room without a full light on and even now I sleep sporadically though I now possess an expensive alarm system. (It must take a terribly sick person to attack, threaten with death, old ladies who can't possibly have more than a few dollars in cash.) This country is too big for gun control laws now, it's too late. Besides, now law abiding citizens feel they need the security of a gun. That is if you have enough warning that someone is trying to break in. As in my case and others I have heard of who are awakened by a burglar crouched at your bedside and one arm across your neck threatening your life, a gun is of no use. Or even if you are forewarned enough to have gun in hand — suppose he has one too. How many old ladies you know have Quick Draw McGraw medals? The judges who have been ignoring our cries, who have been handing out light sentences, who are concerned with the psyche of the lawless, are the real threats to society. Can you imagine the frustration of the police and detective forces? It is hard to imagine why they should put their lives on the line only to have a judge undo all their work, but they do. Is the only answer left to fortify my home with an electric fence? Less than a month ago my home was burglarized for the second time. When I came home at lunch time our quadraphonic system was gone. Well there is nothing left worth taking now I've never had a piece of jewelry in my life!

Until such times when judges stop coddling criminals and mete out severe sentences such as 10 years for second offenders, we won't be able to live in our homes in safety. I have lived in Pomona slightly over two years, yet I know of six burglaries of whom 5 are in my immediate neighborhood. After my attack I used to wake up and think well I've made it through another night, but since the knifings I wonder if I will also survive portal to portal to my job or will I "get it" on the job.

I almost wonder if we citizens shouldn't ban together and stalk our alleys and streets during the worst hours of the night. Oh yes, I hear the helicopters until about 1:30 a.m., but night after night I am awake from 3 to 6 waiting for an unusual noise or the reassurance of the helicopter flight that doesn't come.

Please withhold my name.

Dr. Robson is correct. We should keep a tally on judges and purge those who are not serving the community for the best.

Willing to help

Dear Editor:

Without doubt, I am in complete agreement with your editorial on crime. For some time I have felt it a most degrading situation, for Pomona as a whole, when the few remaining businesses in downtown Pomona have to advertise "Free escort to your car after 5 p.m." to attract customers.

I have lived in Pomona Valley since 1958 and have seen many changes, not for the good. My friends and myself no longer feel free to shop along the mall as we used to.

Not only in Pomona, but while living in Claremont we were robbed three times and our neighbor was mugged several times. Now, in Ontario, we have been having problems. We caught someone breaking in the back door one night. Both bicycles had been stolen the first week we moved in.

I don't like to read of violence any more than the next person, but it is imperative that you print it to keep people alerted to the dangers and to make them aware that our communities need help.

Many of us are willing to help if we knew how and what we are able to do. — J. W. S., Ontario

Just in jest

Recent newspaper reports warned us of the staggering $3 million budget deficit Pomona may be facing next year. So it is quite understandable that in order to help make ends meet, our Parks and Recreation Department has found it necessary to charge registration fees of $12 for classes in Cake Decorating and Belly Dancing. —And that may be an omen.

From Cake Decorating and Belly Dancing it is only logical to expect increased charges for other city services such as Garbage Collecting and Trash Disposal. After all, faced with a $3 million budget deficit anything can happen. —So, taking a tip from what recently happened in New York City, maybe Pomona's citizens had better get on the ball and reconsider their attitude toward school taxes and bonds if, when worst comes to worst, they are going to expect our teachers to save the city from bankruptcy.

Ray Cromley
Ford's only hope is to use honey

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — How quickly men seem to forget their years as congressmen when they become president of the United States.

The other day President Ford came personally to get his story across to a dozen or so selected columnists in the Roosevelt Room at the White House in anticipation of a confrontation with Congress over his proposal to couple a major tax cut with a $395 billion lid on expenditures. He expects a fight which will be all the more bitter because he hadn't bothered to consult Congress in advance.

Yet Mr. Ford and his top assistants know that Congress must, by its very nature, have a different approach to the nation's budget than the President.

Mr. Ford can, if his advisers have the ability and the wisdom, propose $28 billion or more in genuine and valid cuts in government spending.

The amount of waste in the cabinet departments and in the assortment of federal agencies and commissions — is incredible. The number of inflated and outworn programs is large.

But each senator and congressman is faced with his own constituency. Virtually every cut in the budget means that some group in his state or congressional district will get less from the government than they have been receiving, or not receive the added payments or services they believe they deserve. The senator or congressman who votes for reductions or lids on spending usually fears in his bones he is endangering his political life.

If the President attempts to push a spending limit or reduction through Congress by force, he has a strong chance of failure. As Mr. Ford, with his years in Congress, knows full well.

Mr. Ford also knows the only possible hope for success is for his aides to sit down in friendly meetings over a period of months and work out with Congress where cuts are possible and where they are impossible politically, as seen by congressmen.

As noted above, Mr. Ford, more than most presidents in the past, knows this full well. During his years as leader of the Republican opposition to the Democratic majority, Mr. Ford was respected by all for his ability in this business of reconciliating all sides.

Thus, Mr. Ford seems to be going against everything he learned. He repeatedly sends an arrogant, blustering, wordy and authoritarian "father knows best" Secretary of Treasury, William Simon, up to lecture congressmen on what's good for them and the country. Simon is fond of self-righteous lectures on the financial sins of other nations and their downfall.

This is a sure way to induce congressmen to vote against what Mr. Ford wants.

My question is why doesn't the President use White House Office of Management and the Budget Director James Lynn more, and the bumbling Simon less? Lynn has a sure handle on which cuts the Ford administration believes feasible. And he has empathy. He has tact. He likes people. He has respect for congressmen and their problems.

There are others of equal ability and stature in the White House. They are not sufficiently used.

The only conclusion I can draw is that Mr. Ford wants and welcomes a confrontation with Congress over spending and tax reduction.

He believes it will be politically profitable in November 1976.

$400 school check finally arrives

I've got a problem with the Veteran Administration.

I am the daughter of a veteran and supposedly am receiving educational benefits.

In June I enrolled in Chaffey College after having attended Sawyer College. My June check would have represented attendance at Sawyer, but I never received it.

I am not receiving benefits for attendance at Chaffey College either.

You wrote this letter in August.

We contacted the Veterans Administration. You got your September and October pay, around $400.

The information which would had led to benefits for July and August was fed into the the computer in the wrong order, a VA representative told us, resulting in a reject.

He has made special provisions for pay amounting to $396 to cover July and August so that you won't need to wait for the computer to catch up with the mistake.

Around Nov. 1 you should receive $270, which is your regular monthly allowance unless your attendance, school work load or family circumstances change.

There is nothing we can do about your June check. It apparently was lost or stolen. If it is any consolation, the U.S. Treasury Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are looking for it. When they find it, or conclude it is lost forever, you will be compensated.

The problem for which I would like your assistance probably is in the category that you get most complaints. It concerns nondelivery of a mail order item.

Regardless of how many times we read about problems and needless aggravation, I guess we all try mail order purchasing and much too often are sorry. I did, and am both angry and sorry.

In response to an ad in the Family Weekly supplement to the Progress Bulletin, I ordered a device on May 1. To date, after much correspondence, I have been unable to obtain either the article or a refund.

The order was for a plant "moisture monitoring meter" called SAV-A-PLANT, with Downe Merchandising in Florida. A check for $16 was enclosed.

About seven weeks ago I wrote to Family Weekly, as suggested in the magazine, describing the problem.

Lynn Headley, editor of the Weekend Shopper, replied that Downe had been contacted. She said the people at Downe claimed records concerning my order were incomplete and they would contact me requesting canceled check information to assist in resolving my complaint.

I received a letter requesting that a copy of my canceled check be forwarded to Greenland Studios at the same Florida address as given for Downe Merchandising.

I sent it about three weeks ago and to date have heard nothing. — M. Y., Claremont

Immediately after we received your letter, Miss Headley telephoned us to say she was working on your problem.

She wrote to you that Downe Merchandising had sent your order and you should receive it shortly.

You did and reported SAV-A-PLANT does a fantastic job.

I moved to Pomona two years ago.

Since then I have tried to find charcoal wood for barbecuing, either hickory or oak.

I am not referring to the briquettes.

I would appreciate any information you can get for me. — R. G., Pomona.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Thursday, Oct. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're not likely to get too much accomplished today unless you're working on something artistic or creative.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't come on too strong today in front of friends about something good that has happened to you recently. One pal is a bit envious.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Put things back in their places around the house today, or later when you look for something you need you'll not find it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be extra careful today not to pass on information told to you in the strictest confidence.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not a good day to make important purchases. You could easily be talked into paying more than something is actually worth.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pay compliments today if they're sincerely deserved, but don't attempt to use flattery to gain your ends. It won't work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't expect someone to bail you out of a problem situation today that was self-created. It will be left to you to unravel.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Debit spending could be your downfall today. Wait till you have it tucked in the bank before assuming new obligations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't do anything today that could later reflect on your honor or reputation. Adhere to your highest ideals.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Wait till all the facts are in today before making judgments. Your first impressions won't be wholly reliable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do business today only with persons you've dealt with before, or know by reputation to be ethical. Be wary of strangers.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't agree to do something today contrary to your own good, just because you don't want to hurt a sensitive friend.

Your Birthday Oct. 30

The coming year will be a favorable one for you romantically. Stronger bonds will be established with one who is already near and dear to your heart.

Ann Landers

Something for the 'neutered' set

Dear Ann Landers: Many of your readers in their 60s and 70s have been neutered by time. We tend to look back at the grotesqueries of sex with mild amazement. As the Bible says, "There's a season for everything," and certainly there's a season for the flesh. When we were young and lusty who would have had it otherwise?

But your column seems to deal too frequently with sex problems that no longer have meaning to us.

Please, Ann, give us older fans a respite from the domestic satyrs, the impotent, the gays, the truck-drivers who wear panty girdles and the Funny Uncles. I promise you won't lose a reader.

Want to open a wasp's nest? As a suggested topic, why not ask how many professional men who were put through college by their wives, supported through their doctorates by a woman laboring at a boring job, kept THEIR promise to let HER go back to college when their education was completed so that she might have her turn.

I know many physicians, dentists, lawyers, professors and engineers whose wives put them through school and now they don't seem to fit into their husband's lives. They are to dull — don't speak the same language, etc. How about it, Ann? — Grumpwitch In Atlanta

Dear Grump: First, sorry you've been "neutered by time." If you hadn't skipped over those letters on sex, you'd know that time needn't "neuter" anybody. But that's another subject.

O.K. I'll ask the question you want answered. How many women who put their husbands through professional school now feel left behind socially and intellectually? Are you sorry you made the sacrifice? Let's hear from those who did it.

Dear Ann Landers: The other day in your column there was a letter from S.L.P., whose neighbor "opened her yap" and told her 11-year-old daughter she was adopted. Now all the kid does is mope around. The adopted girl is depressed. She feels her adoptive parents did a terrible thing by not telling her.

I agree they should have told her. But what's done is done. Maybe I, also an adopted child, can help cheer that girl up.

Being adopted is a beautiful thing. You've got a family that cares. You have a chance to get a good education. You were chosen and didn't just "happen." If you are still upset because your mom didn't tell you that you were adopted, why not, instead of being mad, talk to her and ask her why she kept it from you? Moping around and being miserable won't help.

I'm 15 and have many friends who were adopted. Not one of us is complaining. So get with it. We are the lucky ones. — Val

Dear V.: Bravo, girl! Thanks for sitting in my chair today!

Dear Ann Landers: You've probably had it up to here with arguments both pro and con from housewives who think they've earned the title "Domestic Engineer." I hope you can find room for one more letter, Ann.

The Greeks had a word for it and Mr. Webster HAS a word for it. The word is serene, dignified and aristocratic. It's "Oikologist." Definition: "housekeeper or housewife."

No foolin', Ann. Look in one of the big dictionaries and you'll find it. — Savannah Sleuth

Dear Savvy: How big does the dictionary have to be? I looked in two enormous, unabridged tomes and was unable to find the word. I have a hunch your "big" dictionary came from a bookstore in Athens.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Kicking around the WFL

The terminal illness (lack of fans) suffered from the candle by the 2-year-old World Football League became terminal last week when the 10-12-team organization realized that the sports fans of America had finally had enough. The aluminum cup runneth over. The league hung up its cleats, folded its towels, slammed the lockers for the last time and crept off to lick the wounds of its $10 million loss. Sic transit WFL Monday.

Next door to the office of the unlamented Philadelphia Bell, the weakest sister in a family of weak sisters, movie houses were showing "Farewell, My Lovely," "S.O.S." and "Buddy, Can You Spare a Dime?" The Bell rang to audiences of 3,000, outnumbered by the beer and hotdog vendors. Hardly the Bell of the ball.

The nebulous "spokesman for WFL" blamed bad weather, bad press, lack of community support, the recession, Women's Lib, Patty Hearst and everything but the advent of the Bolshoi Ballet for the league's lingering death, but even the Nielsen Survey could have predicted the quick demise of an idea whose time has not come. The last rites were right on.

With the American and National leagues (baseball) having barely squeezed in their World Series before the Super Bowl, our attention, if that's not too strong a word, is drawn to "the armpit season," the long winter of our discontent when the sports pages are a montage of hairy underarms that make up what we call "basketball."

In the beginning God created the National Basketball League (NBL), followed, as Eve after Adam, by the American Basketball League (ABL), followed by players' strikes (AFL-CIO). Plus dwindling attendance and a variety of law suits. There's more action in the law courts these days than on the basketball courts.

Comes now, with the corpus delicious of the World Football League barely cold in its grave, a new basketball league, the U. S. Basketball Association. In words of the popular folksinger, "When will they ever learn?"

USBA has nothing, if not frankness, on its side. (And it has nothing else.) The East Coast combine admits frankly that its sole purpose is to sell advertising on CATV, cable television. You have to admire the honesty. No professed competition with the two existing leagues, no zeroing in on the Superb Bowl, no ratrace competition for players and national supremacy — just television commercials.

USBA game will be ignored on the sports pages, but the games will be covered by newspaper business reporters, admen and Nielsen television kooks. The stats will be reported on the financial pages of the nation's newspapers.

Possibly an outstanding performance on the hardwoods will bring some mention on the sports page. Possibly a high society groupie who marries a USBA player will make a note on the society pages.

But the place a new basketball league will most probably wind up is on the obituary page.

Hiatal hernia causes pain

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your write-up in the paper gave me an answer to my problem. My doctor said I had a hole, but didn't say any more.

I would get what I thought was heartburn just drinking Sanka coffee and eating a piece of toast in the morning. Now I want you to send me The Health Letter on Hiatal Hernia, number 4-8.

I'm 84 years old and am in good health. I have not had an attack in about a month.

DEAR READER — Many people who have "heartburn" really have a regurgitation of acid digestive juice into the lower esophagus. The stomach is coated with a protective mucus that prevents the acid digestive juice from burning its lining, but the lower esophagus (food tube) where it joins the stomach does not.

I'll send you The Health Letter you asked for. It will give you the information you need on living habits to prevent or mimize the burning pain from reflux of acid digestive juice into the lower esophagus. It will also tell you what you need to do about an eating routine for this problem.

Others who want this same information can send in 50 cents for The Health Letter on Hiatal Hernia, esophageal Reflux, number 4-8. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

About half of the people over 50 years of age have this problem. Often it doesn't cause symptons at first or the symptoms are mild enough that they are ignored. Good living habits will help avoid complications later.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please tell me what the symptoms of cancer of the throat, lungs and liver are?

DEAR READER — Apparently many people do not understand that almost any tissue in your body can become a cancer. A cancer is a wild, unorganized growth of cells, which may be thyroid cells, breast cells, liver cells, lung cells, brain cells or any other. The cancer will have some of the cellular characteristics of the normal cells of the organ it started in.

The primary cancer, such as lung cancer, can then spread to other parts of the body and the areas of spread will look much like the original cancer.

The symptoms depend entirely on the type of cancer, where it is located and the amount of spread. A small cancer of the lungs may cause no symptoms at all until it has begun to spread. This is why regular examinations are important. The same may be said of a small,cancerous lump in the breast; other than the lump there are usually no symptoms at first. A small lump in the liver may cause no sysmptoms. This is unfortunate. If all cancers actually hurt when they started they could be found early and that would lead to life-saving treatment.

So, you are left with signs, such as unexplained weight loss, bleeding from the bowel or female organs, persistent cough, change in bowel habit and change in persistent hoarse voice. These other signs are important, but because early cancers often cause no specific symptoms early detection depends entirely upon regular examinations even in apparently healthy people.

Opening lead — Q ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The object of bidding is to win as many points as possible with good hands and lose as few as possible with bad ones. General experience has shown that when you hold 13 or more high-card points you will do well to open the bidding. It has also shown that when you want to compete against an opponent's opening bid your main requirement is playing strength. When you overcall, you risk getting doubled.

North has an opening bid. It includes a six-card club suit and North gets right into the action with a two-club overcall.

This bid suggests the possibility of defending at clubs in case East-West have the hand. It also suggests game possibilities if South has the balance of power.

South does have the balance of power. He has 10 high-card points and good club support. He also has a balanced hand with a spade stopper and decides to try for the game in notrump. He bids two notrump and North is happy to take him right to game.

There is no problem in the play. South takes his king of spades and promptly cashes six clubs and two hearts before giving up the lead.

ASK MR. JACOBY

A Michigan reader wants to know if we overcall a diamond opening bid to our right with:

♠ A Q J 7 6 ♥ 5 4 ♦ K 8 3 2 ♣ 7 5.

The answer is a resounding affirmative. We don't have an opening bid, but we do have a good spade suit and when you have a good spade suit it behooves you to get into the action.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN

SUNKIST CENTER — Built of red clay brick and reinforced concrete with windows of layered glass, this $2.2 million research center in Ontario will shelter scientists from heat, noise and glare. The building will provide laboratory, workshop and office space for 50 scientists, engineers and technicians working for Sunkist Growers, Inc.

Sunkist research site opens

The Sunkist Growers, Inc., has opened a $2.2 million research center in Ontario to house research and development operations for the company's fresh fruit and processed products.

The building provides 39,000 square feet of floor space for 50 scientists, engineers and technicians who had worked in smaller groups at various Sunkist locations.

Specialists in all phases of citrus research will be grouped here. They will be involved in chemistry, physics, microbiology, horticulture, mycology, physiology, industrial design, engineering and economics.

The structure, constructed of brick and concrete, is located on a 1.9 acre site on Sunkist Street east of Euclid Avenue. It is adjacent to the company's orange products processing plant and products sales office building.

Officials said that planes departing from nearby Ontario International Airport had some effect on the building's design. Planes pass directly over the site, placing it in the 90-decibel noise zone. The brick construction and insulated windows keep the interior sound level down to a maximum of 50 decibels.

The cast-in-place concrete foundation is also important because a vibration-free floor inside is necessary to maintain proper calibration of delicate scientific instruments, they added.

The recent dedication served as landmark in the citrus marketing cooperative's 50-year history of research and development.

Gordon Beisel, division manager, reported that more than 450 U.S. and foreign patents have been issued on the processes, products and equipment developed by Sunkist personnel.

In fresh fruit research, the company is responsible for the creation and refinement of many pieces of machinery and equipment used today in field and packing house operations. These include a single-clip lemon clipper, automatic place-pack machine, first commercial lemon trademarker and vulumetric citrus sizer.

Attending the dedication ceremony were Robert W. Long, assistant Secretary of Agriculture and Dr. James B. Kendrick, vice president of agricultural sciences for the University of California.

Record supply of foreign oil will be needed

HOUSTON (AP) — An oil study group forecast today that the nation will require a record supply of foreign oil next year.

Petroleum imports for 1976 were estimated at 7,120,000 barrels a day by the supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Such a requirement would be 919,000 barrels a day higher than the anticipated 1975 level and 864,000 barrels a day above the record level of 6,256,000 barrels a day set in 1973.

"Declining domestic oil and gas production combined with rising energy needs will boost required oil imports to an alltime high," the committee said.

"Most of the increase will be in the form of crude oil to fill the void of declining domestic crude oil production and meet higher refinery requirements."

The committee submitted its report as the 4,100-member trade group opened its annual meeting.

The committee expressed hope the current upturn in domestic oil and gas drilling operations prompted by improved prices will in time stabilize or increase domestic crude production.

Domestic crude output is expected to decline a sixth consecutive year in 1976, the committee said, but at a reduced rate.

"The decline in crude oil production has slowed from 443,000 barrels a day in 1974 to an estimated 400,000 barrels daily this year and the committee expects the rate of decline will slow further to 224,000 barrels daily in 1976," the report said.

"Continued progress is dependent on economic incentives to explore for and develop new oil and gas supplies and the availability of funds to finance these activities. Adequate market prices and stability in governmental tax and price policies are essential for this to occur."

Next year's crude output was estimated at 8,141,000 barrels a day, compared with an estimated 8,365,000 this year, and the all-time high of 9,180,000 in 1970.

Next year's total domestic petroleum demand was estimated at 17,213,000 barrels a day. This would be 4.1 per cent above the 1975 level but still below the record 17,308,000 barrels a day requirement set in 1973.

"The 1976 supply-demand forecast points up the difficulty of reducing dependency on imported oil in the short term."

U.S. staying in Korea, congressman says

SEOUL (AP) — The United States will not withdraw its forces from South Korea under "existing conditions," U.S. Congressman John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., declared Tuesday.

Murphy, head of a seven-member congressional delegation on a visit to Korea, told a news conference that only by keeping the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division north of the Han River just below the demilitarized zone "will we keep Kim Il-sung north of the DMZ." Kim is president of Communist North Korea...

"I can guarantee that America will continue to stand with its ally, the Republic of Korea, if it takes 25 more years or even longer to convince the demonic leaders in the North — who are possessed with the goal of destroying this democracy — of their folly."

Mayor drops out

Now he's a part-time bartender and day laborer in this remote tourist community, "living each day for that day, doing whatever intrigues me."

Stewart, 40, said he decided he needed a change in the spring of 1974 when his term expired as mayor of San Anselmo, a prosperous suburb in Marin County, north of San Francisco.

"He was the most popular mayor this town ever had," said Jan Fairchild, a civic leader who worked with Stewart.

Stewart said he was having trouble making a go of it as head of his own photographic studio and his marriage to his college sweetheart, Barbara, was breaking up.

"Actually, I didn't drop out," Stewart said in an interview. "I forced myself to leave because my situation had become intolerable. I was doing everything for everybody and nothing for myself. I always did what I thought people expected of me and I became exhausted.

"I just wanted to get away for six months and get my head straightened out," he said.

Stewart said he headed for California's farmlands, anxious to "get out in the hot sun and work and not think. I felt the need for hard physical labor."

But he said he became disillusioned with that life after a few weeks of working "with people whose conversation was limited to cars, crops and crude jokes."

Going back to San Anselmo also was out. "It has become a hotbed of liberal phonies," Stewart said bitterly. "...They disguise themselves as liberals and conservationists, but what they really want is an exclusive, white, sterile society."

So he settled in the unlikely community of Port Costa, a one-street settlement on an inlet of San Francisco Bay, reachable by only one twisting, narrow road. He works at odd jobs and, when he can, sends money to his ex-wife, who works as a teacher. Their three children visit him often.

"I don't know what I want to do," said Stewart. "I have no real plans. I live each day for that day, doing whatever intrigues me. Life is a series of doing little things every day."

Stormy period for kids

Prof believes special kind of teaching needed for young teens

"Education at all levels has come dangerously close to being obsolescent," says a Claremont Graduate School professor of education.

Donald McNassor, chairman of the CGS faculty in education, is particularly critical of junior high school teaching. He states his views in an article, "The Night World of Preadolescence," in a recent issue of the Journal of Childhood Education.

"We have yet to fully appreciate the need for a special kind of teacher in the classrooms of early adolescents," McNassor says. He describes children in those years as having "Leaped from the more stable physiological world of childhood into a realm of uncontrolled psychic energy, impluse flooding, powerful new cognitive capacity, and a stubborn sense of self-determination that often dismays parents and teachers . . . Their world is a night world because this time is when people feel most alone, when they live on the border of reality and unreality, when the shackles to imagination are loosened, and when terror mounts."

A teacher of such youngsters, he contends, should be a "learning facilitator" rather than an instructor following fixed rules and rigidly covering specific subject matter. Typically, early adolescents have "anarchy within," and "their most pressing need is for adults who like them," he says.

McNassor adds: "The most graded school, with its overemphasis of subject matter and its hierarchy of groups based strictly on academic capability, provides the most barren environment for peer encounter and self-evaluation."

McNassor advocates junior high schools that combine some independent study with strong guidance:

"A significant part of the curriculum in the middle school should be exploration," he says. "Some individual interests will remain active for a short time, then be replaced by new ones. Others will be the "kernel of a permanent development, the core of a future identity! Because early adolescents are beginning to think like adults, the pursuit of individual interests should be regarded as an important base for the general expansion of self, not just as something to do in a one-hour-a-week 'enrichment' period or as a carrot for those who 'get their lessons done'."

Mayor, Bicentennial chief to take part in store open house

Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire and Pomona Bicentennial Committee Chairman Clem Neibel will be guests of honor at an open house Thursday night at the Pomona Sears store launching Sears' national Bicentennial-anniversary celebration.

Jay Ambrose, manager of Pomona Sears, said open house will be held from 6 to 9 p.m., with a mini-ceremony at 7 p.m. followed by the serving of the cake and coffee.

The store will be decorated in a red, white and blue Bicentennial theme. A barbershop quartet will stroll through the store singing oldtime selections, Ambrose said.

Sears' employes will be costumed in Bicentennial hats and vests.

Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s major retail stores in Los Angeles and Orange counties will participate in similar Bicentennial-anniversary celebration kick-offs Thursday, according to E. W. Weldon, retail district manager.

A rededication pledge, made by Sears board Chairman Arthur M. Wood, will be renewed by all Sears' employes during the celebration months.

Sears' pledge is "To offer you real value in merchandise you want. To furnish you reliable service when you call on us. To treat you openly and courteously on the sales floor, at the counter and over the phone."

"These have been Sears' standards for almost 90 years," said Wood. "Now, as over the years, we promise to meet them whenever we meet you."

Sears had a modest beginning. Richard Sears, 23, a Redwood, Minn., railroad agent, purchased a crate of watches and sold them to fellow agents up and down the line for a handsome profit. That was in 1886.

Today this one-man, one-product enterprise had catapulted into a corporation with a workforce of 440,000 in more than 800 retail stores with thousands of catalog and telephone sales offices, millions of products and billions of sales dollars.

Lecturer's death held a suicide

The death last week of Cal Poly faculty member Edward W. Thompson has been determined to have been suicide, a Los Angeles County Coroner's Office spokesman said today.

Thompson, 31-year-old lecturer in marketing management, was found at home in Los Angeles with a self-inflicted bullet wound in his head the evening of Oct. 21, according to Donald Drynan of the coroner's office. The victim died shortly before midnight in Glendale Adventist Hospital. No notes were found.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar returned Tuesday night, by his admission mellower and more relaxed. His sky hook and shot-rejecting right hand haven't changed, though.

Warmly received as he faced his ex-Milwaukee Bucks' teammates for the first time, the 7-foot-2 center poured in 20 of his 30 points in the second half. He added 20 rebounds, nine blocked shots and five assists as the Los Angeles Lakers won a National Basketball Association showdown 99-92.

Cazzie Russell, complementing Abdul-Jabbar with outside shooting, scored a game-high 33 points as the Lakers held off a late Bucks' charge led by rookie Junior Bridgeman.

Abdul-Jabbar, whose request last March that Milwaukee trade him had been interpreted widely as a knock at the city, received loud cheers that all but silenced scattered booing during pre-game introductions.

He was jeered and booed thereafter as his hooks, baseline jumpers and stuff shots helped the Lakers open a 17 point lead with 9:30 to play. Tone of the taunts, however, appeared pro-Bucks, rather than malicious.

"I expected a more hostile reaction. The fans of Milwaukee have a lot of class," said Abdul-Jabbar, more poised and open with the press than at any time in his six seasons with the Bucks.

"What did it tonight was defense and Cazzie Russell," he said. "Cazzie was sudden death."

It was Russell who, after four baskets by Bridgeman and one by fellow rookie Dave Meyers had cut the Lakers' lead to 95-92, drilled a long corner shot to blunt the Bucks' momentum.

Russell scored again after Abdul-Jabbar had blocked a shot by Brian Winters, and the Lakers led 99-92 with less than a minute to play.

Abdul-Jabbar said he felt no special pressure to play well here to justify last June's stunning trade, in which the Lakers acquired him for Bridgeman, Meyers, Winters and Elmore Smith.

"The pressure is always to win," he said. "That's my business. That hasn't changed with the change of uniforms, although it was kind of strange coming back as bad guys instead of good."

He said he holds no bitterness towards Milwaukee and hopes Bucks' fans understand why he had wanted to leave. "We won a world's championship here," Abdul-Jabbar said. "We hung together and averaged 60 wins for five seasons. That's quite an achievement. I'm very proud of my association with the Bucks."

He said his comments about Milwaukee when he had said he wanted to play elsewhere had been misinterpreted.

"After awhile everybody got it straight because people kept asking me about it," he said. "There are more things to do in Los Angeles. I'm not putting down Milwaukee. It's just the way I am."

BACK OF THE WEEK

Former Mt. San Antonio College quarterback Steve Myer was named Associated Press National Back of the Week after his four touchdown passes led New Mexico to a 44-34 victory over nationally ranked Arizona last Saturday. Myer hit on 26 of 38 passes for 351 yards to riddle an Arizona defense that had given up an average of only 6.8 points in five games.

Bell's idol was a top blocker

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ricky Bell is being compared to O.J. Simpson, even though he was told he'd be primarily a blocker when he came to the University of Southern California.

"When I came here, my idol was Sam Cunningham," said Bell, referring to a former Trojan fullback who now plays for New England's Patriots. "I don't mind blocking. At least that way, you can deliver the blow instead of taking it all the time."

But Ricky was switched to tailback because of his speed and power, and today he continues to lead the nation's college rushers with 1,233 yards after seven games.

Bell admits he'd rather carry the ball, even though he's a marked man. "My ribs are really sore," he said this week. "I get hit around the middle a lot. I guess I'm the guy the other team looks for on every play, but that's okay. I really dig contact. If a tackler wants to tackle me, he'll have to pay the price."

The soft-spoken speech major is still awed by things. "It still feels like a dream—almost unreal." He can't believe he's in the same league with Simpson, the former USC Heisman Trophy winner who is pro football's top runner today.

The fifth of seven sons of Ruthie Lee Tatum, Bell's father and mother divorced and he and six brothers moved from Houston to Los Angeles in 1966, to a home on the fringe of Watts. "I was so skinny I didn't play sports in Houston. Everybody used to beat me in everything. My cousins beat up on me."

But Ricky grew, aided by a weightlifting program he started seriously in 1971 at Fremont High School here. "I read that Ed Marinaro lifted weights, even before games. That inspired me. I figured that way I could put on weight and strengthen my bones."

As a high school fullback, Bell gained 995 yards in his senior year.

At USC, though, he was converted to linebacker because of an injury to the starter. Last year, back at fullback, he had 299 yards in 45 carries.

Recently he put together a collage of massive running backs including Chuck Forman, Simpson, Franco Harris and John Brockington. The 4-by-5 foot display is at the entrance to his off-campus apartment. "I look at it to remind myself to pick out their fine points: speed, quickness, power.

"In the offseason, I prepared for fullback. I put on ankle weights and combat boots and ran in the sand at the beach. I lifted weights and I got stronger."

But in spring practice Bell began working out at tailback. "I thought they were just experimenting," but soon he realized, "I wasn't working out at fullback at all."

His weight was then up to 215 pounds and in his first crack at tailback against Duke, he gained 256 yards for a USC school record.

"I've been wondering why I haven't been back to 256 since then," he said. "Maybe it's that I haven't run as hard because I wasn't as nervous as before that game.

"I was so nervous I couldn't eat. We had steak at the hotel and I left almost all of it. I couldn't sleep the night before. I kept thinking of all those guys of the past—Garrett, Simpson, Davis."

RICKY BELL

Only one year ago, Bell was concerned about staying on the traveling squad, because of such fine USC fullbacks as Dave Farmer and Mosi Tatupu.

Today, as a tailback, running for lots of yardage has become almost commonplace. Bell's toughest game came Saturday against Notre Dame.

Held to 65 yards in the first half, Bell gained 100 in the second, wound up with 40 carries— more than any USC runner ever against the Irish—and drew plaudits from Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine.

"There's no doubt in my mind," said Devine, "he could be starting in the NFL right now . . . except maybe at Buffalo." That's where Simpson is the starter.

Bell lives modestly. On the floor of his living room is a set of weights which he uses almost daily. Jazz-rock music plays almost constantly from a record player, and one record which gets constant play was a best-seller in 1968 called "Tighten Up."

It was recorded by Archie Bell and the Drells. Archie, Ricky's 30-year-old brother, still tours with the group and has a record coming out next month.

Ricky is not, however, tied to the electronic world. "I enjoy going to the mountains or the beach. It gives me a good chance to relax and think about life. I enjoy looking at nature. I don't mind being a hundred miles from a town."

Bell is very shy and speaks softly. He attends some social functions at school, but says he prefers a quiet dinner and movie with a date to campus parties.

But the fame which has caught him by surprise has meant he's constantly being interviewed. So to become a more effective speaker, he switched from a business major to speech. "I think it'll help me be more poised in dealing with reporters and meeting people."

Averaging more than 176 yards per game, anybody would be considered a candidate for the Heisman Trophy and, strangely, his own coach, John McKay, has said he would vote for Ricky.

"He's definitely a Heisman Trophy candidate," said McKay uncharacteristically. In the past McKay has declined to stump for his own runners when they are mentioned for such honors. But with Bell, McKay has made an exception.

"It'll be hard for him to win it, though, because he hasn't had enough early season publicity," said the coach.

Being a junior might hurt him, too, in view of the fact that only five juniors in the history of the award have won the Heisman: Doc Blanchard of Army in 1945, Doak Walker of Southern Methodist in 1948, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State in 1950, Roger Staubach of Navy in 1963 and Ohio State's Archie Griffin last year.

Griffin is having another exceptional year, too, and may have the inside track on becoming the first man in history to win the honor twice.

But Ricky Bell won't be sorry if he doesn't win the award. He's just happy to be on the traveling squad.

Braves are going ape

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves say their lineup next season will include a chimpanzee.

"What we are trying to do is to make the stadium a fun place to come to," said Bob Hope, spokesman for the club, which has been plagued by dwindling attendance.

The chimp, outfitted with ball, bat and glove, will sweep the bases after the fifth inning.

Illness couldn't stop Myer

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico quarterback Steve Myer missed practice last Thursday with the flu, spent Friday recuperating and then made Arizona coaches, players and fans sick on Saturday.

Myer, a 6-foot-2, 188-pound senior, ruined the nationally-ranked Wildcats' unbeaten season by passing the Lobos to a 44-34 upset victory. He broke four school records and tied two more by hitting 26 of 38 passes for 351 yards, including four touchdowns.

That performance earned him accolades as Associated Press National College Back of the Week.

"Obviously their offense was very effective," said Arizona Coach Jim Young after watching Myer riddle a defense that had given up an average of only 6.8 points a game in winning its first five outings. "We just couldn't stop them."

With a little luck, the Wildcats wouldn't have had to worry about Myer, the No. 2 passer in the nation with an average of 16.3 completions a game.

"I was really, really sick," Myer said of his bout with the intestinal flu. But he said he was never worried that he wouldn't play, "not until right before the game. It was weird, having butterflies and an upset stomach.

"I started to get real nervous, plus having an upset stomach. I started thinking I might go out and start getting sick and not get to play." Myer said. "So I just laid down and kind of rested and got my act together."

And what an act it was.

His four TD passes were a school single-game record and gave him 19 career scoring aerials and 12 this season, which also set standards. The 351 yards put him in the record books for the most total offense in a game and the 26 completions tied the school record, as do his 218 career completions.

"This had to be my best game ever," said Myer, who transfered last year from Mt. San Antonio Junior College in California. "I know it's got to be the greatest win. It was the greatest feeling I've ever had."

In winning Back of the Week honors, Myer beat out North Carolina State freshman runner Ted Brown, who gained a school record 227 yards on 24 carries and scored four times in a 45-7 rout of Clemson, and defensive back Jim Bolding of East Carolina, who made nine tackles, intercepted two passes, forced a fumble and recovered another fumble as the Pirates upset North Carolina 38-17.

Dionne scores hat trick

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marcel Dionne is on a torrid scoring streak, Rogie Vachon has apparently "filled up the holes in his gloves" and that could spell trouble for the Los Angeles Kings' National Hockey League foes.

Center Dionne scored three times and goalie Vachon posted his first shutout of the year as the Kings mauled the Washington Capitals 6-0 Tuesday night. The victory moved Los Angeles into a tie for first place with Montreal in the Norris Division.

Acquired from Detroit during the off-season, Dionne has now scored seven goals in his last seven games. His four points against the Capitals moved him into second place in the scoring race, one point behind Montreal's Guy Lafleur, who has 22.

Vachon, who had been bombed for 16 goals in the Kings' first two games this season, now has given up just two goals in his last two outings.

"I was beginning to feel like I had big holes in my gloves and pads," Vachon said after the Kings' seventh victory in 11 games.

"It's good to get that old feeling back," he said of his 19th career shutout. "I really feel sharper."

Dionne said he was getting used to playing with a new line.

"We've been working hard together and it pays off," he said. "Tommy Williams and Mike Murphy dug hard for two of my goals tonight."

Williams tied a club record when he logged four assists against Washington. "He complements Dionne very well," Kings' coach Bob Pulford said of Williams.

Dionne scored two goals in the second period against the Capitals to spark a four-goal rally. Butch Goring and Bob Nevin also popped in scores against Washington goalie Michel Belhumeur in the period.

Dionne recorded his fifth career three-goal night in the third period when he blasted a 40-footer past Belhumeur.

Mike Murphy had given Vachon all the pad he needed just as the game began. Murphy took a perfect pass from Dionne and scored with :22 played.

While the Kings were firing 40 shots at Belhumeur, filling in for the injured Ron Low, the Los Angeles defense allowed the Capitals just 16 shots at Vachon.

The Kings host Pittsburgh Thursday night, while Washington, winner of just one game this season, plays in Kansas City the same night.

In the night's only other NHL game, the Atlanta Flames beat the Vancouver Canucks 3-2. In the World Hockey Association, the Toronto Toros defeated the Quebec Nordiques 6-4 and the Edmonton Oilers trimmed the Phoenix Roadrunners 7-3.

Flames 3, Canucks 2

Atlanta, led by Curt Bennett's two goals, took a 3-0 first-period lead and held on to edge Vancouver. Bennett took advantage of an inept Vancouver club in the opening period and goalie Dan Bouchard carried the Flames the rest of the way to their third victory in nine games.

Bill Flett added the other Atlanta goal, while Don Lever and Dennis Ververgaert scored for the Canucks in the final period.

Flett opened the Flames' scoring at 6:53 of the first period when he raced down the right wing and beat Vancouver netminder Gary Smith with a short-handed goal from 40 feet.

Bennett made it 2-0 when he fired a shot into an open net after Smith was caught off position when the puck careened wildly off the glass. The Flames extended their lead to 3-0 with only three seconds left in the period when Bennett picked up a loose puck in front of Smith and picked the corner for his sixth goal of the year.

Following a scoreless second period in which Bouchard played brilliantly, Vancouver came back in the third period but the Canucks' rally fell short as they took their sixth loss in 10 games.

Toros 6, Nordiques 4

Vaclav Nedomansky and Gavin Kirk each scored two goals to litt Toronto over Quebec. Quebec took a 2-0 lead early in the first period when Real Cloutier tucked in a shot from around the net and Serge Bernier blasted in a penalty shot past rookie goalie Mario Vien.

Nedomansky's first goal of the night cut the margin to 2-1 and Jerry Rollins evened the score shortly before the end of the first stanza.

Jean Bernier's goal at the 8:54 mark of the second period gave the Nordiques a 3-2 lead, but the Toros came back with goals by Bob D'Alvise and Kirk before the end of the second period.

Oilers 7, Roadrunners 3

Tim Sheehy knocked in two goals and Dave Dryden performed brilliantly in goal, helping Edmonton beat Phoenix. Sheehy smashed in a goal in the first period, when the Oilers took a 3-2 lead, and then added another one in the second as the winners made it 5-2.

Ken Baird, Barry Long, Ed Joyal, Norm Ullman and Bob McAneeley also got goals for Edmonton. Jim Boyd, Rob Ftorek and Del Hall scored for the Roadrunners.

Carr, Saville Players of Week

Both High School Players of the Week are from the San Antonio League this time around.

The Offensive Player is Upland High fullback Gary Carr. Winning the Defensive Player honors is Richard Saville, a tackle from Garey High.

Carr, a 6-0, 195-pound senior, rushed for 206 yards on 25 carries last week and scored a touchdown, his fifth of the year. Unfortunately for the Highlanders, Carr's super effort was not enough, as they fell to SAL rival Chino 21-15.

Saville paced a Garey defense which shutout Montclair 31-0. The 6-1, 205-pound defensive tackle, who is only a junior, accounted for 12 tackles, eight unassisted, and twice sacked the Montclair quarterback. Paced by Saville's talents, the Vikings held the Cavaliers to only 60 yards in total offense on the evening.

Both Carr and Saville will receive plaques presented by the Pomona Elks Lodge. The presentation will be made next Monday at the weekly Progress Bulletin football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Owner at fault, claims paper

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The States-Item ran a one-word front page editorial Tuesday analyzing the cause of the dismal National Football League season of the 1-5 hometown Saints.

Titled "What's Wrong with the Saints?" the editorial read: "Mecom." The one word was centered in two columns of white space.

Lynn ready with soph jinx remedy

NEW YORK (AP) — From Rookie of the Year to Sophomore Jinx: it's such a familiar story. But 1975's best American League freshman, Fred Lynn of Boston, thinks he knows how to elude the jinx.

"I think the big thing I learned this season is the mental part of the game, which should really help next year," the center fielder said Tuesday after learning of his near-unanimous selection.

"One thing I want to do is take a day off once in while and make sure I go to a lighter bat."

Lynn came within one-half vote of becoming only the second rookie ever to win unanimous acclaim. He was named on all 24 ballots but split one vote with teammate Jim Rice.

He also has a good shot at becoming the first player ever to win Rookie of the Year and his league's Most Valuable Player awards in the same season.

"It's everything I worked for," said the 23-year-old Lynn. "I thought about the award a little during the season. As we went around the league, it was easy to figure Jim Rice was the fellow I'd have to beat in order to be selected."

Lynn follows Mike Hargrove of Texas as the AL rookie winner and is the fourth Red Sox player to win the AL rookie award since the Baseball Writers of America originated the award in 1947. First baseman Walt Dropo won it in 1950, pitcher Don Schwall took it in 1961 and catcher Carlton Fisk won it in 1972.

Fisk was the only unanimous winner but Lynn came as close as possible to matching that achievement.

The voting committee was composed of two writers from each of the league's 12 cities. They vote for one player each, but one writer split his ballot, saying he couldn't choose between the two young Red Sox.

Lynn wound up last season hitting .331, trailing only Minnesota's Rod Carew in the American League batting race. He hit 21 home runs, drove in 105 runs and led the league in slugging, runs scored and doubles.

Rice hit .309 and had 102 RBI. He and Lynn were the first rookie teammates in the AL ever to hit over .300 and drive in more than 100 runs.

Fisk credited consistency for his outstanding season.

"I'm not sure, but I don't think I ever went three games in a row without a hit this season," he said.

Some believe that Lynn's only edge over Rice is in the field, where he made some spectacular catches in Boston's seven-game loss to Cincinnati in the World Series. Rice, who missed the Series with a broken hand, was used as a designated hitter in the first half of the season before moving to left.

The National League Rookie of the Year will be announced Thursday.

Four players added

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers have added four minor league players to their roster, bringing it to the 40-player winter limit.

The foursome purchased from minor league affiliates Wednesday were left-handed pitcher Lance Rautzhan from Albuquerque of the Pacific Coast League and outfielders Mike Dimmel and Bob Detherage from Waterbury, Conn. of the Eastern League, and Ubaldo Heredia from Danville, Ill., of the Midwest League.

Catcher Paul Ray Powell was sent to Albuquerque.

Rautzhan had a 14-10 record and an earned run average of 2.06 at Waterbury, completing 21 of 28 starts.

Dimmel hit .275 at Waterbury with 11 homers, 59 runs batted in and 26 stolen bases. Detherage batted .252 with four home runs, 35 RBI and 30 stolen bases and Heredia was 11-13 with a 3.24 ERA at Danville.

McKay remains silent

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John McKay continues to rely on the phrase "no comment" when asked about his postseason coaching plans.

The head football coach at Southern California says he won't talk about the vacant National Football League job in Tampa, Fla., until after the current season. Still rumors persist.

The latest rumor on the subject says McKay has been offered a ton to take the job in Florida. The rumors, from various sources, read like this:

A five-year, $750,000 contract; a $500,000 life insurance policy for himself and a $250,000 life insurance policy for his wife, Corky; a $250,000 land investment; a $10,000 expense account; three cars; a $60,000-a-year television contract.

McKay limited his talk Tuesday to his upcoming opponent, California.

"Cal has by far the best offensive team we've played so far," he said.

"Chuck Muncie is having a tremendous season," said McKay of the tailback his team faces Saturday. "And they have a good fullback, a guy named Tom Newton, and their quarterback, Joe Roth, is doing a good job. And I don't know of a better pair of receivers on the coast than (Wesley) Walker and (Steve) Rivera. I've told our players and they know what they have to do. I told them very calmly. They know what it'll take to get to the Rose Bowl."

The unbeaten Trojans, 24-17 victors over Notre Dame last Saturday, play at Berkeley Saturday in the first of four consecutive Pacific-8 Conference games. USC, 3-0 in the Pac-8, is favored over the Bears, 3-1. But McKay said the Cal offense is potent.

"Muncie is a tremendous back. He does not go down by talking to him. You have to put him on the ground. They say he's 6-foot-3 and 230 pounds but he looks a lot bigger than that. And he runs the 100 in 9.7. I know he'll go in the first round of the NFL draft.

Baiz back with Saints

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Correspondent

Coach Bob Baiz was back at the helm of the San Dimas Saints for last Friday's game, despite a bleeding ulcer that kept him in a hospital bed for nearly a week just previous to the contest.

The condition sent him to Kaiser Hospital in Fontana the morning of Saturday, October 18, forcing him to miss San Dimas' 12-9 loss to Hacienda League foe Royal Oak that night. He was released Thursday and was back on the sidelines to lead the Saints' 28-8 romp over Sierra Vista the next night.

Baiz said the bleeding ulcer was a complete surprise. "At first I thought I had stomach flu," he said. Baiz is now on a bland diet and looking forward to the rest of the season, though he is realistic about his team's hopes of being selected for postseason play.

"Our playoff chances are hanging from a pretty slim thread right now," he admitted. "We know we have to win all three of our remaining games, and we're looking for a three-way tie for second place."

The Saints (2-2 in league play) trail Bonita (4-0), Royal Oak (4-0) and Walnut (3-1) and are tied with Alta Loma (2-2) for fourth place. The three-way tie Baiz is eyeing would depend on the Saints winning their last three games, including a Nov. 14 meeting with Walnut, and on either Bonita or Royal Oak losing two of its last three contests.

Baiz is not the only San Dimas football personality who has spent the last few days recovering from a disability. Star halfback Fred Carter should be back in action for Friday's game with Alta Loma after missing the Sierra Vista tilt with a sprained ankle.

Jim Campbell replaced Carter for that game, and picked up 86 yards on 11 carries. Jim's brother, Steve Campbell, who suffered a broken foot in the first game of the year, is also expected to play Friday.

"Steve has been out of the cast and running for three weeks now," said Baiz. "Perry Aris (a sophomore) has pretty much taken over his job in the secondary, so we'll be using Steve primarily as a wide receiver."

Baiz respects the Alta Loma Braves, San Dimas' opponent Friday, for their size, but feels that his squad has the advantage in speed.

"Our quarterbacking has improved, too," he said. "Steve Loumagne completed four of five passes last week, and had one dropped in the end zone."

While the injured Saints have been on the mend, Bonita Coach Pete Lopez has lost one of his Bearcats indefinitely.

Ralph Chalifoux suffered stretched ligaments and torn cartilage in his knee last week in the Bearcats' 14-8 win over Ontario, and underwent a knee operation Monday. "I don't think he'll be back," Lopez said of Chalifoux, a senior who has played linebacker and tight end.

In spite of Bonita's perfect league record, Lopez did not like his team's play Thursday against Ontario. "I wanted us to play well and improve in that game said Lopez, "but we didn't. If we go down there (to Gladstone) Friday and play the way we did against Ontario, we just might lose," Lopez said of Friday's game with winless Gladstone.

"Of course I was happy to get the win against Ontario," he continued, "but I figure our offense has to improve 50 or 60 per cent by the time we play Walnut and Royal Oak (Bonita's last two opponents on the H.L. schedule). Those are two strong defensive teams."

They proved it last week in Royal Oak's 9-6 win over Walnut, which dropped the Mustangs from fifth to eighth in this week's CIF 2-A poll.

Walnut played that game without the services of Alex Solorzano, the Mustangs big tight end and linebacker, who is recuperating from a pulled groin muscle and an unidentified virus.

"Of course the pulled muscle will be no problem once he starts working out," said Walnut coach Ken Gunn, "but the virus and the cold weather have kept him off the practice field.

"He was in the hospital a week and had a temperature of 104 degrees," Gunn said, "and they never did figure out what it was."

Gunn has no idea whether Solorzano will be ready to play in Thursday night's game against Ontario, and added that his whole squad is "really banged up," though no one is injured.

"That was a tough, physical game (against Royal Oak)," said Gunn, "and an emotional one. I just hope the players get back up emotionally in time for Ontario.

"The thing that frightens me about Ontario is their speed," Gunn said. "They have some guys who can really go, and two quarterbacks (Ramon Flores and Larry Cutbirth) who throw well. Our kids aren't worried because they look at their record (Ontario is 0-4 in H.L. action), but our coaches are worried."

The other league game this week will pit Sierra Vista (1-3) against the Royal Oak Romans, who solidified their No. 1 ranking in the CIF 2-A poll with last week's win over Walnut.

'Hens win

The Pomona-Pitzer Sagehens blanked Whittier, 2-0, Saturday to run their SCIAC soccer record to 8-0.

The 'Hens will travel to Cal Lutheran Wednesday for a non-conference game and will host SCIAC foe La Verne Saturday.

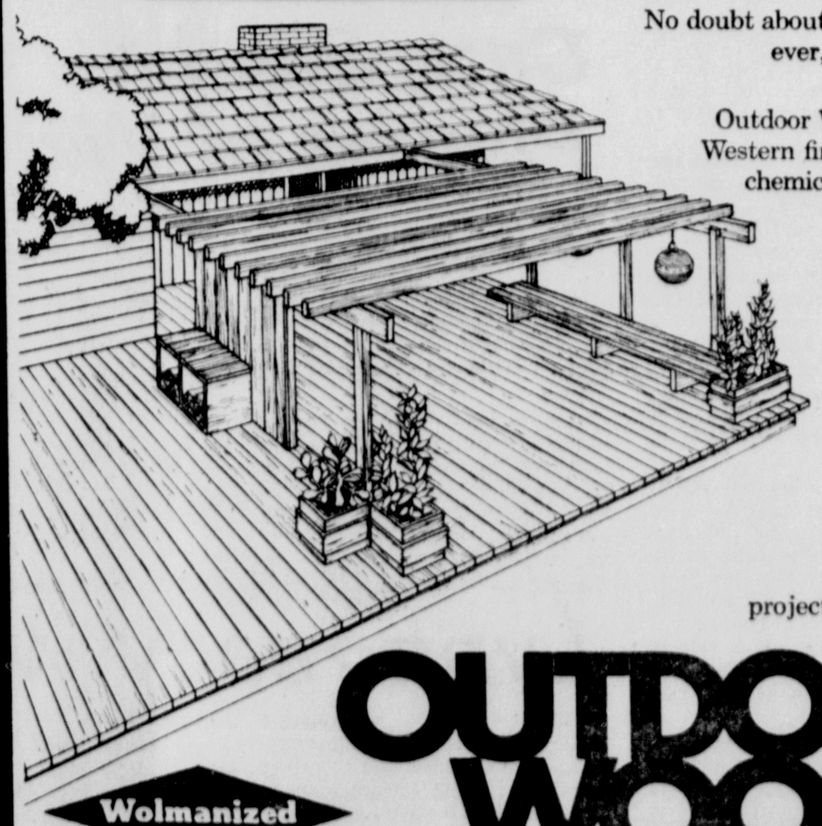
Outdoor Wood:™ the economical alternative to Redwood.



No doubt about it, Redwood is a fine building material. However, there is another wood just as attractive and less expensive . . . it's called Outdoor Wood.

Outdoor Wood is a highly-selected, appearance grade of Western fir pressure-treated with Wolman® preservative chemicals. This treatment permanently protects the wood from decay and insects. You can paint it or stain it if you want to, but you don't have to. If left natural, it weathers to an attractive driftwood gray. And it's priced below comparable grades of Redwood.

Free Literature

Stop by and see the dealer listed below. He has colorful literature that tells you the complete story about Outdoor Wood and how you can use it for building decks, sun trellises, fences and benches.

Use Outdoor Wood for all your backyard projects. It's the economical alternative to Redwood.

Rams have reasons to fear Eagles

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — There are three major reasons, says Coach Chuck Knox of the Los Angeles Rams, why you can ignore the preseason score and look for a close game when his club meets the Philadelphia Eagles next Monday night.

"First," says Knox, "we beat them so handily in the preseason and they're looking for revenge with a good team to get it.

"Secondly, they'll be playing at home and their fans will be very, very vocal.

"Thirdly, it will be a nationally televised game and they want to show their best."

That's what he'll be telling his Rams who go into the game with a 5-1 record against 1-5 for the Eagles who have former Ram Roman Gabriel at quarterback.

"He looks like the Gabe of old," said Knox, who had watched movies of previous Eagle games. "He can pass with two guys hanging on him."

Knox said there will be emphasis this week on avoiding penalties which have cost his 5-1 team three touchdowns already this campaign.

"Some teams go through an entire season without one penalty on a touchdown play," he observed.

Physically, the Rams are in good shape following the 38-14 victory over New Orleans which gave them a three-game bulge in the National Football Conference West.

Psychologically, the coach doesn't think the big lead will make much difference.

"I'd like to have as big a lead you could possibly have at any time," Knox said. "But we're not thinking about the lead, we're thinking about Philadelphia, which is a team much better than its record shows."

The coach has adjusted his practice schedule for the Monday night battle. He gave his club Tuesday and Wednesday off and then will push the date back a day and start practice on Thursday just as though it were Wednesday.

Then on Monday, the clock will also be adjusted although the team will operate on Eastern time.

"We'll eat at 5 p.m., four hours before the game just as we always do," the coach explained. However, generally they have a meal at 9 a.m. in advance of a 1 p.m. kickoff.

There will also be a team meeting on Monday, where normally there isn't on a Sunday before a game.

"We want to keep them off their feet as much as possible," Knox said. "But we don't want them to be loggy."

Damien's comebacks keep SAL race exciting

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

No one can say that Damien High has had an easy time of it in taking over the lead in the San Antonio League football race with a 4-0 record.

The unbeaten Spartans opened SAL play by edging upland 15-14 on a touchdown and two-point PAT by Leo Burke late in the final quarter. A week later Damien had to rally again in the last period, this time to nip Pomona 9-8 on a one-yard TD plunge by quarterback Joe Carroll.

Next coach Dick Larson's Spartans played Montclair, and had to break open a tight 14-6 game with 22 final quarter points to score a 36-6 win.

However, all those fourth-quarter heroics were eclipsed last week against Ganesha, as Damien rallied from a 34-12 deficit with 1:37 left in the third period to score an incredible 49-34 win over Ganesha.

That comeback, after spotting the Giants 22 points, was surely one of the most remarkable and dramatic in San Antonio League history.

As in the Pomona contest, it was a long kickoff return by Lorenzo Hearns which sparked the triumph. Against Pomona the Spartan speedster returned a kickoff some 60 yards to set up the winning score. Last Friday against Ganesha, Hearns ran one back all 100 yards to get Damien back into the game.

After those four thrillers, momentum seems to be definitely on the side of the Spartans. However, one factor stands between Damien and a SAL grid title, that being the fact that coach Larson's crew still has to face both Garey and Chino prior to the conclusion of league play.

Both the Vikings and the Cowboys are 3-1 in SAL action, a single game behind the Spartans. Thus if either team beats Damien the schools will be tied up atop the standings.

The challenge for Damien starts this week, as it goes gainst Garey at Cal Poly on Friday night. The Spartans will then play Claremont next week, and finish the season with the biggie against Chino.

With that kind of schedule, it's not going to be easy for Larson to guide his squad to the loop championship.

It shapes up as a very entertaining way for the SAL season to end. Right now it would appear (with only three games left in the regular season) that only Damien, Garey and Chino have much of a shot at the league title. However, both Pomona and Upland have to figure they still are in the running for a CIF playoff berth, so this year's final rounds of games can be expected to be as wild as they have been the past couple seasons.

Last year the CIF took three teams from the SAL for post-season playoff tilts. The SAL winner is, of course, automatically seeded in the playoffs and the runnerup is also virtually assured of gaining a playoff berth.

What would be remarkable would be if Damien can continue unbeatten in its three remaining contests. The Spartans are a fine football team, and have shown a lot of offensive punch. However, one wonders how much longer their fourthquarter magic will hold out.

Meanwhile, both Garey and Chino have looked most impressive. Garey rebounded from a 14-12 loss to Upland to drub Montclair 31-0 last week. The Vikings just might have the finest offensive player in the valley in halfback Stanley Webster, but perhaps the most impressive aspect of Garey's play to this point has been the rugged Viking defense.

Chino has also bounced back, as the Cowboys have now rolled past three foes following a narrow loss to Pomona. Jim Rawls' Chino squad has found an effective passing threat in quarterback Chris Pruitt, and Rick Riedel went over the 100-yard mark rushing in a game once again last week against Upland.

Actually, of the three SAL front-runners Chino might just have a slight edge in the remaining schedule. The Cowboys face cellar dweller Montclair this week before tackling Garey and Damien. Garey has perhaps the roughest slate of games still to come, as the Vikes face Damien this week, Chino next and Pomona to wind up the league season.

What all this means is that the San Antonio League grid race can look for its customary fireworks over the next three weeks. It's nice to know some things in life don't change.

Scots out to better CC mark

Upland High, fresh from an outstanding performance in the MSAC Cross Country Invitational, will try to improve its 5-0 San Antonio League mark Thursday when the Scots visit Pomona.

The Highlander runners were the top 3A school in the MSAC meet over the weekend, and are heavy favorites to topple the Devil thinclads.

Pomona does have one thing in its favor, however, as Devil Barry Boettcher proved himself to be the top runner in the SAL at the MSAC competition. Boettcher recorded a 10:25 timing, sixth best in the meet and almost a half-minute better than the top Scot clocking, Mark Trilvesky's 10:52.

Unfortunately for Pomona, Boettcher is about its only individual capable of out-distancing the powerful Upland squad of coach Bob Loney.

Elsewhere in the SAL, Chino will be at Montclair, Damien at Garey and Claremont at Ganesha. All four SAL dual meets will be run Thursday beginning at 3:15 p.m.

Hacienda League leaders San Dimas and Walnut figure to advance again this week. The Saints will be at Alta Loma while Walnut will be visiting Ontario.

The other Hacienda meets include Bonita at Gladstone and Royal Oak at Sierra Vista. All H.L. duals are slated to be run Friday afternoon at 3:15 p.m.

Hacienda League cross country finals will be coming up Nov. 15 at MSAC, while SAL finals will be run Nov. 18, also at the MSAC course.

Boosters will meet

A meeting of the Pomona High Boosters Club has been set for tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the school's cafeteria.

Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss fund raising projects by the club to benefit the Pomona athletic teams.

Burke advanced to six points behind Webster, but the fleet Viking halfback put across three TD's against Montclair to stay atop statistics.

In team offense, undefeated Damien has taken a commanding lead in the stats by virtue of its 49-point effort against Ganesha. Ontario Christian continues to lead in team defense, the Knights having allowed only 3.7 points per game in six outings.

Funny cars set at OCIR

Orange County International Raceway officials are now making final preparations for the 9th Annual Manufacturers Funny Car Championships to be held on Saturday.

OCIR's annual Manufacturers event is traditionally billed as America's largest and richest all Funny Car event, and this belief has always been upheld due to the enormous field of Funny Cars (32 the sport's biggest names) and the affluent cash purse of over $50,000.

As incredible as it may sound, International Raceway Parks (new operators of OCIR since May, 1975) officers are striving to make this 9th annual Manufacturers race the "grandaddy of them all."

The 1975 edition of this stellar event will offer, for the first time ever, a colossal starting field of 64 Funny Cars, featuring virtually every top name in drag racing including 5 second Don Prudhomme, national champion Ray Beadle, the Chi-town Hustler, Jungle Jim Liberman, Tom McEwen, Ed McCulloch, Mickey Thompson, Chicago Patrol, Damn Yankee, Hawaiian, Gordie Bonin, Pisano & Matsubara, Sundance, and John Lombardo.

Pre-race activities will also include the on track lineup of all Funny Cars, individual driver introductions and for the first time ever the firing up of all Funny Cars in a 90,000 horsepower salute to the huge audience.

The gates open at 10:00 a.m., time trials from 11:00 to 4:00 p.m., lineup, introductions and firing up of Funny Cars at 5:00 p.m.

Twinbill at Coliseum

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum has presented Olympic Games, football classics, world championship fights, religious rallies and even midget auto races, but never has it been put to the use it will see Saturday.

Following the UCLA Washington Football game that afternoon, the Coliseum will be the site of the 8th annual U.S. Speedway Motorcycle Championships.

Speedway motorcycles, which draw crowds in excess of 60,000 at such European arenas as Wembley Stadium in England will be presented for the first time in this country in a stadium capable of seating more than 10,000 spectators.

That is almost precisely the number of fans who have been attracted to the last two speedway championships at Orange County Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa, where the Australian-originated sport of short track dirt motorcycle racing has evolved into California's most popular weekly motor racing attraction in just seven years.

Promotor Harry Oxley, the man behind the latest revival of speedway racing, has contracted to stage the event in the east (peristyle) end of the stadium. His capacity, limited by football standards, is about 30,000 seats.

The track will be 350 yards around the outside, 270 on the pole for about one-sixth mile, in a D shape against the concrete retaining wall at the edge of the grass.

Tickets are on sale at International Speedway, Inc. P.O. Box 3334, San Clement, CA 92672; at Orange County Fairgrounds every Friday night through October 24th; all Ticketron, Liberty-Wallichs and Mutual agencies and the Los Angeles Sports Arena box office. Parsons, Marcis enter Times 500

Benny Parsons, winner of the Daytona 500 this year, and Dave Marcis, enjoying the finest season of his racing career, have entered the Times 500 Grand National stock car race Nov. 23 at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Parsons, 34, won the 1973 Grand National championship, but his biggest moment in racing came this February when he picked up more than $40,000 in winning the prestigious Daytona 500 in Florida.

A former taxi cab driver in his native Detroit, Parsons became a full-time stock car driver in 1970 after winning the championship of the Automobile Racing Club of America twice (1968-69).

He has been a consistent finisher since his conversion to the big bore stocks. He's finished in the top five 73 times and won nearly half a million dollars in the past six years.

Marcis, like Parsons, is a transplanted midwesterner. The native of Wausau, Wisconsin now lives in Avery's Creet, North Carolina.

Without question, he has been one of the surprise stories of the 1975 NASCAR season.

The 34-year-old father of two began racing jalopies in 1958 and finished second in his first race. He was the midwest Wisconsin champion in stockers in 1965.

Marcis made his first big impression in Grand National racing when he substituted for an ailing Bobby Isaac in the 1971 Talladega 500. He battled with the leaders throughout the entire race before engine trouble sidelined him with just six laps to go.

Parsons and Marcis have each won the pole position twice this season, indicating their cars are capable of matching speeds with the Pettys and the Allisons.

They figure to be two more factors at Ontario Nov. 23 in the second annual Times 500.

Sports briefs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ruben Olivares, saying he can't afford to "take chances" with a tough puncher like Danny "Little Red" Lopez, has been granted an additional 10 days to train for their featherweight bout at the Forum.

The 10-rounder was originally scheduled for Nov. 22, but the 27-year-old ex-bantam and featherweight champ was granted the postponement to Dec. 4 after Lopez' manager, Howie Steindler, agreed to the delay.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — A former World Football League player, signed by Green Bay last Friday after the WFL had folded, says he will practice with the Packers Wednesday and may sue the National Football League.

A Packer spokesman said the club doesn't expect defensive end Dave Roller at practice, and NFL public relations director Don Weiss has ordered the club to have no further contact with the player this season.

Weiss said the Packers would be subject to disciplinary action by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle if they allow Roller to practice.

Roller, formerly of the WFL's Southern California Sun, was signed by Green Bay about 2½ hours before Rozelle ordered NFL teams not to sign players from the defunct league this season. Roller claims he had a contract before the ban and that the Packers must be allowed to honor it.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Manager Whitey Herzog tapped an old friend and veteran baseball man, Chuck Hiller, to be the third base coach for the Kansas City Royals.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Righthanders Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles and Tom Seaver of the New York Mets were named the top major league pitchers for the 1975 season Tuesday by the Sporting News.

NEW YORK — The New York Rangers of the National Hockey League traded veteran goaltender Gilles Villemure to the Chicago Black Hawks for defenseman Doug Jarrett.

HARTFORD, Conn. — Terry Caffery was traded from the New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association to the Calgary Cowboys for a high pick in next year's amateur draft and other unspecified considerations.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The Chicago Cubs traded shortstop Don Kessinger to the St. Louis Cardinals for pitcher Mike Garman and a player to be named later.

HOUSTON — The National League Houston Astros fired Grady Hatton as the director of player development.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals traded infielder Larry Lintz to the Oakland A's for Charlie Chant.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The Phoenix Racquets acquired the World Team Tennis rights to Chris Evert, who has never played in the WTT.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Several new types of racing machines, including big American stock cars, will be accepted as entries in 24-hour road races at LeMans, France, and Daytona International Speedway next year.

Bill France Sr., president of International Speedway Corp., announced Tuesday that his organization and the A.C. de l'Oest, which sponsors the 24 Hours of LeMans, have agreed on the eligibility of several new categories of cars.

Did poison kill horses?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tests for the cause of the mysterious deaths of six pacers within a span of 20 days at Hollypark Park have been inconclusive, a track spokesman says.

The deaths of the six horses were similiar, and the California Horseracing Board, investigating the deaths, came to suspect rat poison was the cause.

But the Hollywood Park spokesman said Tuesday that tests by both the board and the Los Angeles County Department of Health proved inconclusive.

The string of deaths began when a promising filly, All Systems Go, died in her stall Aug. 30, and ended with the death of Jack D. 19 days later. All the pacers were lightly raced.

Aneurysms, a weakening of cardiac and arterial walls caused by disease, were suspected and autopsies were ordered. But the hemorrhages were only a symptom.

The autopsies did disclose that in each case gallons of non-clotted blood filled the peritoneal or abdominal cavities of the horses.

The active ingredient in the rat poison used around the stalls at the track is Chorophacinone, an anticoagulant compound that is toxic to all animals, including man.

The exterminator who services the barn area told the board his procedure calls for a small amount of the poison inserted into the rodent hole, but the board investigator said he found "large amounts" around the barns.

Gordon Anderson said he found "approximately a four-inch spread and one-eighth to one-half inch thick" in some areas around the stalls.

The track immediately ordered a complete cleaning of the area, and the deaths stopped.

Owners' claims for the horses, which included Nevada Jack, Judy's Paper Girl, Amigo Real and Patty Pegasus, range from $26,500 plus expenses to $3,000.

The Hollywood Park spokesman said if the owners cannot reach what they consider a fair adjustment, it is their perogative to sue.

Lakers sign center

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim McDaniels, a 7-foot former Western Kentucky star, was signed Tuesday by the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association and will be in uniform Friday night.

That night the Lakers will host the Seattle SuperSonics, the team that released McDaniels.

"Jim McDaniels has an extremely high degree of potentiality," said Laker General Manager Pete Newell. "He was one of the top players in the country in college and has all the natural skills to play NBA basketball.

"We plan to use him as a backup center and forward."

McDaniels played in Europe last season for Snidero, the Italian team, and averaged 30.5 points a game.

He played for Seattle in 1972 after starting his professional career with the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association.

Upset . . . somewhere

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — "We go to Ohio State this Saturday, and there'll be an upset," says Indiana Coach Lee Corso, whose Hoosiers are 2-5.

He added quickly, however, "I didn't say there'd be an upset at Columbus, I just said there'd de an upset someplace this Saturday."

Karate tourney

Five-hundred competitors are expected Saturday, Nov. 1 in the first annual Ontario Open Karate Tournament at the Chaffey High gymnasium.

The tourney begins at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 6 p.m. with Karate Practitioners five-years-old and up competing.

Ontario Karate instructor Lee Martinez is directing the event. Registration for the tourney may be made by telephoning Martinez prior to the tournament, 987-5867.

MRS ELLIOTT

The First Presbyterian Church in Pomona was the setting for the marriage of Susan Magri of Pomona and James Elliott of Monrovia.

The couple was married by the Rev. Jerry G. Elliott and the Rev. George Wilson in a double-ring evening ceremony followed by a reception held at the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Magri of Pomona. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry G. Elliott of Monrovia.

Ushers were Roger Gatz, Stan Shamoon and Scott Towns.

The newlyweds honeymooned in San Luis Obispo and will be at home in Long Beach.

Joyce Brothers

Big eater, spender

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I've always had a weight problem. When my husband had to be away on a month's business trip a while ago, I started to put on weight. Now, I seem to be stuck with it and both my husband and I are unhappy about it. He accuses me of having two bad habits, overeating and overspending. And, he's right. It seems I can't go to lunch with friends without overordering and then something in me insists on picking up the tab. The truth is that I sometimes can't afford to be overgenerous. — T.J.

Dear T.J.: These two problems may not be as unrelated as they might seem to be. The person who constantly picks up the check, even though he may be less able to afford the expense than others on the table, is usually insecure and unconsciously afraid he might lose some of his friends if he didn't pay for dinner. Actually, he is trying to pay for the affection and attention that he feels is not due him otherwise.

The person who overeats is also trying to satisfy a need for affection and love. This constant reaching out for food is a longing to be reassured of love.

Some people have suggested that women put on weight to make themselves unattractive to avoid their husband's sexual advances. It has also been suggested that some men encourage their wives to overeat to make them unattractive to other men and keep them safe from advances.

Researchers William Shipman and Ronald Schwartz worked with two sets of 15 couples each in Chicago and discovered that this theory did not seem to be accurate, at least in those couple they interviewed. In one set the wives were overweight, the other set had wives of normal weight, but of the same age, the same educational level and the same number of years of marriage.

Comparing sexual drive, the researchers found that 13 of the 15 overweight wives wanted sex more frequently than did the normal-weight wives. There was no difference in this regard between the husbands of the two types. The researchers concluded that for the women interviewed, food did not replace sex. Those overweight craved both food and sex in order to satisfy needs for affection that were not fulfilled when they were children.

You might begin to solve your problems of overspending and overeating if you could find some other way of gaining reassurance and of building your self-esteem.

Adults are beginning more and more to take advantage of the opportunities in educational courses that develop new interests and new areas in which to fulfill oneself. You might try a subject that is totally new to you. This may be where you would find a sense of discovery that would stimulate and fulfill you.

Do-it-yourself activities also have many values other than those of simply providing something to do. There is a great feeling of personal accomplishment in learning something new and in learning to do it well.

If you found that you could be rewarded in other areas than food you would probably find that you didn't want to eat so much. It's quite possible you might find these rewards from hobbies, such as painting, gardening, or participating in community theater or other projects that might interest you.

Rummage sale set this week

Pilgrim Congregational Church Women's Auxiliary will hold its annual fall rummage sale today and Thursday in the church gymnasium and Sunday School rooms at 600 N. Garey Ave. Sale hours continue to 5 p.m. today and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Thursday.

Top it

Sweaters are very much a part of the layered look this season. Wear them for sports and other casual activities and also for dressier evenings away from home.

Temple Sisterhood schedules meeting

Mrs. Mary B. Hecht, formerly of Ontario, will be the speaker at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Israel in Pomona.

Mrs. Hecht is a past president of the sisterhood and a former member of the board of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods. She is currently treasurer of the Los Angeles section of National Council of Jewish Women and chairman of the board of Child, Youth and Parent Counseling Agency and the El Nido Lodges.

She will speak about juvenile justice while reviewing the book, "Children Without Justice." The book is published by the National Council of Jewish Women.

Mrs. Hecht has just been appointed by Councilman Hayes of Los Angeles to serve on the Committee of Juvenile Delinquent Institutions.

TV trip set

Members of Young Ladies' Institute, their families and guests will meet at 4:30 p.m. Thursday from where they will go by chartered bus to the ABC Studios in Burbank for the taping of "You Don't Say."

For more information on the trip call Mrs. Robert Galligan, 622-9471.

Antal and Berthoin vows are exchanged

Newly wed Mr. and Mrs. David R. Antal have established a home in West Berlin, Germany, following their marriage at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Carmel Valley.

The former Miss Ariane Marguerite Germaine Berthoin is the daughter of Mrs. Ann Berthoin of Carmel Valley and Georges Berthoin of Paris, France. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Antal of La Verne.

Honor attendant was Diane Berthoin of Carmel Valley.

Ushers were Scott Whittle and William Boocock.

MRS. DAVID ANTAL

Miss Lucille Clement of Upland and John Salerno of Ontario were married recently in St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Upland.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Clement of Upland and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Salerno were married in a double-ring morning ceremony read by the Rev. Peter Brennan.

Honor attendant was Donna Parker of Arizona. Bridesmaids were Pam Merriam of Upland, Laurie Salerno of Vallejo, Irene Clement of Upland and the junior bridesmaid was Collette Clement of Upland.

Standing as best man was Michael Bouge of Modesto. Ushers were Joseph Langstaff of Fairfield, Phill Foster, Paul Clement of Upland, and Joseph Barnard of Altadena.

Following the rite, a reception was held at the Ice House Canyon Lodge at Mt. Baldy.

Hobo dance scheduled on Saturday

The Oxbow Squares will hold its annual Hobo Dance on Saturday from 8-11 p.m. at Ramona Junior High School, Cinoo. Dell Morgan will be the caller. Costumes are optional. Prizes are offered for the best costumes.

Altar Society meeting set in November

St. Joseph Altar Society will meet on Nov. 5 in the multipurpose auditorium.

After lunch, there will be a tour made of the Pomona Valley Mortuary, 575 N. Towne Ave., Pomona.

Reservations deadline set for luncheon

Reservations for the Cal Poly Woman's Club annual scholarship fashion show luncheon to be held Saturday at Diamond Bar Country Club may be made by calling Mrs. Alan Van Winkle, 593-1729, by Thursday.

Mrs. William Dale, ways and means chairman, is in charge of the event which will begin at noon. JoAnn Fitzgibbons will be coordinator of the show which will feature fashions from Buffums.

Take a look

As a woman grows older she needs to take an objective look at her make-up. For example, a mature woman should use bright and clear lipstick colors. Whitened pastels tend to crease and emphasize lip wrinkles.

Customs abound

Halloween is a festive occasion in England and Wales. Homes not only are decorated with the traditional pumpkin, but also with fruits, nuts, corn, leaves, grain, potatoes and cabbages. Sally Hopkins, Hallmark Cards researcher, says that the custom relates to ancient Druid harvest festivals and the Roman autumn feast of Pomona, goddess of the orchard.

Clyde Coles mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde R. Cole of Pomona recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house held at their home.

Hosting the event were the couple's sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. John Collins of Montclair and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Fountain Valley.

Kansas City, Mo. was the site of their wedding which took place on Sept. 13, 1925. They have resided in this area for 36 years.

Mr. Cole is retired from employment with Pacific State Hospital.

Following the open house, a champagne dinner was held in their honor by their sons-in-law, daughters, and their families.

Out of town guests included two of Mr. Cole's sisters; Mrs. Clara Lee Pate of Tyler, Tex. and Mrs. Gertrude Cole of Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hale of Bakersfield; Modena Davis of Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Montierth of Whittier; Mrs. Mildred Gruber of Baldwin Park; and Mrs. Midge Christian of Baldwin Park.

Chapter schedules meeting

"Woman Becoming" will be the theme of the program planned by Mrs. George Meffan for the Thursday meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, Epsilon Sigma Chapter, in the home of Celeste Walters, 427 E. 4th St., Ontario, at 7:30 p.m.

Each member will prepare a five-minute presentation on special interests, hobbies, avocations or philanthropies.

Chi State mini-convention is scheduled for Dec. 6 at Riverside City College. The event is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The next chapter meeting will be held Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Millage Ingram of Claremont.

Quick chutney

To make a quick chutney to serve with a curried meat, poultry or fish dish mix plum jam, raisins, cider vinegar and pumpkin-spice. Bring the mixture just to a boil, then chill before serving.

November wedding scheduled

Miss Gracie Lopez of La Verne and David Mendez of Pomona will be married in November at the Holy Name of Mary Church in San Dimas.

The future bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco M. Lopez of La Verne, graduated in 1974 from Bonita High School. Miss Lopez is attending Cal Poly Pomona and is employed by the Social Security Administration in Pomona.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Mendez, Sr. of San Dimas, the bridegroom-to-be is a 1974 graduate of San Dimas High School. Mr. Mendez is employed by Gainey Ceramics and is attending Cal Poly.

Lemon-aid

If your piano has plastic keys that are slightly yellowed, you may be able to whiten them by using a flannel cloth moistened with lemon juice, says Leslie Wood, consumer information specialist for Johnson Wax. Treat the wood cabinet like any fine piece of furniture. Occasionally use a fine paste wax.

A very special pudding for persimmon season

A report from USDA reminds us that from fall through the first of the new year persimmons are with us and that there are two main kinds from which to choose. The Oriental persimmon is grown commercially, mostly in California. The native wild persimmon flourishes from Connecticut southward to Florida and westward to Texas and Kansas.

From our own research we'd say that one of the oldest and most interesting American regional dishes made with the persimmon is a pudding, worthy of including in a roster of Bicentennial recipes. Cooks in various "pockets" of the United States have their favorite ways of preparing this dessert.

One especially delicious way seems to be indigenous to the middle region of North Carolina. Cooks there often add sweet potato to their persimmon puddings. In Clayton, N. C., a town a dozen miles or so from Raleigh, Mrs. Louie Allen — known locally for her fine cooking — has devised one of the best of these recipes. Mrs. Allen, an active septuagenarian, still climbs a neighbor's cultivated wild persimmon tree to capture the fruit not felled by frost!

MRS. LOUIE ALLEN'S PERSIMMON PUDDING

- 2 to 2½ cups flour (fork-stir to aerate before measuring), see below
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups pulp from commercially grown or wild persimmons, see below
- 3 eggs
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- ¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1½ cups milk
- 1½ cups loosely packed coarsely grated sweet potato
- 1 cup loosely packed fresh-grated or canned flaked coconut

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. In a large mixing bowl beat together until blended the persimmon pulp, eggs, sugars and butter. Add flour mixture and milk and beat until blended. Stir in sweet potato and coconut. Turn into a buttered oblong glass baking dish (about 13 by 9 by 2 inches) or similar utensil. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a knife inserted in center comes out clean — about 1 hour. Serve warm (or reheat) with or without whipped cream.

Flour: If using pulp from commercially grown persimmons, add the largest amount of flour given above; if using pulp from wild persimmons you may need to decrease the flour because they may be less juicy.

Persimmon Pulp: In preparing it, use soft persimmons, letting them stand at room temperature for several days if necessary to soften. Rinse; remove stems; cut in half and remove seeds. (The number of seeds seems to vary in commercially grown persimmons. Wild persimmons, we are told, have clusters of 5 or 6 seeds and these may be difficult but not impossible to remove.) Puree persimmons through a food mill, discarding the skins.

This casserole calls for constant replay

Television may have given us instant replay but avid football fans have always been familiar with and addicted to "constant replay." That's the time after the game spent discussing the big plays and agonizing over the "ifs." Such big thinking works up big appetites and a do-ahead meal to be served after the game is a good idea.

Two new recipes from the R. T. French Company in Rochester, New York create a championship after the game meal.

Touchdown Casserole is a sure winner that teams up game-time favorites in one hearty dish. Ground beef, frankfurters and pork and beans oven bake to bubbly goodness. A crispy golden topping that adds extra looks and flavor is easily created with country style mashed potato flakes and cheese. You can put it all together before the game and slip it into a hot oven when all the cheering has died down.

Make the special dressing for Apricot Coleslaw ahead of time also, then toss it together with shredded cabbage at serving time. Apricot preserves and zippy prepared yellow mustard give a special touch to the usual coleslaw dressing.

Rolls and butter, coffee and a make-ahead dessert, such as gingerbread, round out the menu for your after-the-game party.

TOUCHDOWN CASSEROLE

- ½ pound ground beef
- 1 pound frankfurters, sliced
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 can (1-pound) pork and beans
- 1 can (8-ounces) tomato sauce
- 3 cups country style mashed potato flakes
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ cup shredded Cheddar or American cheese

Brown ground beef in large skillet, stirring to crumble; pour off excess fat. Stir in frankfurters, celery, beans, and tomato sauce; bring to a boil. Spoon into 12 x 8-inch baking dish. Using 2 2/3 cups of the potato flakes, prepare 8-serving recipe for mashed potatoes following directions on package. Spread over meat mixture. Melt butter; stir in remaining 1-3rd cup potato flakes. Sprinkle over potatoes; top with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, until golden brown. Makes 8 servings.

APRICOT COLESLAW

- ¼ cup oil
- ¼ cup apricot preserves
- 2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 4 cups shredded cabbage

Combine oil, preserves, mustard, and vinegar in salad bowl. Add cabbage; toss in lightly. Makes 6 servings.

Lettuce is a true friend in fat war

In the never-ending war so many of us wage against obesity, lettuce is a tried and true ally.

Long a lettuce buff myself, I was pleased to learn that a 1½-pound head of crisp iceberg runs only 65 to 70 calories and contains vitamins A, C and E to boot.

Lettuce, in case you didn't know, is good in soups and can be served braised or as the casing of a roll stuffed with chopped chicken, veal or lamb.

But the best way to eat lettuce is raw because of its delicate texture. Hence to most people lettuce means salad. To make good salads, it is as well to know the different kinds of lettuce and how they may be combined with other greens, herbs and foods.

There are five kinds of lettuce and each contains more than one variety. The Butterhead class, for instance, includes Boston and Bibb. Boston is good in tossed green salads and for garnishing. Bibb is a favorite served with French dressing and Roquefort cheese.

In the Cos class is Romaine, much used for garnishing salad plates of seafood or fruit. The Leaf class includes Simpson, which is suitable for nearly all salads.

Stem lettuce has no head but the stem grows long and may be eaten raw or cooked.

Finally there is the Crisphead class whose best known member is iceberg. It comes in very firm, closely packed heads which make good cups for seafood and other moist fillings. For chunky salads in which slices, quarters or cubes of lettuce are used, iceberg is preferable because of its firm structure. Its characteristic crispness allows it to be the foundation for combinations of many ingredients, like crab or chicken.

Here is a recipe for iceberg chunks and artichoke hearts we found particularly tasty.

- 1 medium head iceberg lettuc
- 1 can 15 ounces artichoke hearts
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry wine
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon onion powder
- ½ teaspoon crumbled rosemary
- 4 cherry tomatoes
- Blue cheese

Core, rinse and drain lettuce, chill in plastic bag. Rinse and drain artichokes, cut into halves and chill. Blend mayonnaise, sherry, lemon juice and seasonings and chill. When ready to serve, toss lettuce cut into chunks and artichokes with dressing in salad bowl. Halve tomatoes and top cut sides with bits of cheese, then run quickly under broiler to melt cheese slightly. Place on salad. Serve with chilled dry white wine. Serves 4.

Mexican held in fatal crash

BALDWIN PARK (AP) — A Mexican national has been arrested in connection with a fiery auto accident on the Santa Ana Freeway which claimed the lives of three persons.

California Highway Patrol officers on Sunday arrested Socorro Ibarra, 23, at the home of a friend here. He was booked for investigation of manslaughter and felony hit-run driving.

He allegedly was driving a car Saturday that drifted across the freeway in Anaheim and collided with a truck driven by Scott Lucas, 28, of Mission Viejo. Lucas; his son, Mike, 5, and his brother, Terry Lucas, 32, of Laguna Beach, were killed in the crash.

Ibarra allegedly fled after the accident. His hometown was not immediately available.

Chilies Rellenos Casserole.

1 c. half and half
2 eggs
⅓ c. flour
3 4-oz. cans whole green chilies
½ lb. each monterey jack cheese and sharp cheddar cheese, grated
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce

Beat half and half with eggs and flour 'til smooth. Split chilies, rinse out seeds and drain. Mix cheeses. Reserve ½ c. for topping. Alternate layers of remaining cheese, chilies and egg mixture in deep 1½—quart casserole dish. Pour tomato sauce over top and sprinkle with reserved cheese. Bake in 375° oven 1 hour or 'til cooked through. Makes 4 servings.

And serve a cup of coffee along with the casserole. Don't forget the half and half. Your coffee will be the richer for it.

"Country Cooking With Flair."
Our new 208-page hardcover cookbook contains 250 kitchen-tested recipes.

It starts off with Western appetizers and goes on to farm-style soups, hearty entrées, country ways with vegetables, home-baked breads, dairy desserts and beverages for all seasons.

To go along with the country-good recipes, over 40 mouth-watering color and black and white photographs illustrate a wealth of serving suggestions.

Best of all, this easy-to-use cookbook comes with an easy-on-the-budget price: just $2.50.

Combine 1½ cups flour, ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ½ teaspoon baking soda and ¼ teaspoon salt. Mix in ½ cup softened butter and ½ cup creamy peanut butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Blend in ¼ cup corn syrup and 1 tablespoon milk. Chill until firm, then shape into a 12-inch roll. Wrap in wax paper and chill 1½ hours. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cut 5 dozen slices. Place half of the slices on ungreased cookie sheets. Drop 1 heaping teaspoonful of chocolate filling in the center of each slice. Top with remaining slices and crimp edges together with a fork. With a sharp knife, cut faces in tops of cookies. Bake 18 minutes. To make the chocolate filling, melt a six-ounce package of chocolate morsels over hot water. Transfer to a small bowl and cool 10 minutes. Add a three-ounce package of softened cream cheese and 2 tablespoons of confectioners sugar. Add ½ cup nuts.

EGGPLANT SALAD
It's a version of the Italian Caponata.

½ cup olive oil
6 cups diced (½-inch) unpared eggplant (generous 1½ pounds)
3 small onions or 1 large, chopped (1 cup)
1 large outer rib celery, thinly sliced (⅔ cup)
1 large green pepper, seeded and chopped (1 cup)
17-ounce can Italian style peeled tomatoes (with basil), undrained
¼ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
¼ teaspoon coarsely cracked pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
2 or 3 teaspoons red wine vinegar

In a large saucepot in the hot oil, lightly brown eggplant. Add onion, celery and green pepper; simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer, covered, until eggplant is tender and sauce is thick — about 30 minutes. Chill. Serve in a bowl lined with salad greens. Makes about 5½ cups.

Feed the gang after school

It is more fun for your children to invite the gang over after school for quick-energy snacks than to stop at the corner candy store. Just be sure there's plenty of milk and cookies around and lots of peanut butter and grape jelly.

While discussing the Battle of Bunker Hill or solving an arithmetic problem, kids will enjoy sipping Grape Shakes. They furnish "Brain food" energy used up during school hours. These nutritious milk shakes can be whipped up in a matter of seconds with the help of an electric blender. This combination of concordgrape juice, milk, peanut butter and ice cream furnishes calcium, protein and food energy. Just keep the ingredients on hand and the children can make Grape Shakes themselves.

Concord Oatmeal Cookies are delicious with Grape Shakes. These wholesome cookies are made with oatmeal and wheat germ, studded with chopped walnuts and baked with a pocket of Concord grape jam in the center.

GRAPE SHAKE

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated concord grape juice, undiluted
3 cups milk
1½ cups creamy peanut butter
1½ cups vanilla ice cream

Combine all ingredients in blender container. Blend several seconds, until smooth and frothy. Makes about 6 cups.

CONCORD OATMEAL COOKIES

½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
½ cup wheat germ
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup oatmeal
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup unsifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Concord grape jam

In mixer bowl, cream butter at high speed. Beat in sugar gradually until light and fluffy. Stir in egg, vanilla, oatmeal, walnuts and wheat germ. Sift flour with baking soda, baking powder and salt. Stir into batter until well blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Make hole in center of each cookie using back of small spoon. Drop about ½ teaspoon Concord grape jam into center of each cookie. Bake at 350 degrees until delicately browned, about 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet while still warm and cool on racks. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

No appetite after crash

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Adelaya Aspeytia and her son Martin, 9, were at the dinner table when a car backed over a fire plug and through the wall, knocking their table across the room.

A 40-foot geyser filled the room with water.

After being treated at a local hospital for minor injuries Thursday night, the Aspeytias were released.

They never finished dinner or even saw the motorist, who kept on going.

Biorhythms blamed for ups and downs of life

NEW YORK (AP) — Biorhythms, theoretical human cycles used to explain those familiar ups and downs of life, are being touted as the latest way to chart your way around physical, emotional and intellectual troubles.

Many scientists and psychologists say biorhythm theories are pure pseudo-scientific bunk akin to astrology, but some industries and thousands of individuals are nevertheless preparing monthly biorhythm charts or having computers do it for them.

Proponents, many of them engaged in the business of selling biorhythm charts, claim biorhythm cycles begin at birth and can be plotted throughout life.

They say three rhythms — physical, emotional and intellectual — are fixed into cycles of 23, 28 and 33 days respectively. When drawn on a chart with the days of the month, the cycles appear as curves.

Compared with astrology

Like astrology, the individual's birthdate is needed to begin the chart, in addition to the month and year for which the information is sought. As the theory goes, there are six "critical" days each month when extra care should be used in one's action and thoughts. On the chart, these days appear where the curve crosses the middle of the chart.

Although first charted in the latter part of the 19th Century by Herman Swoboda, a Viennese psychologist, and later by Wilhelm Fleiss, a Berlin physician, no one really knows how biorhythm originated or who came up with the fixed periods of 23, 28 and 33 days.

"I'm convinced these cycles exist," said George W. Houk, vice president of Psi Rhythms, Inc. "Everyone seems to know they're there, but no one knows why they're there."

Houk has sold over 2,000 kits at $3.95 each for plotting biorhythm curves. He said he started his firm after learning of Japan's interest in the subject and seeing a potential for profit.

The Ohmi Railway Co. and other Japanese firms prepare biorhythm charts of their employes for use in accident prevention. One Japanese bus company posts the biorhythm charts of its drivers daily so they can use extra care or not drive at all when the curves are low or critical.

Bernard Gittelson, president of Biorhythm Computers, Inc., has devised a method for preparing biorhythm charts by computer. He has sold more than 50,000 charts at $9.95 for a 12-month chart and says he has been a consultant to corporations and airlines concerning the use of biorhythms for accident prevention.

"I find it valuable because we have been able to reduce accidents in factories by warning people not to work on critical days," he said. "We find doctors are able to almost predict when a schizophrenic will have a tantrum. I have teachers tell me they have given intelligence tests to students and tell me when they are intellectually high or intellectually low."

Book on subject

According to Gittelson, who recently published a book on the subject containing charts and instructions for plotting biorhythms, there are more than 5,000 firms here and abroad engaged in the practice. But American firms which have tried it are hard to find.

United Airlines used biorhythm for the past two years as a gimmick "to promote a greater awareness of safety," a company spokesman said. "But it is not, and never has been, used to schedule work assignments for employes, and it has never been used to determine if pilots should fly."

Jacob M. Sanhein, a civilian in the quality assurance section of the Naval Weapons Support Center in Crane, Ind., said biorhythm charts can reduce industrial costs when used to avert accidents. In a study he prepared for the center, he said 41.45 per cent of 1,308 accidents at the Crane center occurred during "critical" biorhythm days.

Enthusiasts are quick to point to the deaths of Judy Garland, John Kennedy, Marilyn Monroe and Clark Gable, who they say all died on "critical" days. They also say Mark Spitz won his seven Olympic Gold Medals on days when his physical and emotional rhythms were extremely high.

Critics note these charts were made after the fact and charge there is no experimental evidence to support the existence of biorhythms.

Scientists say biorhythms should not be confused with biological rhythms, which do exist. Biological rhythms are internal "clocks" accounting for such human cycles as waking, sleeping, dreaming and menstruation. These biological cycles also are related to rhythms in nature such as tides and the earth's revolution around the sun.

"Biological rhythm is one in which periods coincide with natural geophysical periods," said Dr. Frank A. Brown, Jr., professor of biology, Northwestern University. "To have these odd periods (as biorhythm charts do) that start at birth and are not inexorable is hard to believe as a fact. And when you look for experimental evidence, there is none."

Dr. Bertram Brown, director, National Institute of Mental Health, also criticized the biorhythm theory — "The relationship of biological rhythms to biorhythm is like astronomy to astrology."

Last month, 186 scientists — 18 of them Nobel prize winners — issued a statement dismissing astrology as not having any scientific basis. Despite overwelming agreement among scientists that astrology is not valid, a recent Gallup poll showed that 32 million Americans believe the stars influence peoples's lives.

Brown said of biorhythms, "The only practical application I can see is people's need for mastery and self-control over their actions. People have a need for high entertainment and fads."

The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C. houses three magnificent theaters: the Opera House, the Eisenhower Theater and the Concert Hall, with a total seating capacity of 11,050.

DEVILED FISH

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
½ cup finely diced celery
2 canned pimientos, diced
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 pound fish fillets, poached and flaked
1 cup soft breadcrumbs, buttered

In a medium saucepan gently cook the onion in the butter until yellowed; stir in flour, then milk; cook gently, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Stir in the remaining ingredients except bread crumbs. Spoon into baking shells or individual shallow baking dishes; sprinkle with crumbs. Brown in the broiler. Makes 6 servings.

Shaped desserts simple with aluminum foil

Desserts with a base — cake or pastry — have been around a long time. Variety and versatility are noted attractions for these.

Now shaped desserts, with or without a base, are the heritage of aluminum foil and its flexibility. Foil's ability to be folded, pinched, rolled and squared off, plus being strong enough to stand up for an edging, give the creative hostess-cook a new design field to explore.

Instructions for preparing both aluminum foil pans and the recipes themselves come from a new cookbook prepared by the makers of Reynolds Wrap. "Carefree Cooking With Aluminum Foil" is now being sold in supermarkets in this area. The book contains many main dish, outdoor and freezing ideas as well.

Pastry and foil, cut the same size and pinched together, make tart shells round or square, small or large. Oblongs can make a sponge cake sheet for jelly or cream rolls, or flats for marking sizes of delicate meringues. Pleat a length of foil, pour cookie batter into hollows, bake and end up with accordion cookies.

STRAWBERRY PARTY TARTS

- 18 baked tart shells
- 2 packages (3¾ ounces each) vanilla pudding mix
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 3 pints fresh strawberries
- 1 cup red currant jelly

Cool the tart shells thoroughly. Prepare the pudding according to package direction; chill. Fold in the whipped cream. Place a spoonful of mixture in each tart shell. Top with strawberries, piling them up as high as possible.

Melt currant jelly with ¼ cup water. When completely melted and smooth, spoon over the berries, coating them to give them a lovely shiny look. Chill for at least 1 hour before serving.

Makes 18 servings.

MULTI-POINTED TART SHELLS: Cut 4½-inch circles of heavy duty foil and matching circles of pastry rolled ⅛-inch thick; place pastry circles on top of oil circles. Prick all over. With thumb and forefinger, turn up edges of both foil and pastry 1 inch all around; pinch together at intervals, to hold edge up, for as many points ad essired (five make a star shape). Bake on shallow pan unfilled at 450 degrees 15 minutes.

SQUARE TARTS: Using a ruler, cut foil into 5-inch squares. Roll pastry; using ruler, cut it into matching squares. Place pastry squares on aluminum foil squares; turn up both edges 1 inch all around and pinch corners or miter together to hold firm.

BASKETS: Using pastry scraps, braid 3 narrow strips, cut to desired length and bake over a ball of foil into handle shape. Use over square or other tart shells.

MERINGUES

- 3 egg whites
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Have egg whites at room temperature. Add salt to them and beat until soft peaks form. Start adding sugar by tablespoons and beat continuously until all the sugar has been added and the meringue is very stiff. Add lemon juice or vinegar and vanilla, beating in at the last.

Drop high, rounded, large spoonfuls on a cookie sheet lined with foil. Bake at 250 degrees for 1 hour. Remove to a cake rack and cool. Makes 6 or 8 servings.

LEMON FILLED: Make a hollow, 2 inches or more wide, in center of each mound, shaping the sides up high with back of damp teaspoon. When baked and cold, fill with prepared Lemon Pudding and Pie Mix or a favorite lemon filling. Chill 30 minutes.

FOR A BRIDAL SHOWER: To make "silver" scalloped holders and umbrellas for meringues: Cut 6-inch squares of foil. Fold in half; then in quarters. Then fold from the closed corner diagonally 3 times, somewhat like a folding fan closing. With scissors, round off the end opposite closed end into a scallop. Open out to a scalloped circle. Place circles on dessert plate under meringues. Turn up scalloped edges all around.

UMBRELLAS: Make tiny scalloped circles the same way; hold them up over dessert with toothpick, one end in dessert, other inside center of "umbrella."

BASIC SPONGE ROLL

- 4 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- ¾ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Beat eggs and vanilla at high speed until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in sugar until mixture is fluffy and thick. Sift together the dry ingredients and add all at once, folding them in by hand. Pour into a 15 x 10 x 1-inch jelly roll pan that has been lined with foil, lightly greased, or into a lightly greased foil pan.

Bake the cake in a 375-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until a very light brown. Do not overbake. Turn out on a large sheet of Reynolds Wrap that has been generously sprinkled with granulated sugar. Peel off foil lining.

Trim off crisp edges. Roll up and cover loosely with Reynolds Wrap, leaving ends open. Let stand no more than 15 to 20 minutes. Unroll and spread with filling. Reroll, cover with Reynolds Wrap and chill about 1 hour in refrigerator before serving. Makes 10 servings.

FILLINGS: Whip any flavorful jelly; spread on cake. Or fold apricot jam into whipped cream. Or mix ½ cup sugar and 1 pint sliced strawberries; fold into 1 cup cream whipped.

JELLY-ROLL PAN: Tear off a 24-inch piece of 18-inch-wide heavy duty foil. Fold it in half to make a double-thick sheet 12 x 18 inches. Turn up the edges 1 inch on all sides and miter the corners for firmness. Grease lightly. Set on a cookie sheet for support.

ROSY PEAR FLAN

- 1 11-inch pastry circle
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped almonds
- 3 tablespoons soft bread crumbs
- 4 fresh Bartlett pears
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/3 cup tart red jelly
- Whipped cream

Line a 9-inch regular or foil flan ring with pastry. Sprinkle the almonds and crumbs in the bottom. Peel, halve and core pears. Cut each half lengthwise into 4 slices. Combine sugars, salt, butter and spices with ½ cup water in a large skillet and bring to boil. Add pear slices and simmer, covered, 7 to 10 minutes, or until pears are slightly glazed.

Remove slices from syrup and let cool. Boil syrup 3 to 5 minutes to thicken slightly. Cool. Arrange pear slices symmetrically in pastry, pour syrup over. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Melt the jelly and drizzle over the pears. Cool; remove Reynolds Wrap flan ring. Slide pastry onto serving plate. Serve with whipped cream. Makes 8 or 10 servings.

Did goats really discover coffee?

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

According to legend, man discovered coffee many centuries ago in Ethiopia when goatherds tending their flocks noticed that the animals acted frisky and stayed awake all night after munching leaves and berries from the coffee trees.

Historians tell us that before coffee became popular as a beverage in Arabia in the 1200s, it was used first as a food and then as a wine.

Today Americans drink more than 380 million cups of coffee each day, and the "coffee break" has become a tradition in most every office and factory throughout the land. This prodigious intake is all the more remarkable when you consider that it takes five years for a coffee tree to bear a full crop, and even then the average tree produces only 1½ pounds of berries a year, or enough for one pound of roasted coffee. Each berry contains two seeds which we identify as the coffee bean. All berries must be picked by hand since no one has yet discovered a satisfactory machine harvester.

The Italians have long been enthusiastic coffee drinkers and at the turn of the century they made a notable contribution to the field. Around 1900, the espresso machine was invented in Turin.

With this method, coffee made from darkly roasted, finely pulverized beans is brewed in a special urn or espresso machine in which steam or hot water is forced through the ground coffee to make a distinctive dark brew.

For those who like their coffee with a kick, there is the cafe brulot which has become famous in New Orleans, home of creole cookery. It consists of extra strong, black coffee flavored with cloves, cinnamon and lemon peel and set aflame with curacao and cognac.

If coffee started out as a food, history has come full turn because today there are dozens of recipes for pies, puddings, cakes, ice creams and sauces that feature the bean. Here is one for pie made with espresso.

6 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
1 cup extra strength espresso (1 cup ground coffee to 1½ cups water)
4 well-beaten egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons cognac
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon confectioner's sugar

Cool pie shell. In heavy saucepan combine granulated sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk and espressso. Over moderate heat stir till thick and boiling. Reduce heat, boil 1 minute. Stir half hot mixture into beaten egg yolks. Return to remaining mixture in saucepan and stir over low heat 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and 2 tablespoons cognac. Pour into pie shell. Cover with plastic film and chill 3 hours. Beat cream till soft mounds form. Beat in confectioner's sugar and remaining cognac till stiff peaks form. Top pie and chill till serving time. Serves 6-8.

with beautifully arranged fruit and other ingredients. They do not have top crusts. Both call for the use of a flan ring. They can be found in specialty shops, but it is easier to make one on the spot from heavy duty aluminum foil.

For a 10-inch flan ring, tear off 3 and 1/3 feet of heavy duty foil. Spread it out on a long table and fold it double lengthwise, then over and over until you have a band about 1¼ inches wide. Form this into a circle with a 10-inch diameter, joining the band with a paper clip or straight pin, or into a rectangle of the desired size.

To use, place ring on a cookie sheet. Fit the pastry into ring, trimming it at the top or making a decorative edge. It may be baked with or without filling. When pastry has been baked, unfasten foil band and remove. Slide the flan or tart onto a serving plate.

ACCORDION TREATS

2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups sifted flour

Cream butter; gradually add sugar, continuing to beat. Add eggs, vanilla, and salt; beat until light and fluffy. Gradually add flour, mixing well. Fold 1 yard of foil lengthwise to double thickness, then fold into 1-inch accordion pleats. Place on cookie sheet or back of roasting pan. Drop dough by teaspoonfuls into folds. (Dough spreads in baking.) Bake at 325 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, or until a light golden brown. Cool 10 minutes. Remove cookies; reuse foil to bake more cookies.

TEEN PARTY
Chili Tostadas
Fruit Cup Cookies

CHILI TOSTADAS

1 tablespoon oil
2 large onions, chopped fine
2 pounds ground chuck beef
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 green pepper, chopped fine
Two 1-pound cans red kidney beans, undrained
1½ cups canned tomato puree
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons or more chili powder
Two 5-ounce packages (12 in each) tostadas
Grated cheddar cheese
Shredded iceberg lettuce

In a large saucepot in the hot oil over moderate heat cook the onion, beef and garlic, mashing with a fork, until meat loses its red color. Add remaining ingredients. Mix well and simmer 30 minutes. (Makes about 11 cups.) Heat the tostadas according to package directions. Ladle a scant ½ cup of the chili over each tostada, sprinkle with cheese and top with lettuce. Makes 24. (This chili is thick enough to serve well as a topping for the crisp tostadas.

Nice with pineapple

Urban affairs experts say

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A typical welfare recipient in financially troubled New York City is paid more than twice as much in benefits as the same person would get in Cleveland and almost three times as much as in Houston, an Associated Press survey shows.

The AP surveyed 15 major cities and found benefits were highest in the older areas of the North and East and were lower in the relatively young cities of the South and West.

The wide range holds up even when differences in the cost of living are taken into account.

Urban affairs experts, arguing for a federal system of welfare, say the disparity in payments encourages the poor to migrate to the very cities that are least able to afford to pay.

These areas, with deteriorating inner city neighborhoods, already are suffering severe financial problems, due partly to the flight of middle-class tax dollars to the suburbs.

Big city mayors and urban analysts argue that a national benefit program would spread out the concentration of the unskilled and the unemployable and force wealthier suburban areas to foot more of the welfare bill.

In its survey, the AP determined the maximum monthly welfare benefit for a woman with two children and no means of support. The AP also checked the cost of living in each city, using the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics urban family index at the lower income level.

(The bureau's figures are based on an index of 100 for the entire urban United States. Individual city indexes are calculated to reflect what the same items would cost in different locations. An index of 108, for example, means it costs 8 per cent more than the national average; an index of 94, means it costs 6 per cent less than the national average.)

The AP survey showed that New York City pays a bigger share of the welfare burden than any other major metropolitan area except Washington, D.C., which is a special case because it is not part of a state. Eleven other cities had no welfare bill at all — the money was provided by the federal, state and county governments.

In New York City, a woman with two children and no means of support receives $200 a month plus a rent allowance of up to $194 for a maximum benefit of $394. As in other cities, she also is eligible for publicly paid health care and the federal food stamp program.

The same woman in Cleveland would receive $168 a month and in Houston she would get $116 a month. Because of differences in the cost of living — New York is 7 per cent above the average, while Cleveland is 1 per cent below and Houston is 8 per cent below — the $168 in Cleveland would buy what $182 buys in New York and the $116 in Houston would buy what $135 buys in New York.

It is difficult to determine what sort of living standard the welfare benefit provides. The federal government's poverty level is $5,050 a year or $421 a month for a family of four.

The federal government contributes about half the money for New York's welfare program, according to city officials. The state and the city split the other half.

U.S. pays half

The federal government also pays half of Cleveland's welfare bill, but the state pays 45 per cent and the county pays 5 per cent. The federal government puts up two-thirds of Houston's welfare bill and the state government puts up one-third.

(Federal contributions to welfare depend on a complex formula based on per capita income in the state involved; contributions range from a minimum of about 50 per cent to a maximum of almost 85 per cent.)

About 13 per cent of New York's 7.8 million residents were on welfare as of July. It is difficult to compare welfare percentages from city to city, however, because some areas count elderly people getting medical aid as welfare recipients, while other areas do not.

Scan of benefits

DETROIT: The benefit is $342 which would buy what $345 buys in New York. Costs for the program are split equally between federal and state governments. About 17 per cent of Detroit's 1.4 million residents received benefits under the aid to dependent children program in August.

SEATTLE: The benefit is $312 which would buy what $318 buys in New York. Costs are split evenly between the state and federal governments. About 3 per cent of the 1.5 million residents in King County, which includes Seattle, currently receive benefits under the aid to dependent children program.

PHILADELPHIA: The benefit is $302 which would buy what $314 buys in New York. The burden is split between the federal and state governments on a 55-45 basis. About 16 per cent of the city's 1.9 million residents receive some type of benefits.

LOS ANGELES: The benefit is $293 which would buy what $301 buys in New York. The federal government pays 49 per cent of the welfare costs, the state pays 29 per cent and the county 22 per cent. About 10 per cent of the county population receives some type of benefit.

SAN FRANCISCO: The benefit is $293 which would buy what $290 buys in New York. The federal government provides 49 per cent of welfare funds; the state provides 23 per cent; and the city and county jointly provide 28 per cent, making San Francisco one of the few areas where some welfare funds come out of the city budget. About 18 per cent of the city's 681,000 residents receive some benefit.

BOSTON: The benefit is $283 which would buy what $280 buys in New York. The costs are split 50-50 by the state and federal governments. About 16 per cent of Boston's 628,000 residents get some assistance.

CHICAGO: The benefit is $261 which would buy what $269 buys in New York. The burden is split evenly between the state and federal governments. About 10 per cent of the 5.5 million persons in Cook County, which includes Chicago, were on welfare in the first six months of this year.

DENVER: The benefit is $217 which would buy what $239 buys in New York. Fifty-two per cent of the bill is paid by the federal government, 28 by the state and 20 per cent by the county which is the same thing as the city. A little less than 10 per cent of the city's 525,000 residents received benefits in September.

Less tender bargains

Less tender beef cuts can be a bargain both budgetwise and flavorwise. Beef stew, chuck, bottom round and shank make wonderful braises and stews. Or treat the less tender steaks to meat tenderizers and marinade for successful broiling or grilling. These are best cooked on the rare side and sliced diagonally across the grain.

CALIFORNIA MARINATED ARTICHOKE HEARTS

Mix strips of pimiento and small pitted ripe olives with marinated artichoke hearts. Spoon into small avocado half shells. Serve with lemon wedge and coarse black pepper.

POTATO BASQUE SOUP

In a large kettle, brown 1 pound sliced Italian sausage over medium heat. Add ½ cup chopped onion and cook 5 minutes. Add 2 pounds canned tomatoes, 6 cups pared and diced potatoes, ¼ cup chopped parsley, 1 cup sliced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves, 1½ cups water, 2 beef bouillon cubes, 1 bay leaf, 1 tablespoon salt, ½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer uncovered for 40 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Serves 6.

Rotary engine firm reports mileage gains

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Mazda latest rotary engine models have registered a 50 per cent gain in mileage over their performance in 1975 Environmental Protection Agency tests, a company official says.

A spokesman for Mazda Motors of America, Inc., said that the firm's 1976 RX3 rotary model got 30 miles to the gallon in simulated highway driving under EPA tests and 19 mpg in simulated city driving. Comparative figures for California were 29 and 18, respectively, he added.

The spokesman said this compared with 20 and 14, repectively for the RX-3 in 1975 EPA testing.

Sid Fogel, senior vice president, said Mazda will introduce Cosmo, a rotary engine sport coupe in 1976, at a price tag of $5,900, along with a new, piston-driven model, the RX-4, that will cost under $3,000.

Fogel said a number of technical improvements in the rotary engine have been made in the new models for better mileage.

He said the Cosmo got 29 mpg in simulated highway driving (28 in California) and 18 mpg in simulated city driving (17 in California) while the figures for the RX-4 were 20 and 14, respectivelv.

TOO BOXY? — This is the corner of Anza and Arguello in San Francisco. This kind of design for buildings in middle-class areas is under fire from various neighborhood associations.

Building designer taking lumps for that boxy look

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The heat is on these days for a building designer who has been changing the middle-class residential face of San Francisco for 30 years.

"This is a problem all over the country," says John E. Baumann, a top operator whose speciality

Baumann's buildings march in regular ranks across much of western San Francisco, in the Sunset, Richmond and Parkside districts. One block is called, unofficially, "Baumann Boulevard." The heat against him is coming from neighborhood people.

"He makes instant slums, plastic bombs," said Arden Danekas, president of the Planning Association of the Richmond. "They break up neighborhoods and bring in people who have no concern for where they're living." living."

Not so, said Joe Fitspatrick, a realtor and contractor who has put up many Baumann buildings near Golden Gate Park.

"He's a genius at what he does. He knows the zoning regulations, he knows City Hall and the permit people, and he works his butt off."

Baumann, a short, folksy fellow of 55 who likes shooting pool, vodka and the bank music of 25 years ago, said in an interview Monday that he can have 40 jobs working at one time. He's definitely on the defensive.

"Sure I'm on the defensive," he said. "The neighborhood groups are always down at City Hall. They copy down all the information about permits. All the information is there."

One day, he said, he found a man laboriously tracing a Baumann interior layout for an apartment building. Baumann said no one would tell him what the man was up to, but he had no doubt it was connected to a neighborhood protest.

Baumann, a licensed building designer who is not an architect, says he isn't responsible for the appearance of one of his creations because that isn't his function. He blamed the builders for making the frontal changes that cause him trouble.

Baumann said he could understand some of the criticism.

"I guess I see what they mean when they knock my stuff. But I use quality materials and nobody's getting rich quick in this business," he said.

He said his buildings are worth from $150,000 to perhaps $500,000, depending on the neighborhood. His fees, which do not include anything beyond the design, run around $1,000 a copy, he said.

"I just plug away, work and keep my eye on the ball, you know," he said. "I'm just trying to make a living at something I know a bit about."

Year-round school briefing in Walnut

Information, not action, on feasibility of year-round school is the major agenda item for a special meeting of the Walnut school board Thursday at 4 p.m. at the Walnut High School choral music room.

The board plans to examine year-round school possibilities carefully between now and April 1976. At that time the board will decide whether to authorize a feasibility study.

If the answer is yes, the target date for implementation could be July 1977.

Board members also will ask for a series of reports by superintendents or other key personnel from districts already trying out year-round school.

They included Mayor Mike Morales, Lori Drury, Miss La Verne, and Barrett Anderson, president of the La Verne Chamber of Commerce.

Rick Vanderbeck, owner and operator of the new shop, is a La Verne community leader, who currently is serving as vice chairman of the La Verne Bicentennial Commission and chairman of the Bicentennial patch committee. He has served as president of the La Verne Kiwanis Club and the La Verne Junior Chamber, and past commander of American Legion Post 330.

He has been in the printing business for the past 31 years.

HOCKEY TALK FOR ROTARY — Dan Avey, radio and television announcer for the Los Angeles Kings, will discuss hockey when he talks to the La Verne Rotary Club Thursday noon.

The luncheon will be at Castaway Restaurant, Pomona. Avey has begun his seventh year as a sportscaster for the Kings.

MONTCLAIR GOLF TOURNEY — The Montclair Chamber of Commerce will host its annual golf tournament Friday at the Western Hills Golf Country Club in the Chino Hills.

Shotgun will be at 9 a.m. For those taking part in the tournament there is a charge of $15 for golf, cart and lunch.

BAGEL SALE — The Pomona Valley AZA Boys are holding a bagel drive to raise money for their community service activities.

The boys will take orders for bagels through Nov. 4, and will home deliver them on the morning of Nov. 9, according to John Elhai, chairman of the committee in charge.

Those who want bagels may leave their orders by calling 624-8495 or 625-8293.

Ontario-Upland Toastmasters Club 1506 will present a seven-week Speechcraft Program beginning today at 7:30 p.m. at Squires Restaurant in Ontario.

Any person 18 or older who has a desire to improve his speaking skills may participate by calling educational vice president Stephan Douglas at 984-0052 or attending a club meeting any Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Squires.

SOS is the call for help from a ship at sea. SOS is a code signal made of three dots, three dashes, and three dots. Many people think that SOS means "Save Our Ship!"

Actually, SOS is not an abbreviation — it does not stand for anything.

If they hear an SOS they know someone is in serious trouble and needs help at once. Then other ships speed to the rescue.

Airplane pilots in distress use the call "Mayday" when they need help. Mayday comes from the French word "m'aider," which means "help me."

Distress signals have, over the years, saved the lives of countless sailors and airmen who were in danger, and called for help.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Smile and take a tour without leaving home

Longing to take a trip? Any time you get the urge to wander, take a trip to your favorite food store. There, you can put on your traveling shoes and visit all of Europe without leaving the dairy case. How? Simply by standing in front of the varieties of cheese made in America that emigrated from a foreign land. Did you know that your favorite foreign cheese was probably made in Joliet, Illinois, or Wausau Wisconsin?

Let the mind wander to Italy, Switzerland, France, Belgium or Germany. Savor the taste moment in your own home when you enjoy Gorgonzola, named for a small village in Italian Alps which no longer manufactures it as the Italian cheese makers moved to Lombardy or Piedmont or the United States. It's a cousin to the French Roquefort or French Bleu or American Blue. Roquefort cheese, to be so designated, has to be made from ewe's milk and in the Roquefort area, according to a French regulation. French Bleu and American Blue are both made from cow's milk. All are white cheese, characterized with blue-green marbling, piquant and spicy to the taste. Stilton cheese made in England is a similar variety.

An Italian cheese which has really caught on is, you've guessed it, Mozzarella, because of the popularity of pizza, naturally. Its per person use has risen phenomenally from 0.2 in 1957 to almost two pounds per capita in 1973.

Italians call Mozzarella "Pasta Filata," meaning spun or stretchy curd because of the elastic texture of this cheese. Pizza needs cheese that stretches easily and smoothly to cover a large surface. It is the butterfact and the high temperature of the water up to (140 F.) at which cheese is kneaded which provides the stretchability. That butterfat in Mozzarella is about five times more than that in the original milk from which it's made.

All of Italy is on your tour list when it comes to Provolone. This comes from the word, prova, which means ball shaped. Another pasta filata, it comes in several shapes: sausage, salami or pear. The cheese is waxed and tied with cord; it often has a smoky taste which comes from curing this variety. Americans may also find Provolone cheese already sliced, sandwich style.

Scamorze is another of the pasta filata cheeses which is used like Mozzarella. Originally, it was made in central Italy (Abruzzi) of buffalo's milk, but later cow's milk was used as its manufacture spread.

Parma, Italy, was naturally the home of Parmesan, while Rome was the home of Romano. Both are very hard, granular cheeses used most often for grating. As such, they are extensively used here for sprinkling on spaghetti, pizza, lasagna, soups, salads and even breads. Parmesan has a mild, nutty flavor while Romano has a sharp, full flavor.

Before leaving Italy, we should mention one cheese which has the characteristics of the whole country: Bel Paese, which means, "beautiful country."

A cheese classic, Bel Paese, has a creamy color and a semisoft interior. Its distinctive flavor lingers and delights; it can go from appetizers to desserts and is good on sandwiches, too.

If you are now eyeing Switzerland, then you already know about the large eye cheese—Swiss. It has a very pale yellow color and is without equal for platters with cold meats; a necessity for fondues and other cooked dishes like casseroles, "sandwiches," cubed for appetizers or sliced and or cubed with fruits, especially the citrus varieties, which provide fine foil for its rather sweet, nutlike flavor.

Swiss cheese manufacture is both difficult and complicated. It requires control in the quality and composition of milk; propagation and use of the bacterial starters; and special equipment, like the round copper kettles which hold 2000, and often more, pounds of good milk.

Similar to Swiss cheese is Gruyere, which is made by a process closely akin to Swiss. Gruyere, however, has much smaller eyes and is a much smaller cheese with a sharper flavor than Swiss. It originated in Switzerland, but is now made both there and in that area of France closest to the Alpine country.

The other famous cheeses of France, except for the Bleu varieties, already mentioned, are quite different from those of both Italy and Switzerland; they're soft, smaller and have subtle distinctive flavors like Brie and Camembert. Both of these have the edible white crust. Brie is mellow in flavor while Camembert varies from mild to pungent. Another French cheese is Neufchatel, related most closely to our Cream cheese. In France it is sold both fresh and cured.

French cheese varieties have often become the epicure's delight. Near the top of the list is Port du Salut which originated in the Trappist monasteries of France and has spread to other such monasteries in Europe and Canada. It has a full and robust flavor with a brownish exterior and creamy texture and interior. It's a treat on appetizer trays with crackers or dessert platters with fresh fruits. Port du Salut has been described as having a texture like Gouda cheese and an aroma somewhat similar to Limburger.

That last cheese means the next stop is Belgium where Limburger originated. This cheese has a brown exterior; it's aromatic, with a full and pungent flavor, perfect on the rye and pumpernickel breads or as a snack item. A cousin to Limburger is the American Liederkranz, which is a trade name for an aromatic cheese made in Ohio.

It's only a short trip to Holland, home of the famous red-wax coated Edam and Gouda. Both have mild nutlike flavor with semi-soft creamy yellow interiors. They're favorites among all ages. The homemaker is particularly fond of their round shapes, like flattened spheres, and red color as a focal point for appetizer trays, but the cheese also melts well for sandwiches and casseroles; its shape gives distinctive slices for salads. Both are what is known as a sweet curd cheese, treated to a number of salt water washes.

There's time for a short trip to Germany, Muenster, to be specific. This is a great nibbling cheese, mild in flavor, creamy yellow interior and orange exterior. No sandwich, especially one made with rye or pumpernickel bread should try to manage without Muenster, or Brick, which closely resembles it. Made in large cylinders or loaves, this cheese has tiny holes in it; sometimes it's flavored with caraway. This is also an excellent cheese for appetizer or dessert trays.

Before returning home, stop in England where the now-famous, always so popular Cheddar cheese originated in a place of that name in Somersetshire in about the 16th century. Cheddar continues to be well received on appetizer trays, sandwiches, casseroles, salads or with fruits for dessert or atop an apple pie. Cheddar cheeses have as many colors (from almost white to deep orange) and coatings as they have flavors, varying from mild to very sharp and almost every gradation in between. The general shape is circular but it's sold often in wedges from the large cylinders; it may come in bricks or slices from any of those. It's America's most popular cheese.

Cheeses similar to Cheddar are Colby and Monterey Jack cheese. These are generally more mild but are used in the same way as Cheddar: sandwiches, cooked foods and salads. Colby was reportedly first manufactured in the township of

Elegant torte has taste and nutrition

This fabulous toasted wheat germ torte is the kind of beauty you'd expect to find in the very best bake shop specializing in intricate tortes and layers. Its lavish looks in no way indicate that it is reasonably easy to put together. Wheat germ with sugar and honey — it comes that way in vacuum packed jars — is the magic ingredient that gives the beautiful taste and texture to both the filling and the crust. Not only is wheat germ a terrific flavor ingredient for sweet treats, it is chock full of valuable protein, vitamins and minerals, too. You see, fancy desserts can contribute both to a well-balanced diet and to satisfying the sweet tooth.

To begin with, the crust, textured and flavorful with a half cup of wheat germ, is incredibly tender. The technique is simply mixing the basic ingredients together and patting the dough into a springform pan. Roll some of the dough into ropes for interlacing over the filling and making the attractive fluted edge around the torte. This dough is easy to work with and readily molds into shape.

The filling is positively luscious. It has a creamy caramel base textured with wheat germ and walnuts. A touch of curacao adds a bit of foreign intrigue which you'd expect to find in such a dessert. For perfect results, you must follow the simple step-by-step directions for making the caramel syrup and combining it with the warm whipping cream. No short cuts are allowed in making the special filling. From this point on, finishing the torte comes naturally. The deep golden brown filling peeping through the light golden lattice is indeed tempting. This is the kind of a rich dessert that is made to order for serving with strong demitasse or expresso coffee.

WHEAT GERM LATTICE TORTE

½ cup wheat germ with sugar and honey
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
¾ cup butter
1 egg
Water
Wheat Germ Nut Filling

Mix flour with wheat germ, salt, sugar and orange peel. Cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture looks like coarse meal. Mix in egg and 2 to 3 tablespoons water to form a dough. Divide in half. Press one part of dough against bottom and 1 inch up sides of 9-inch springform pan. Spread Wheat Germ Nut Filling into pastry shell. Roll remaining dough into 10 narrow ropes. Weave 8 ropes into lattice over filling. Run remaining ropes around top edge. Flute edge. Bake in 350-degree oven 35 to 40 minutes or until golden. Makes 1 (9-inch) torte.

WHEAT GERM NUT FILLING: Heat 2 3rds cup sugar and 1 3rd cup water to boiling. Boil gently about 10 minutes stirring occasionally, until syrup crystallizes. Continue cooking until lumps melt and mixture becomes smooth and caramel color. Remove from heat. Heat 1 cup whipping cream until warm, not scalding. Gradually stir into caramel mixture. Cook, stirring, about 2 minutes until blended and syrupy. Remove from heat. Stir in ¾ cup wheat germ with sugar and honey, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely chopped walnuts and 2 tablespoons curacao.

Good things—taste and nutrition—come in pears

Bartlett pears, one of summer's most popular fresh fruits, will be very much in evidence well into fall according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Marketing specialists of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service say this year's Bartlett pear crop is expected to top the 1974 crop by a sizable percentage.

Under marketing orders, you're assured of good quality pears. Among other requirements, regulations establish quality and size to insure good eating of this most popular of all pears.

Like bananas, pears are not tree-ripened. They are picked green, but mature, and sent to market. When purchasing Bartletts it's a good idea to select a few that are yellow, ripe, tender, and ready to eat. Add more that are green. While you enjoy the ripe pears, set others aside — the preferred method is 2 or 3 in a paper sack — and let them stand at room temperature. When they turn from green to yellow and yield to gentle thumb pressure, refrigerate them and add a few more green ones to take their place.

Ripen carefully and you will enjoy fresh, juicy, smooth-tasting summer fruit through the fall. Use your imagination to create new ways of serving. Pears are versatile as well as plentiful, and bland enough to blend well with other foods . . . from breakfast to dinner and all the snack times in between.

CHOCOLATE FLUFF PEARS

- 1½ cups whipping cream, whipped
- ½ cup canned chocolate syrup
- 3 fresh Bartlett pears
- 2 bananas
- 2 ounces Germans sweet chocolate, chopped

Fold syrup into cream; chill. Halve and core pears; slice bananas. Place pear half in dessert dish cut-side up. Spoon 1/3 cup chocolate fluff into each half; arrange banana slices in fluff. Sprinkle chocolate over. Serves 6.

To serve pears with great style, try this pear salad. Arrange pear halves filled with avocado balls and tart grapefruit sections on a bed of lettuce and fresh spinach leaves.

To serve elegantly, try a chocolate pear fondue. Stir 12 ounces of sweet cooking chocolate over low heat with 2/3 cup half-and-half and 2 tablespoons brandy until smooth. Serve with fresh Bartlett pear slices for dipping. Or, spoon over pear slices on orange chiffon cake for a fondue dessert.

SPECIAL FOOD MARKETING ALERT

With only a 1 per cent drop from August estimates, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), as of October 1, figures the total crop to be around 173 million boxes, 19 million more than last year.

Both fresh and processed products will be plentiful. Large carryover inventories are tempering processors' requirements for apples. This is intensifying the pressure being placed on the fresh market by the sharply increased volume of production. As a result, much larger than normal supplies of fresh apples will be available through November, say marketing specialists with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

From east to west, all apple-growing regions are reporting crops well above last year's harvest, with apple harvesting active in all areas. Eastern states report a 75.3 million box crop, a 14 percent increase over last year.

Central states, with a 31 million box crop, report a 17 percent increase, while Western States expect their total to be over 66 million boxes, or 9 percent above the 1974 crop.

In the beginning there was Johnny Appleseed who conducted a one-man pilgrimage through Indiana and Ohio urging farmers to plant his apple seeds. They did, and apple orchards flourished.

Over the years a great many varieties of apples have been developed and grown in America, but presently a dozen or so account for most of the commercial production. These include Red and Golden Delicious, McIntosh, Stayman, Jonathan, and Winesap — the preferred choices for out-of-hand eating. The more tart varieties are preferred for baking and cooking and include Gravenstein, Grimes Golden, Newtown, Rome Beauty, Northern Spy, Rhode Island Greening, and York Imperial.

that name in Wisconsin, one of the three largest cheese making states in this country. The other two are Illinois and New York. Monterey originated in the valley of that name in California.

Those, then are the far-off, romantic places which have originated the fascinating cheeses included in this sampler. The intriguing fact is that those foreign varieties are as American as apple pie because the United States produces all of them and more. You've toured Europe without even moving away from the cheese counter at your own supermarket.

And there's an infinite variety in cheese products: shredded, grated, giant wheels, small wheels, cylinders, bricks, cartons, pear, salami, ball or pear shapes, flattened spheres, blocks, rectangles, cups or jars. In colors, cheese ranges from purest white to the deepest oranges with a generous palette in all shades of yellow to the marbled varieties of blues and greens. As for flavors, these too range from the mildest of cream cheese to robust Romanos or aromatic Liederkranz, which sounds foreign but which was actually created in Ohio.

As long as your imagination can travel these cheese routes to foreign lands, you don't even have to leave Keokuk, Iowa.

ESTOUFFADE A L'ESPAGNOLE

Adapted from a French chef's great recipe.

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 pounds stewing beef (1½ to 2 inch cubes)
- 2 large onions, chopped (2 cups/
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon coarsely cracked pepper
- 1 teaspoon flour
- 10½-ounce can bouillon beef broth
- 1 cup canned tomato puree
- 3 frying Italian green peppers, seeded and sliced into thin rings
- 3 cloves garlic, crushed

In a large saute pan or saucepot in the hot oil, brown the beef. Add onion and brown. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour; toss. Add enough water to the bouillon to make 2 cups and add with the tomato puree. Mix well. Bring to a boil. Add green pepper and garlic. Simmer, covered, until meat is tender and vegetables have disintegrated — about 2 hours. Skim any excess fat from top. Makes 6 servings.

"The Hanukkah Book" will brighten season

In America today, Hanukkah has become one of the most important holidays on the Jewish calendar — a joyous holiday for giving gifts to children, lighting lamps, playing games, decorating your home, and giving parties.

And there is no other book like "The Hanukkah Book" by Mae Shafter Rockland which relates the story behind the holiday, explains the traditions associated with it, and also offers instructions for hundreds of craft projects that you can do in your home to celebrate hanukkah with zest, imagination, and fun.

This lavishly illustrated book (81 drawings and photographs) embraces all aspects of the holiday. Mae Rockland begins with a fascinating narrative that recreates the story of the Maccabee's victory over the Syrian-Greeks and then traces the holidays' development through the ages.

She suggests literally hundreds of craft projects that you can do to enhance the meaning and pleasure of the celebration — crafts in ceramic, wood, needlework, paper, metal and other media. She provides recipes not only for potato latkes but for unusual Hanukkah dishes from many parts of the world.

Craft projects in "the Hanukkah Book" blend traditional forms of observance with original designs. Mae Rockland's discussion of Hanukkah lights, for example, forst tells the story of the ancient tradition of kindling lights on each successive day and then describes lamp designs as they have evolved through the ages. She shows the lamps she has made, some modeled on ancient form sand motifs, others featuring modern patterns and contemporary American symbols.

Party giving is also covered in "The Hanukkah Book." Mae Rockland offers ideas for every step, from the making of your own invitations with papercuts or silk-screened photographs to the decorating of your house. You will find instructions for such festive objects as batik wall hangings and tablecloths, ceramic dishes with Hebrw lettering and Yiddish phrases, wooden Mizrahim, and elegant needlework, and for games and gifts ranging from a ceramic chess-set to banks for children's Hanukkah gelt.

Since children love Hanukkah even more than their parents, "The Hanukkah Book" fully explains the holiday in terms they can understand, while helping them learn about the holiday by making things. Among the dozens of inventive projects for children are printed playing cards, a game derived from "pin the tale on the donkey" called "pin the shammash on the hanukkiah," and a Hanukkah applique which is just the answer for school workshops. There are also embroidered shirts and vests and even an enormous, whimsical over-stuffed dreidel made out of faded blue jeans.

By encouraging the involvement of all family members in the celebration of Hanukkah, "The Hanukkah Book" helps families to become closer in a fuller understanding of their Jewish heritage. The ideas of giving, sharing, and creating embodied in this book have a wide appeal.

COUSCOUS IN A PUMPKIN

1 medium pumpkin, 10 to 12 inches across
1½ cups bulgur wheat (coarsely milled whole wheat, available in health food stores)
3 cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons salad oil
1½ pounds ground lamb
2 medium onions, coarsely chopped
2 stalks of celery, diced
3 tablespoons honey
¾ cup dark raisins
¾ cup dry red wine

Prepare pumpkin by washing it and cutting a lid in the same way you would for a jack-o-lantern. Remove the seeds and the fibers that hold them. Leave the pump intact.

Toast the bulgur wheat in a large, lightly oiled frying pan over medium heat. Stir constantly for about five minutes until the color has darkened slightly and a nutlike fragrance is given off. Add the boiling water and the salt. Cover, and turn the flame as low as possible. Allow to steam for ½ hour or until all the water is absorbed.

Heat the salad oil in another pan. Add the ground lamb and chopped onions and brown. Add this to the wheat, along with the remaining ingredients (except for the pumpkin). Mix thoroughly.

Lightly oil the pumpkin skin (the oil will keep the skin from drying out and will help it turn a beautiful color). Stuff the pumpkin with the meat mixture and cover the pumpkin lid. Place on a large cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 1½ hours.

If all the lamb mixture will not fit into the pumpkin, bake the leftovers separately in a small covered casserole. (If you decide not to use the pumpkin at all, use a 3-quart covered casserole and bake the lamb mixture for 45 minutes. In that case, add a little water or wine if necessary, to keep the mixture moist.)

You can tell when the pumpkin is cooked by lifting the lid and gently testing the pumpkin flesh with a skewer or fork. Don't pierce the skin or it will leak. When serving, scoop out some of the cooked pumpkin (which is a mildly flavored squash) along with the couscous.

Since the lamb mixture is mildly sweetened with the honey and raisins and the pumpkin is also slightly sweet, I like to use strong-flavored greens (such as raw spinach and watercress) along with raw mushrooms in the accompanying green salad. This could be followed by fichuelas and a very strong coffee or tea for desert.

POTATO LATKES

3 small onions, chopped
salad oil
3 eggs, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon baking powder

Wash the potatoes thoroughly and remove any spots or blemishes. It isn't necessary to peel the potatoes. Grate them, using the coarsest side of the grater. Allow the grated potatoes to sit for 10 minutes and then turn them into a colander, pressing out the accumulated liquid.

Fry the chopped onions in enough salad oil to just cover the bottom of a skillet. Add the fried onions to the drained potatoes and stir in the eggs. Add the flour, pepper, salt, and baking powder and mix thoroughly. (More liquid will continue to form, but do not pour it off; occasionally stir the mixture as you remove spoonfuls for frying.)

Drop the batter by tablespoonfuls into a large skillet containing about ¼ inch of hot salad oil. Flatten with a slotted metal pancake turner. When the edges of the latkes become brown, turn and brown the other sides. Drain on paper towels and then keep warm in a low (185 degree) oven until all the latkes are ready to serve.

Latkes are served with sour cream and homemade applesauce which is made well in advance of our party in gallon batches. I use any apples I can get cheaply and adjust the sweetness with honey, brown sugar, and or lemon juice.

East meets West and garners $1,000 prize

The harmonious blending of the great flavor of American beef with Oriental seasoning brought the first prize of $1,000 to Mrs. Betty Morrow of Woodland, Okla., at the National Beef Cook-Off, sponsored by the American National CowBelles.

Her recipe, Sweet 'N' Sour Beef Chuck, begins with braising a beef chuck roast and is completed by pouring an intriguing sweet-sour sauce over the cubes of tender beef.

The second prize of $500 went to Gracie McCormack, Phoenix, a senior majoring in home economics at Arizona State University, with an entry packed with southwestern flavor — Cowboy Green Chili Beef Bake. Kristine Cropper, a rancher's wife from Delta, Utah, placed third with Roundup Beef Rolls.

Recipes featured in the contest were limited to those using cuts from the beef chuck and round, according to Mrs. Elmo Hoyt, Kamas, Utah, chairman of the cook-off. She pointed out that this second annual national cook-off attracted more than double the number of contestants in last year's initial competition.

SWEET 'N' SOUR BEEF CHUCK

Garlic powder
Coarse ground pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons cooking fat
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 medium onion
1½ cups water

Sprinkle both sides of roast with garlic powder and coarse ground pepper. Flour both sides and brown in fat in large frying-pan or Dutch oven. Sprinkle cinnamon and allspice on meat. Add onion and water. Cover and simmer on top of range or cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 2 to 3 hours or until tender. Remove onion and discard. Remove meat and reserve cooking liquid. Remove fat and bone from meat and cut meat into large bite-size pieces. Place on a hot serving platter. Prepare sauce and spoon over meat. Serve with hot rice and garnish with fresh mint. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SAUCE

Cooking liquid from meat
2 cans (13¼ ounces each) pineapple chunks
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (2½ ounces) sliced mushrooms
1 can (8½ ounces) water chestnuts, sliced
1 large green pepper, cut in thin strips
1 cup thinly sliced red onion
Hot cooked rice
Fresh mint

Add water, if necessary, to cooking liquid to make 1 cup. Drain pineapple, reserve syrup. Combine sugar and cornstarch; add pineapple syrup, vinegar, soy sauce, salt, mushrooms, water chestnuts and cooking liquid. Cook, Stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add pineapple, green pepper and onion and cook for 2 minutes.

COWBOY GREEN CHILI BEEF BAKE

2½ pounds beef round steak
2 tablespoons cooking fat
1 tablespoon dehydrated onion
½ teaspoon chili powder (optional)
¼ teaspoon oregano
Salt to taste
¼ teaspoon minced garlic
1 small bunch green onions, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 can (4 ounces) chopped green chilis, drained
1 can (4½ ounces) chopped ripe olives
2 cans (15 ounces each) pinto beans, drained
2 cans (10 ounces each) tomatoes and green chilis
1 tablespoon cornstarch, mixed with ¼ cup hot water
1 package (8) refrigerated crescent rolls
10 to 16 ounces sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded
Parsley, if desired

Remove any bone and fat from round steak; slice thin into bite-size pieces. Heat cooking fat in a 10-inch frying-pan and add meat, dehydrated onion, chili powder, oregano, salt, garlic, green onions, chilies and olives. Cook until meat is browned.

Place 1 can drained pinto beans in a lightly greased 2½-quart casserole; place 1 can tomatoes and green chilis on top. Add cornstarch mixture to meat and simmer until thickened, stirring occasionally.

Place crescent rolls on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Place a small amount of meat mixture on each roll and roll according to package directions. Continue with remaining rolls. Cover with wax paper and set aside. Place a layer of ½ of remaining meat mixture in casserole and top with ½ the cheese. Repeat the four layers.

Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 15 minutes. Place crescent rolls in oven. Continue baking the casserole and the rolls 15 to 20 minutes or until rolls are lightly browned. Remove from oven. Arrange rolls on casserole and serve. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

ROUNDUP BEEF ROLLS

Beef Filling

2 pounds ground beef round
2 tablespoons cooking fat
¾ cup minced onion
½ cup finely diced celery
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce

Cook ground beef, celery and onion in frying-pan until ground beef is brown and celery and onion are lightly cooked. Add salt, pepper and 1½ cups tomato sauce. Cook slowly until thick. Cool. Prepare Dough.

Dough

3 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon marjoram
⅛ teaspoon sage
6 tablespoons shortening
½ cup tomato sauce
½ cup water

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, marjoram and sage. Cut shortening into mixture until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Combine tomato sauce and water. Add to flour mixture and mix until moist. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead 3 or 4 times. Roll into a 13x9-inch rectangle.

Spread meat mixture on dough and roll as a jelly roll. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes or until lightly browned. Prepare Sauce and serve over roll. Makes 8 servings.

Sauce

1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed golden mushroom soup
1/3 cup milk
½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

Combine soup, milk and cheese. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until cheese melts.

Plan ahead for parties

Make-ahead beef dishes are tops for fall entertaining. Party beef casseroles like beef stew in red wine, goulash, italian beef 'n' pasta dishes and hearty beef pot roasts are easy to manage for larger groups. Accompany with salad, bread or rolls and a simple dessert from the freezer. A casual and relaxed party atmosphere is the natural outcome with do ahead beef menus.

Concert profits KCET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first West Coast visit of Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Orchestra netted $350,000 for public television channel KCET.

The 80-year-old conductor recently led the famed orchestra in a concert, and 2,000 paid $100 a ticket for the evening, which included a gala out-door dinner at the foot of the new 42-story Theme Buildings of Century City. The Ford Foundation matched the event's net profits with equal funds.

JESSICA TANDY

HUME CRONYN

Tandy, Cronyn to play Citrus

The celebrated husband-wife acting team of Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy will present "The Many Faces of Love" in the Citrus College Auditorium at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The program, a presentation of readings from among the works of famous authors, is the second in the Evenings at Eight series.

Miss Tandy made her professional debut in 1928 in her native Britain. Among her memorable portrayals is Blanche DuBois in Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" in 1947, for which she won the Antoinette Perry (TONY) Award and the Twelfth Night Club Award in 1948. Throughout the years she has won numerous other acting awards. Her film achievements include "Dragonwyck," "Forever Amber" and "The Birds."

Cronyn is an actor of stage, films and television and has also functioned as a director, writer and producer. During his three-decades-plus in all divisions of the performing arts he has appeared in 29 Broadway productions.

He has performed in dramatic works on all of the major television networks, and he and Miss Tandy, his wife of 33 years, have taken an active role in regional theater. He was born in Canada, studied art at McGill University and is a graduate of Ridley College.

Tickets are now on sale at Citrus College auditorium box office at $3.50 for general public and $2.50 for senior citizens, children under 12 and Citrus students and staff.

Violinist slated at UCLA

Violinist Yehudi Menuhin will be soloist when the Menuhin Festival Orchestra of London presents the American premiere of Frank Martin's "Images de la Vie du Seigneur" in Royce Hall, UCLA, at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 7. Michael Dobson will conduct.

The remainder of the program will be conducted by Menuhin. It includes Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 2 in B-Flat with soloist Hephzibah Menuhin, Bach's Violin Concerto No. 2 in E, performed by Menuhin, and Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G Minor.

Fewer errors will cut state's welfare costs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's welfare costs should drop $32 million this fiscal year because of fewer errors, says a state official.

The errors have been made in paying recipients too much or too little, or giving money to ineligible persons.

Marion Woods, director of the Department of Benefit Payments, said today the anticipated savings were calculated from newly released federal data showing a 34 per cent reduction in the error rate in California's Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program.

Statistically, Woods said the error rates from January through June show overpayments in 12 per cent of the cases, compared with 16.3 per cent for the previous year. There were underpayments in 4.8 per cent of the cases, down from 7.1 per cent. Also, payments to ineligible persons dropped from 6.4 per cent to 5.4 per cent.

"The message behind this savings is simple — there are a lot of people in tough jobs in county welfare departments who are getting better at what they are doing," Woods said

Woods said that although the federal government has not released nationwide statistics for January-June, California should have improved on its standing in comparison to other states. Prior error rate samplings have shown California ranking with Texas as having the best administration of AFDC programs.

Long Beach searching for killer

LONG BEACH (SP)— Authorities searched through the night for the slayer of an elderly Long Beach couple, who made his getaway in a car he commandeered after forcing the woman driver out at gunpoint.

Olsen said Mrs. Miller's body was found in the bedroom of their home. She had been shot to death.

Her husband, who was shot in the head and neck, managed to crawl to a neighbor's house across the street where he collapsed and died.

Investigators said there seemed to be no evidence that the Miller home was robbed.

The identity of the woman in whose car the slayer is believed to have escaped was not released.

Pet lovers alter habits

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The rising cost of living for humans is changing the type of animals they own, says an official of the American Humane Association.

"They're getting rid of the large protective dogs and just keeping companion pets," said Milton C. Searle, the association's national director of animal protection services.

In an interview Monday he said more pets, especially cats, are being abandoned as too expensive to keep.

More mileage but less gas

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Drivers traveled farther on California highways than ever before this summer, but small cars and reduced speeds kept gasoline usage down, the Department of Transportation says.

The department said Thursday that drivers covered more miles on state highways from June through September than in any previous year. They set a one-month record in August with 6.85 billion vehicle miles.

But officials said gasoline tax revenues were below expected levels because drivers used smaller, more economical cars than in past years and drove slower.

Parcel 1: A strip of land, 78 feet wide, situated in the city of Pomona, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, being all those portions of Lots 6, 7, 11, 12 and 13 of the Palmer and Dewey's Subdivision, as per map recorded in Book 4, Page 89 of Maps, in the office of County Recorder of said County, and all those portions of Lots 4 and 5 in Block G of the Palomares Tract, as per map recorded in Book 15, page 50 of Miscellaneous Records, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, included within the boundaries of that certain 78 foot wide strip of land second described in the deed to the Pacific Electric Land Company, recorded on December 24, 1907, in Book 3260, page 218 of Deeds, in the Office of the County Recorder of said County.

Also, that portion of the 20 foot wide alley adjoining said Lot 11 on the Southeast, as shown on said map of the Palmer and Dewey's Subdivision, included within the boundaries of said certain 78 foot wide strip of land, said alley was vacated by the Council of the City of Pomona, resolution No. 171, a certified copy of which was recorded September 13, 1912 in Book 206, page 83 of said Miscellaneous Records.

Except the Southeasterly 10.00 feet of said Lot 7, and the Southeasterly 10.00 feet of the Northeasterly 19.00 feet of said Lot 6.

Parcel 2: That portion of Lot 4 in Block G of the Palomares tract, in the City of Pomona, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 15, page 50 of Miscellaneous Records, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, and those portions of Lots 11, 12 and 13 of the Palmer and Dewey's Subdivision, in said City, County and State, as per map recorded in Book 4, page 89 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, bounded on the Northeast by the Northeasterly lines of said lots 4, 11, 12 and 13, bounded on the Southeast by the Southeasterly line of said Lot 11, bounded on the Southwest by the Northeasterly line of that certain 78 foot wide strip of land second described in the deed to the Pacific Electric Land Company, recorded on December 24, 1907, in Book 3260, page 218 of Deeds, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, and bounded on the Northwest by the Northwesterly line of said Lot 4.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: Unknown

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

NOTICE OF MARSHAL'S SALE

PAYCO, Plaintiff vs. RODRIQUEZ Defendant No. C44561

By virtue of an execution issued on AUGUST 19, 1975 by the MUNICIPAL Court, CITRUS JUDICIAL DISTRICT, County of Los Angeles, State of California, upon a judgment entered in favor of PAYCO OF CALIFORNIA, INC., a corporation, dba COAST/RMCA as judgment creditor(s) and against DAVID C. RODRIQUEZ as judgment debtor, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of said judgment debtor in the property in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, described as follows:

Lot 17, Tract 19874, Map Book 510, Pages 3/7
Pomona, CA

This sale is being conducted by virtue of a writ of execution issued on AUGUST 19, 1975 showing a net balance of $1,159.26 actually due on said judgment.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on NOVEMBER 18, 1975, at 11:00 o'clock A.M. at Los Angeles County Courthouse—110 N. Grand Avenue—Grand Ave. entrance, City of Los Angeles, State of California, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in lawful money of the United States, all the right, title and interest of said judgment debtors in the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said execution, with accrued interest and costs.

Dated at Los Angeles, California, SEPTEMBER 29, 1975.
